BERLIN ANNOUNCES THAT FAMOUS HILL 304 HAS BEEN LOST

Stormed and Taken.

OTHER IMPORTANT POINTS CAPTURED

Paris, Aug. 24.—The French made an attack this morning on the left bank of the Meuse, between Avocourt wood and Deadman hill. The war office announces the capture of hill 304, Camard wood and the fortified works between Haucourt wood and Bethincourt.

The French gained more than their objectives, advancing to an average depth of two kilometers (1 1/4 miles.)

HARD FIGHTING AT LENS.

London, Aug. 24.—Heavy fighting was kept up throughout the night south of Lens, the war office announces. The British now hold German trenches immediately northwest of the bitterly disputed Green Grassier.

BERLIN ADMITS LOSS.

Berlin, Aug. 23.—The evacuation by the Germans of hill 304, the famous stronghold on the Verdun front, is announced by the war office. It is said a weak garrison was left there.

On the British front, the statement says, the Germans today wrested from their opponents the gains recently made by them south of the Ypres Menin road.

NO FIGHTING AT RIGA.

Petrograd, Aug. 24.—The Russian official statement issued today makes no mention of fighting in the Riga region, saying that on the Russian front there were only fusillades and scouting operations. On the Rumanian front the Austro-Germans last night attacked the Russian-Rumanian positions near the village of Krendshen and after occupying part of the trenches of the defenders, were ejected by counter attacks.

Summary of the Day's War News

In a brilliant attack this morning on the Verdun front the French carried hill 304, one of the most bitterly disputed positions of the war in the struggle for which thousands of men have lost their lives. The French advanced to an average depth of 1 1/4 miles over the sector between Avocourt wood and Dead Man hill. Paris announces officially, and in addition to hill 304 stormed the fortified works between Haucourt and Bethincourt.

The official German report from the western front, while not definitely admitting the loss of hill 304, says it was evacuated Tuesday night, only a weak garrison being left there.

Copenhagen, Aug. 24.—England, the arch enemy of Germany, must be beaten down at whatever cost, Emperor William told his troops, while on a visit to the Flanders front on Wednesday.

An official statement issued in Berlin says the emperor addressed deputations from all detachments which have had a share in meeting the British attacks. He said he felt impelled to express his thanks and his full recognition of the heroic gallantry shown by troops from all parts of Germany in the hard fighting of the last week.

The emperor referred to the marked contrast between the German and Anglo-French points of view and continued: "It is in God's hands when in His wisdom He will give us victory. He has taught our army a hard lesson and now we are going to pass the examination. With the old German confidence in God we shall show what

HEAVY SLUMP IN HOGS ON MARKET IN INDIANAPOLIS

Indianapolis, Aug. 24.—Hog prices broke $1.50 a hundred pounds at the opening of the Indianapolis market today, recording the greatest decline in the same length of time known here. Local commission men say they do not remember so great a break any place else. Sales in the local yards were at $16.50 to $17.50, compared with $20.00 on Tuesday. Fresh receipts at the local yards were 7,500, with holdovers from Thursday's market numbering 7,800. Dealers said they could not account for the great slump except that the price had gone above what the buyer would pay because of lack of demand for pork.

BANKERS DELAY IN CASHING ISSUES

Profit is Difference Between

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—The government is making a clear profit of nearly $2,500 a day on the procrastination of bankers and others in cashing money due them for short time certificates of indebtedness, issued months ago and now past maturity.

More than a month has passed since the last of these certificates matured and at present approximately $25,000,000 of the issue is still outstanding. At 3 1/2 per cent interest the rate on the liberty bond loan and the rate paid by foreign governments for money loaned them by the treasury the amount reported by outstanding certificates would yield approximately $2,500 a day.

REGULARS SENT TO HOUSTON TO CONTROL RIOTS

Galveston, Tex., Aug. 24.—Eight special interurban cars left here early today with United States troops for Houston to assist in the control of the situation resulting from last night's disorders. One light field piece with a supply of ammunition was taken along. The troops are in command of Maj. Maxwell G. Spinks. A detachment of quartermaster troops also left for Houston.

Washington, Aug. 24.—Completion of the administration's program for federalization of the coal industry was in sight today when officials turned their attention to the fixing of retail prices and the regulation of distribution.

Dr. Harry A. Garfield, appointed to head the coal administration, will take active charge of the work as soon as he finishes his duties with the committee fixing prices on wheat.

The president's action in establishing prices on anthracite for operators and jobbers and limiting the profits to be made by bituminous wholesalers is considered the most important step yet taken towards bringing the industry under government supervision.

Little Price Change.
The new anthracite prices, effective Sept. 1, vary but slightly from the rates now charged at the mines under a voluntary agreement made with the federal trade commission operators. Retail costs probably will drop as a

FORT BENJAMIN HARRISON WILL BE A HOSPITAL

Indianapolis, Aug. 24.—Information from what is believed by Indianapolis business men to be reliable sources, has been received to the effect that the war department is considering a plan to abandon Fort Benjamin Harrison as a post and training camp for the purpose of converting it into a large hospital station for wounded soldiers brought back from Europe. Indianapolis business interests have protested to Indiana senators, and ask them to investigate the reports.

MARSHAL LAW NOW RULES TEXAS CITY

Houston, Texas, Aug. 24.—More than one hundred negro soldiers of the two companies of the Twenty-fourth infantry which engaged in a riot last night and caused the death of fifteen and the wounding of more than a score of persons, are being sought today by strong patrols of regulars and Illinois National guardsmen under the command of General John A. Hulen, governor of the city, which is now under martial law.

Three companies of coast artillery regulars from Fort Crockett reinforced the 1,000 or more Illinois guardsmen today and order, which was restored early this morning, is being maintained. Roll call this morning by Major Snow, in command of the battalion of negroes, developed 125 men were absent.

UNDER MARTIAL LAW.

Houston, Texas, Aug. 24.—As the result of the riot of negro soldiers of the 24th U. S. infantry last night the entire city of Houston and its environs are under martial law today.

Gen. John A. Hulen is in command as provost marshal.

A revised list shows fifteen dead. Orders have been given to soldiers to watch all incoming trains and not to permit armed men to enter the city.

A report shortly after midnight said that armed men were likely to flock into Houston from some of the adjoining counties. It was decided that this should not be permitted.

Regulars on Guard.
When the 300 or more regulars arrived from Galveston some of them were detailed to go to Camp Logan.

WASHINGTON HAS MUCH CONFIDENCE

Denial Made That Somber Facts from Russia Are

Washington, Aug. 24.—Another credit of $100,000,000 to Russia was made today by the American government.

This brings the total of credits extended so far to the Russian government to $275,000,000. Detailed information as to the needs of all allied nations in American markets is being controlled by Secretary McAdoo in planning the next issue of liberty bonds.

Complete confidence in the new Russian government was expressed today by the state department.

Secretary Lansing denied that dispatch from Russia caused this government to take a pessimistic view of the situation, declaring instead of there prevailing a feeling of pessimism quite the contrary had been created by official dispatches received.

"I regard the government of Russia as stronger today than it has been for months," he said. "I mean in general," he added, "both from political and military points of view. This opinion is based upon reports more or less confidential than we have been getting."

NEGRO TROOPS WILL STAY FOR INVESTIGATION

Washington, Aug. 24.—Senator Sheppard, of Texas, after a conference with Secretary Baker today, announced that the negro troops concerned in the rioting at Houston would be withdrawn from Texas immediately. Later Secretary Baker, after reading first official reports, announced that he would take no action of any kind until the affair had been investigated fully. Secretary Baker also said that the Houston affair did not affect the policy of training negro troops in the south. It is within the jurisdiction of the commander of the southern department to move the troops to any other point in his territory without orders from Washington.

MANY TESTAMENTS

GO WITH SOLDIERS

Hundreds of Holy Books
Have Been Sold in Fort
Wayne During Year.

Nearly every Fort Wayne soldier boy has carried a bible or testament with him when he marched away from the care of mother to the solemn training for the battle front. Hundreds of testaments have gone from the local book stores during the past few months. Each of the six leading book shops of the city state that they face a dearth of bibles and testaments because of the constant call.

"I want a soldier's testament," is the usual request when mother or sister enters a book store. In many cases the new recruit accompanies the woman.

"I want the smallest bible you have," is generally the request from the embryo soldier, who has already had a touch of the value of light equipment.

"Nobody will know how many tears are shed by the mothers and other dear ones as they are engaged in picking out the holy books," said a clerk in one of the downtown book shops, Friday morning. "There is something in the sober meaning of it all which touches the hearts deeply."

The stock of small testaments is practically depleted in downtown book stores. Most of the books purchased have been of the size and quality which sells from thirty-five cents to a dollar.

The new khaki clad testament is much in demand. Shipments of the latest thing in garbing testaments for soldiers' use have only begun to arrive in the city within the past few weeks. Upon the cover of the book is stamped an American flag in the bright tint of gold. The khaki testaments are in various sizes from three by two inches in dimensions to six inches square. Some of them have covers which snap shut to keep out all dampness.

Word from the outside is to the effect that the call for thousands of testaments is as general as the call for democracy's defenders. In every city where bibles are printed the presses are running day and night. It is impossible to get a full shipment of bibles, explains a Fort Wayne dealer. The bibles will come in allotments of about a dozen at a time. They are being furnished as rapidly and as generally as possible.

It is nearly always the women folks who make the purchase of the testaments, say book dealers. It seems that after the family conference, dad decides to get the wrist watch and mother buys the bible.

If the belief be true, which has grown with the passing years, that Cromwell's men followed him to victory after victory because they carried a testament next to their heart and a hymn on their lips, the young men of this land are being prepared for a series of glowing victories for trusting mothers have fitted them up in the fashion of the sturdy "Round Heads" who marched with "Old Ironsides"—that "Servant of the Lord." "With his bible and his sword."

SOLDIERS OF FRANCE

SLEEP UNDERGROUND

Dozen of Divisions Stowed
rooms All Snug.

French Front, July 30.—(Correspondence.)—Dozens of divisions of the French army now sleep underground in comparative comfort, even in the front lines when the Germans are hurling tens of thousands of shells on the ground above them, thanks to the work of the companies of excavators formed since the beginning of the war. The men chosen to construct these shelters, which have preserved so many thousands of lives, are soldiers whose age varies between 45 and 50 and who would have been unfit to take part in the active operations of modern battles, where quickness of movement and liveness of limb are absolute necessities. No matter what the nature of the soil, whether hard rock, quicksand, chalk or marshy land, these veterans have overcome all the difficulties and have succeeded in constructing formidable bomb-proof shelters all along the line of the front from the North Sea to the Swiss frontier until at the present moment any fighting unit arriving at almost any part of the line finds a habitable dug-out awaiting it.

The correspondent of the Associated Press has seen and been inside dozens of these subterranean cities—for such they may be termed—at many places, and, even where all the natural conditions are difficult, has found the shelters commodious, well drained and well ventilated. In some cases a battalion finds accommodation in a single shelter, and each man lodged in it is provided with a simple bed consisting of a wire netting foundation supported by wooden uprights. On this the soldier lays his regulation bundle of straw and, covering himself with his army blanket and great coat, can sleep with freedom from anxiety as to any bombardment in progress outside. The shelters are provided generally with electric light or acetylene lamps, sanitary conveniences, and, in some cases, with complete shower baths.

First aid posts and dressing stations with all modern surgical appliances are also to hand, so that the surgeon attached to the unit may attend immediately to any wounded men

"HOME AT LAST!"

These American soldiers are ready for supper. They have bounded over the "bounding main" from America to a "port somewhere on the French coast." They have rolled over the railroad from the sea coast to the field headquarters. They have jolted over roads whose shell craters have been only partly filled in. And now they are at home at last—in the concentration cantonment which will be their only home until they make their first charge against the Boches. They are ready for their first meal in a French camp—and for what ever comes after it.

brought in from the near-by battlefield.

Not One Destroyed.

So well are the shelters protected from the view of the enemy that, although in many instances the underground lodging covers an area of 3,000 square yards, not once in the course of the past year has one of them been destroyed by the enemy's fire. They have many exits, the plan being to provide one for each section or quarter company, so that in case one exit should be hit and blocked, the men inside may escape through another opening.

At the beginning of the war the soldiers actually in the fighting line made their own shelters, which were just holes dug in the ground and covered with tree trunks and earth and affording very little protection, besides taking up much of the time of the soldiers and costing very much labor and money for transporting the necessary timber.

It was then decided to utilize the older classes of the reserve of the territorial army who had been called to the colors and who, despite their previous military training, had been found unable to bear the strain of campaigning. Several companies of them were formed and they were first given the task of constructing shelters in the Somme district and around Verdun.

dun. Their officers were chosen from the engineer corps and from men who in civil life were engaged in similar undertakings, such as builders and miners. Most of the men were peasants used to digging in the fields and their work was very satisfactory, but this kind of excavating work was different and they suffered considerably from the unusual motion of having to throw the earth upward, or wheeling it in barrows up steep inclines.

Spurs Inventive Genius.
One of the officers overcame this trying difficulty by inventing an apparatus for carrying loosened earth or rock to the surface by use of electric power. By this arrangement two men can do the work formerly done by ten. When the earth has reached the surface it falls into barrows and is wheeled away along the level and distributed about in such a manner as not to attract the attention of the enemy's airmen always flying about the lines to observe what is going on in the opposing position.

Special army sawmills have been started to provide the props and planking for the shelters and everything is done at minimum cost.

The veterans so employed have sustained losses when working in exposed positions, but no danger appears to daunt them and they continue their job as though they were working in the fields at home. They have adapted themselves to the use of the most modern tools, and although the great majority of them had no previous experience of electric drills and borers they now use them as well as practiced miners.

Experience Our Greatest Teacher

Before we started our retail stores, we wholesaled Sherman's clothes for $10 to men that ran retail clothing stores. They in turn sold them to you for $15 to $18, making their share of profit $5 to $8. Men bought Sherman's clothes and paid $15 to $18 for them and got style and good service from them.

We conceived an idea. Why can't we open retail stores and sell our clothes direct to the man that wears them at our regular wholesale price, $10, and give every man a good honest value for his money, eliminating for you these large profits of the retailer, and with this idea, we have succeeded in establishing one of the largest chains of stores in the country.

STILL FINDS TIME TO HELP BELGIANS

Feeding People of United States Not All Hoover is Now Doing.

(Staff Special.)
Washington, Aug. 24.—Despite the immense task of organizing United States food administration, Herbert C. Hoover finds time to give several hours each week to Belgian relief.

Although practically all publicity in this country of the Belgian relief work of which Hoover was formerly the head ended with the United States' entrance into the war, the work is still being carried on, under ever-increasing difficulties.

The commission has money enough for, but is hampered by inability to get vessels to transport supplies. Prior to Germany's ruthless submarine campaign, about 100,000 tons of foodstuffs were being shipped into Belgium by the commission each month. The best the commission has been able to accomplish recently is between 50,000 and 60,000 tons monthly, altogether inadequate for even the most meager ration.

As a result the cables each week bring appeals to Hoover to "do something."

One plan on which Hoover has been working is the delivery of the Belgian relief commission of the major part of the cargoes of Dutch vessels now held in New York harbor by our embargo, in return for permitting a minor part of these cargoes to be released to Holland. But a world of red tape has to be unwound.

Meanwhile much of the 300,000 tons of food and feeds held in these Dutch vessels may spoil.

Another difficulty is the failure of the embargo board to announce a policy covering food exports to neutrals. If the board should announce an absolute prohibition the Belgian relief commission could charter these Dutch vessels and buy their cargoes.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 24, 1917.

ALL SET FOR WINTER.

Fuel control under the authority of the new law is now a fairly complete fact. President Wilson has appointed an administrator of the law in the person of Dr. Harry A. Garfield, president of Williams College, and chosen because of special qualifications for the post. Price regulations have been extended to anthracite coal in a fashion that will deliver that commodity to the consumer at figures which will contrast pleasantly with hard-coal bills for the past year or two. Price-fixing has been laid upon the operations of mine-operators and jobbers and it is indicated that it will be extended to dealers.

So there you are in the matter of the fuel control by federal intervention. The thing now is to get production speeded up to meet demands and to further arrange transport to get coal to the consumer, domestic as well as industrial. The railroads are believed to be making the movement of coal a matter of their first concern and their highest efficiencies just now and if all factors in the situation are made to work together and all resources drafted to the purpose, there is no reason why there should be any great distress in the matter of fuel this winter. The factor of labor in the mines is not so reassuring as it might be, but perhaps federal regulation can go far enough to forestall the general upheaval of which there have been more than premonitory symptoms in some of the coal regions.

Fuel control is an experiment of uncommon interest, because it is the first step of the federal government upon a course that by all logic should lead to a permanent federal regulation of the coal business and to possible nationalization of coal lands if not to nationalization of mining itself. Nationalized coal lands have long been urged by those of more or less radical opinion, but have had the advocacy in recent years of some who are not in other opinions at all radical, but do believe that in the interest of conservation this great natural resource should be more carefully guarded than can be assured so long as there is wholly private ownership and exploitation of coal lands. In any event, it may be set down as a tolerable certain prospect that the government, having taken a hand in the fuel business will not be likely soon to let go, if ever it relinquishes wholly an administrative interest in the coal industry.

There are going to be a good many things about direct and arbitrary federal regulation of the coal business that the coal business may not like and events may come that will put the matter of control in different aspect to the consumer's view. War is no respecter of preferences and opinions. But of one thing there may be taken good assurances, which is that federal regulation will be just and fair. The consumer cannot then accuse the coal interests of raping him and the coal interests cannot charge that the consumer is a selfish and unreasonable blockhead.

THE HOUSTON RIOT.

The bloody riot of colored soldiers in Houston is the second outbreak of the sort in which negro troops have taken part in Texas within a few weeks. The Brownsville affair of some years ago will be readily recalled as another clash between white Texans and black soldiers. Evidently there is a state of bad blood between the two elements in that commonwealth and it may not be an unreasonable consideration of events past as well as contingencies future to assemble just as few colored soldiers as possible down there.

It will not mitigate the horror of the Thursday night affair nor will it palliate the fact that the colored soldiers were wholly unamenable to discipline to establish that in the first place white policemen in Houston gave provocation. The negroes are soldiers who are charged among their other duties to uphold law and assist if need be to make the public order secure. These negroes armed themselves with the weapons furnished by the government and literally ran amuck in the city, shooting white people without discrimination. They refused to heed the words of counsel from their officers and finally rode them down in mad rebellion against authority and discipline. That is tolerably serious business for soldiers of the regular army to engage in. It was not the insane outbreak of a few maddened or drunken spirits, but the concerted action of practically a whole military company.

No doubt, if the colored soldiers in the riot can be induced to talk it will be found that the race riots recently taking place in East St. Louis were somewhat luridly in mind when the onset was made against the white police and citizens of Houston. Hotheaded leaders among negroes have had considerable latitude in preaching to masses of colored people in many places that they should be prepared to take reprisals for what occurred in East St. Louis and what may take place elsewhere of similar tenor.

In any event, the uprising among the colored soldiers at Houston is a grave warning that too many negro soldiers should not be concentrated in the south, or elsewhere, for the matter of that. If an entire company of negroes can lash themselves into a frenzy to rise against white men an entire regiment or brigade might just as easily incite itself to a turbulent and bloody revolt.

Dr. Garfield comes from a family that has rendered eminent service to the country. His father was a distinguished union general of the civil war, served long in congress, both as senator and representative, was elected president and became a martyr to a madman's delusions. His brother, James A. Garfield, was in the Roosevelt cabinet and before that held high, though more subordinate positions and assisted in the organization of the progressive party and was one of the leaders in its first national campaign. Considering that the progressive party made the first election of Woodrow Wilson a cinch and his re-election a necessity, and that the Garfields were of it and in it, it may well be said that the family service to the country was ably continued. However, in the last election Dr. Garfield didn't go half way in the support of Wilson. He was out and out for him. The true course of partisan comment being now entirely obvious, standpat newspapers have nothing left to do but to jump on the new fuel dictator.

Democratic—almost socialized—Russia appears to be getting ready for a flare-up that will make the late revolt as tame as a dry picnic and promises little to make the world safe for democracy, Russian or otherwise. There is no denying that internal affairs in Russia, combined with the rapidity of the Austro-German advance against the Slav armies, is giving the entente allies many an unpleasant quarter-hour. The complete collapse of Russia will not mean German triumph, but it will mean a great prolongation of the war at immense additional cost to all. Russian loyalty to the Russian duty at this time would do much to bring the end of the conflict measurably near.

Indianapolis coal dealers are reported to be making plaint that the government price schedule will cause them losses of about $200,000 on coal contracts already made at the unregulated price. That will be too bad, if course; but not nearly so bad as it would have been were it not that the Indianapolis coal dealers last winter and spring were stinging their customers for several dollars a ton in excess profits just because they could force the price. The principal feature of injustice is that the losses the coal dealers may now have to stand do not go into the pockets of the consumers they ravished last winter, but into the roomy pouches of the coal barons.

The Houston riot furnishes a good and bloody argument why not too many negroes should be trained and armed for the present war or any other war. They might take a similar notion on a much larger scale and the cost of getting it out of their heads would be rather more than even a great nation with plenty of white men should be required to pay for a wanton folly.

Governor Goodrich will not call the Indiana legislature together in extra session unless he just is forced. No wise governor ever wantonly wished a legislator on himself, after having had experience with a session, and we believe James P. Goodrich is worldly wise with the wisdom of last winter.

If Russia were still bucking the line as she started in to do July first, the present co-ordinated assault on the Austro-German lines would be counting for a deal more on the fronts.

It is proposed that everybody take a sheep to raise. Next it will be everybody keep a pig. Food conservation seems to be going to some lengths.

WAS THE U. S. BLUFFING ABOUT THE WAR HERE'S STORY OF ARMY'S MIGHTY GROWTH

(By a Military Expert.)

President Wilson's order naming 148 new division and brigade generals completes the preparation for training America's new national army. With the junior officers' graduation from training camps, it turns the United States into a real military power.

Germany thought we were bluffing, called us, and finds we hold the hand.

When we went to war our total armed forces were 332,000 men. Today we have 820,000. And we have trained the men who will train the next million.

America has performed the most gigantic feat of military preparedness in history. It has made strides believed impossible in putting effective force against the Teutons.

In April the regular army consisted of 131,481 officers and men; officers' reserve corps, 2,000; the national guard, 123,605; the navy, 62,000; the marine corps, 15,000, and there were less than 10,000 naval militiamen. The total forces numbered 332,000.

The regular army and the national guard were ordered recruited to war strength—the army to 293,000 men, the guard to 329,954, a total of 622,954.

The regulars reached their quota in August, having added 131,481 men in four months. The national guard, mustered into federal service August 5, numbered approximately 300,000 men, and recruiting continues in organizations not filled.

The navy, finally ordered to recruit up to 197,000, and the marine corps, 15,000 to 20,000 men, completed their quotas.

Five months after the declaration of war, therefore, approximately 820,000 fighting men of all branches are under arms.

More than one-third of the 687,000 men in the first quota of the new national army have been passed. Before October all will be in camp. The men who will train them have been selected in officers' training camps.

Pershing in the 1913 spring drive can have 473,000 thoroughly trained and equipped men. By the end of March, the national army will have completed six months' training. British infantrymen now go to France after sixteen weeks' training, are tested eight days and sent to the trenches.

If the allies require, we can throw into battle 500,000 additional troops the end of March—every one trained more than six months—2 million fully trained men for the next big offensive.

April 21, 1917, the war department announced it had ample supplies for 500,000, with the exception of heavy ordnance and machine guns. These deficiencies have been met. By the end of November the first increment of the national army will be equipped. The rifle supply problem has been solved.

Yes, in a way Uncle Sam was bluffing. But the bluffer has bluffed the other bluffer.

WE'VE GOT THE SHIPS WE'VE GOT THE MONEY BUT WE LACK SEAMEN

(By BASIL M. MANLY.)

Ships to beat the submarine are on the way—but what of the sailors to man the ships?

A long step toward meeting this problem has just been taken at Washington by the combined action of the International Seamen's Union of America, the shipping board and the principal Atlantic steamship companies.

The Pacific coast ship corporations had already joined hands with the union and the shipping board. Only the Lake Carriers' association refuses to co-operate. As the lakes are the natural breeding grounds for American sailors, the greed of the lake shipping companies and the steel trust may thwart the plans.

The peril is great. The sailor famine today is as serious as the tonnage shortage. It takes skilled men to sail ships through the submarine zone. The best submarine antidote discovered to date is fast ships and skilled crews.

British shipping losses have been caused largely by the cowardice or inefficiency of the Oriental coolies who have been driving the British tar out of the mercantile marine.

Similar conditions had about eaten the backbone out of the American mercantile marine, when the seamen's law was passed, and a period of improvement set in. But today the supply of seamen is just enough to keep the present boats moving.

The mercantile marine has been able to contribute nothing to the navy, and Uncle Sam has been forced to make blue jackets out of farmer boys, by long and expensive training.

The agreement signed by the shipping board, the union and the Atlantic companies adopts a wage scale corresponding to the present union scale, starting with $60 per month.

A bonus of 50 per cent for voyages within the submarine zone is added.

Quasi-union recognition is provided. On the basis of this agreement, both the companies and the union agree to appeal to all American seamen who have left the sea because of low wages and former slavery to come back and man the ships which are to win the war for democracy.

The lake carriers' refusal to co-operate, however, throws doubt on the success of the plan. The men distrust the owners, and the action of the lake sailors will dampen their enthusiasm. They will note that it is only where danger is imminent, that the companies are willing to make concessions.

The number of American sailors on present American ships on the Atlantic is only 18 per cent and on the Pacific only 10 per cent.

At the time of the enactment of the seamen's law, one to 12, and one to 1 per cent of American sailors left in the American mercantile marine.

The law eventually will raise the wages of all seamen the world over to the American level, and give American ship owners an even break with foreign ship owners.

This was accomplished by the simple expedient of abolishing slavery on board any ships lying in American ports.

Only the Lake Carriers' association still flies the Jolly Roger of industrial slavery, and bars the way to the ideal of American sailors, under American flags on American-built ships.

west, where improved road conditions have helped place many cars on the market. Arkansas led in percentages of increase with 64 per cent over 1916. Louisiana and South Carolina ranked second with 51 per cent and Nevada and Maryland followed.

The new cars placed on the market during the six months are estimated at 800,000 with a total value of $660,000,000.

The middle west and west led the country in the number of cars in proportion to the population.

Iowa has one car to each line of population, Nebraska, one to 10, California, one to 12 and Kansas and South Dakota each one to 13.

Automobile statisticians, however, do not expect this unprecedented sale of cars to continue during the remainder of the year. War conditions, it is believed, will make inroads on the industry.

PARKING IN CITIES.

The Express-Advertiser, of Portland, Me., has obtained information from the city clerks of several cities of between 50,000 and 100,000 population concerning the methods which they employ in providing parking spaces for automobiles. Four of the cities have given information as follows:

Portland, Me.—The city has a parking lot on the waterfront, and a large lot on the city street. The lot on the waterfront is a started the business was fully up to expectations. All day two summer cars and one box car were kept busy carrying visitors to and from the Reformed Church home. The Reformed Church home is a started the business was fully up to expectations. a park or common in the heart of the city just off the main street as a parking place for automobiles.

New Bedford, Mass., last year assigned as a parking place a vacant lot which is styled the "municipal lot," which is located in the business center of the city and is about 130 feet in size. No charge is made for the use of this.

Peoria, Ill., has selected two of its extra wide streets and marked off the center of the same so that cars can be parked therein. About 50 automobiles can be accommodated in each block. On other streets, cars can stand for one hour at a time, except on Sundays and holidays. There are also some one-way streets on which cars are parked.

In Springfield, Mass., automobiles are allowed to park on the main street for ten minutes only and on certain streets they are not allowed to park within 100 feet of the main street, although on most streets this distance is only 50 feet. On all except the main street, vehicles stand all day and all night without any prohibition, which is the cause of much complaint on the part of merchants whose patrons are thus prevented from alighting at their doors, but the police are powerless to prevent it. A committee of the city government is now amending the rules of the road and proposes to limit automobiles and other vehicles to twenty minutes on the side streets.

BOY ON TRANSPORT

Your Soldier Hero En Route to France Will Be Well Cared For.

BY J. H. DUCKWORTH.
(Staff Special.)

An American Port, Aug. 24.—Have you a boy in the new army? Are you worrying about whether he will be comfortable aboard a transport, whether he will get good food, a good bed, good medical and other treatment?

You need not!
I have just spent an afternoon aboard an army transport which made the first trip to France with Pershing's army.

The boys aboard that transport get the best possible care. It can carry 1,500 men with all their equipment. Streaming onto the docks I saw an endless procession of motor trucks and wagons—thousands of boxes and barrels for France. And in that freight was the food supply. There were thousands of cases of peas, beans and corn, of the familiar brands you have on your dinner table. There were tons of cereals you eat for breakfast. There were hundreds of quarters of the best fresh beef, thousands of hams and sides of bacon. The boys will be well fed.

It was necessary to take over commercial vessels as transports. The quartermaster's department in two weeks rebuilt the inside of the vessels and turned the decks into sleeping and eating quarters—a tribute to wonderful efficiency.

Two entire lower decks are sleeping quarters. The bunks are in three tiers, and double rows with ample walking space between. At every bunk is a compartment for personal belongings. Each man swings his rifle beside his bunk.

Instead of unsanitary mattresses, a comfortable bed is swung between two side poles like a stretcher—a bed and hammock, combined. Every man has a clean, new piece of canvas swung in his bunk. The bed is readily lifted out and taken down.

Throughout the sleeping decks forced ventilation drives pure air. Electric lights make the deck as light as day. Every man has at least eighty cubic feet of air space.

At the ends are the washstands, with one bowl for every ten men, with running hot and cold water. Besides, every transport is amply equipped with shower baths. Hand fire extinguishers hang from racks.

On the deck is the men's mess. Tables, folded and hung at the ship's sides when not needed, each accommodate ten men. At one end is a cook's galley. Connecting are the refrigerating plant and storerooms.

One man for each table serves his table, by turn. Each man has his own mess tins. When the meal is over, he washes and dries his own dishes in running hot water. With the tables removed, the men have this deck for exercise.

"When the troops come down," explained my officer guide, "their commanding officer is handed a plan of the vessel and assigns the battalions to quarters. The men usually toss coins for top, middle and lower berths."

The fliers use the ship's cabins. A hospital is part of the equipment of each vessel. A medical officer makes a thorough inspection, and steamboat inspectors pass upon the life saving equipment. Every transport carries more than the law requires.

After each trip, the transport is thoroughly fumigated; the cook's galley, refrigerators and storerooms are emptied, cleaned and disinfected. And the vessel's crew scrubs and rubs every inch of the vessel until she literally shines.

Two thousand pounds of cocoons will be produced this year at an experimental silk farm in Texas. The farm will be enlarged next year by planting 12,000 additional mulberry trees. Mechanical methods are used to handle cocoons and eggs.

Theo. J. Israel Welcomes the Men of Fort Wayne Tomorrow, Saturday to his FIFTH ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

The Most Important Annual Clothing Event Featured in the City

It is with a feeling of satisfaction, not unmixed with pride that I publicly invite the big, generous Fort Wayne community to visit my store tomorrow, and to share with me in the results of the success I have achieved, with their efforts and support, in the five years that I have been in business in this city.

Today, as a result of keeping implicit faith with the buying public and squaring my deeds with my promises, I am able to welcome my army of customers and friends to a LARGER and MORE COMPLETE STORE than when I first opened five years ago.

Souvenirs, I have none to offer; but what I sincerely believe will be a more practical evidence of my appreciation of the patronage which has been vouchsafed me is the EXTRAORDINARY VALUES that I have prepared for those who come to see me.

So, beginning tomorrow, every one, who has in any way contributed to my progress and success can share in the benefits by taking advantage of the unequalled values in

New Fall Suits and Overcoats

Despite the enormous increase in the cost of materials and labor, I am able to give the SAME BIG VALUES and to assure the SAME SUBSTANTIAL SAVING of from $5 to $10 as in former seasons, when conditions have been normal.

Every style, every material, every pattern, every color that has been approved by the fashion leaders of the nation is to be found in my complete and unequalled assortments of NEW SUITS and OVERCOATS at $10, $15 and $20.

Frankly, for a time I was obliged to wrestle with the problem of raising my prices in order to meet the increase in costs, but I decided NO, believing that by retaining the same low prices, that I could increase my business sufficiently to justify selling the clothing on a closer margin of profit.

I have that much faith in the good judgment of the men of Fort Wayne that I know that this policy of SMALL PROFITS and MORE BUSINESS at the OLD LOW PRICES will win out.

COME TOMORROW AND LET ME SAVE YOU $5 TO $10 ON YOUR NEXT FALL SUIT AND OVERCOAT

RUSSIA'S COUNCIL OF COMMON PEOPLE IS MOST REMARKABLE LEGISLATIVE BODY IN THE WORLD

Americans Are Funny When

They Try to Assume a Superior Attitude Toward the New Democracy, Says Russell—If Czar Gets Back to Winter Palace You Can Blame Germans and American Copperheads.

(Copyright, 1917, by the Newspaper Enterprise Association.)
Many other things about Russia may be doubtful, but there is one Russian certainty all may bank upon with confidence.

Barring only German success, democracy has come there to stay. Not half way democracy nor a fake miscalled by democracy's name. The goods—the real thing.

Russia will be ruled by the Russian people. All the Russian people. They will rule it absolutely. Autocracy, whether frankly labelled with the name of a czar or neatly disguised as a constitutional monarchy, is a dead end in Russia. Keep the Germans out and it will never again have a look in there.

Wise things may be done; also foolish. But whether wise or foolish, whatever is done will be by the grace of the people of Russia, free and independent.

Reactionary influences in this and other countries are striving hard to create the impression that Russia has or is about to have a dictator.

You can put all that aside as the idle dreams of troglodytes. I don't know any climate on earth that is more unhealthy for dictators now than the climate of Russia. Gentlemen plan to go to the line of business are earnestly advised to look elsewhere.

The prospects are not salubrious. Russia will not have a dictator and, contrary to cave dwelling opinion, does not need a dictator. It is no One Man's Country and never will be again.

I don't know any country where the national democratic spirit is stronger, more resolute or better awake to its job. Wise democratic heads in Russia are now studying outlines for the new Russian constitution. No one need be astonished if, when their work is done and the constitution adopted, it proves to be the most advanced document of the kind ever put together. No one need be astonished if it provides for a government more directly and truly democratic than any other nation on earth has ever had.

Even now, without any formulated constitution, the people are supreme. The most powerful institution in all Russia is the National Council of Workmen, Soldiers' and Peasants' delegates, and that is a purely democratic power.

Local councils, similarly formed, furnish for the time being the governing steam in the municipalities. The national council furnishes it in national affairs.

The national council is the only source of authority. What it says goes.

Its 830 delegates were elected from all parts of Russia by men and women voters equally endowed with citizenship.

It is the most remarkable legislative body in the world, and, as it looks to me, the most significant, the most satisfactory and admirable.

It is composed chiefly of farmers and workmen; the actual producers and toilers.

Now in every country these are the vast majority of the population. Therefore, in every country, if we are to have real democracy, these should compose the legislative power.

In this country and in England there is a strange superstition that nobody can make laws or manage government except lawyers, bankers, exploiters and professional politicians.

Well, then, give fervent thanks to Russia. She has knocked the spots out of all that fol-de-rol.

Her national council does business with rapidity, good sense and good judgment. She doesn't miss the law-years, except to bless the Lord they are not there.

Lawyers constitute less than 1 per cent of the population and hold in our country 70 per cent of the legislative offices. They can't see that in Russia.

Also, to arrive at the next point for thanksgiving, five of the delegates in the national council are women. Women suffrage was achieved in Russia the moment the revolution was a success. It achieved itself automatically, without effort. Nobody argued or campaigned for it. Nobody had to point out that it was a good thing and a simple act of justice and ought to be adopted. Democracy had won and nobody in Russia had any other idea of democracy except a democracy that included men and women.

If you will stop and study that little fact for a time, and let it seep into your mind and heart, and look at it from every angle, you will, I am sure, discover how comical a position we assume when we undertake our favorite superior and condescending attitude toward the new democracy.

In a short time elections will be held throughout Russia to choose delegates to the first constituent assembly, which will adopt a constitution and help to launch the Russian republic.

Men and women will vote for these delegates. Women will be among those chosen and will sit in the assembly and help to make the constitution. It will not be necessary for anybody to argue for this privilege. Everybody will think it perfectly natural and right.

The national council adjourned on July 7, but it left in charge of the government its executive committee of 250, apportioned among the workmen, soldiers and farmers, and this executive committee is now running things in Russia.

It operates the machine. You do not hear anything about, for reasons I shall tell you hereafter. But you can discount any stories you may read from day to day about anybody else "ruling" Russia. This is the only ruling power, being the representatives of the people.

The rest of the world seems to have a fear that there may be a counter-revolution and a return of the old conditions. Unless German victory and German influence can bring it back to its old state.

the world quite so dead as the old order in Russia.

It's deadlier than a mackerel that for sanitary reasons the board of health has ordered to be cremated.

If the Germans, assisted by the American copperheads, American doughfaces and American pro-Germans, do not break through that front not even the ghost of the old order will ever come again.

If they do, you will see the czar back in the winter palace and you ought to have a clear understanding as to who put him there.

QUARTER MILLION TO AID WAR CAMP WORK

Methodist Church Raising Big Sum for Ministry at Cantonments.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 24.—Two hundred and fifty thousand dollars for war camp ministry to Methodist soldiers is being asked of the Methodist Episcopal church through its board of home missions and church extension with headquarters in this city.

The survey of church conditions in the neighborhood of the cantonments and other camps shows that while in most cases the Methodist Episcopal churches in the vicinity were able to perform an adequate ministry to the normal population, many of them are entirely inadequate for meeting the needs of the 150,000 Methodist soldiers who will be distributed throughout the different camps.

This $250,000 will be used to equip regular Methodist Episcopal chaplains, to equip and support volunteer chaplains for officers' training camps and to render more efficient Methodist churches located near the camps and to augment the equipment of those churches needing it, in order to render an adequate ministry to the Methodist boys in the camps in the name of Jesus Christ and the church back home.

War emergency commissions are being appointed by the bishops in the twenty Episcopal districts in the United States, which will co-operate with the board of home missions and church extension in raising and disbursing the money. The strongest men in the denomination will be sent to serve as pastors or associate pastors at these camp churches.

Bishop Joseph F. Berry, of this city, is president of the board of home missions and church extension of the Methodist Episcopal church, and David D. Forsyth corresponding secretary.

DEMAND MILLION HOUSES.

London, Aug. 24.—The joint committee on labor problems after the war is pressing for an immediate decision as to the government's housing policy and declares that 1,000,000 houses ought to be completed within four years from the declaration of peace. The cost is placed at $100,000,000, including a sinking fund to repay the whole debt which will be incurred.

SOCIETY

Miss Margery Link, of Toledo, Ohio, was honored last evening by a supper party at the Y. W. C. A. private dining room for which Miss Anna Heyman was the host. Bowls of pink cosmos and crystal candlesticks filled with white candles decorated the table beautifully. There were other visitors present besides Miss Link, Mrs. U. W. Ford, of Heights, N. J., and Florence Beckman, of Fort Smith, Ark., both being present. Tiny silk flags were favors. The guests were Mrs. Albert Schaff, Miss Cecile Ford, Miss Mable Homsher, Miss Edith Monahan, Miss Bernadette Monahan, Miss Marie Travis, Miss Evelyn Walter and Miss Margaret Gutermuth.

The reception at the Country club held last evening by the University club to honor the soldiers in the city, including newly commissioned officers and men from Fort Benjamin Harrison, Red Cross hospital unit members, Company E Battery B and members of the signal corps, was a big success. The men invited their wives, sisters and other friends and music and dancing, singing and visiting, handshaking and congratulating were distinct features of the good time. The guests were received informally by E. G. Hoffman, president of the University club and Major Ryan. Late in the evening Maurice Niezer led in singing a number of patriotic songs. Miss Alice Koser furnished the music for dancing. The Watson Twins, semi-professional young girl dancers of this city, gave two exhibitions of their accomplishments. Mrs. Robert W. Fowler sang patriotic solos. President Hoffman announced about 10 o'clock that the officers would line up in the ballroom and the guests would have an opportunity to pass and shake hands with each one. The opportunity to show appreciation of the patriotism of the men was gladly improved by the visitors. Major Ryan headed the line and Captain Ewing Bond, Captain Fred Eggman, fifteen first and second lieutenants followed. Visitors from other cities included Mr. and Mrs. Will Turner, of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Strauss, of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Trentman, of Oregon, Ill.; Miss Marjorie Dailey, of South Bend; Prof. Hugo Thiene, of Ann Arbor; Miss Rita Jenkins, of Montgomery, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. James H. ## How to Beautify a Summer Soiled Face

It's really a simple matter to renovate a face soiled by sun, wind, heat, dust, and many mercurized wax, used like cold cream, will transform the worst old complexion into one of snowy whiteness and velvety softness. It literally peels off the outer veil of surface skin, but so gently, gradually, there is no discomfort. The worn-out skin comes off, not in patches, but evenly, in tiny particles, leaving no evidence of its removal. The younger, healthier under-skin forming the new complexion, is one of captivating loveliness. One ounce of mercurized wax, to be had at any drugstore, is enough to remove any tanned, reddened, wrinkled, freckled, blotchy skin. Apply before retiring, washing it off in the morning.

Many skins wrinkle easily with every wind that blows, with heat, worry, etc. An excellent wrinkle remover, because it tightens the skin and strengthens relaxed muscles, is a wash lotion made as follows: Powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in witch hazel, 4 oz. This gives immediate results.—Advertisement.

Women in Unusual Occupations

Staff Special.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 24.—Mrs. Nettie Yaw, of Los Angeles county, bears the distinction of being the only woman deputy sheriff in California and one of the few in the United States. The billet is as hazardous as it is unique. She does general work, just as do all of the officers; her sex makes no difference—if anything, it makes her assignments harder.

As an intelligence worker, and a handler of violently insane persons, Deputy Yaw has rendered signal service to the department. Intelligence work consists in gathering that confidential information which is on file in every sheriff's office regarding persons and property within the county.

As a server of subpoenas Mrs. Yaw has no equal. She has succeeded in rendering service when every man in the department has failed. Often she has located people who were supposed to have moved out of the county.

"Perhaps my greatest success has been in handling women criminals and also in dealing with insane patients," says Mrs. Yaw. "The department seems to think that my greatest need is in the last named work. Arresting the unfortunate victims of insanity is, of course, the most dangerous duty which confronts peace officers. One never knows when the crazy person will become violent, nor to what extent he will go."

"In the year that I have been a deputy sheriff, I have found it necessary to manacle but two insane patients. That was when I first came into the sheriff's office and before I became thoroughly familiar with the work."

So remarkable has Deputy Sheriff Yaw's success been in handling insane persons that it has attracted wide attention among medical staffs.

"Only in one instance have I ever had trouble in quieting a crazy person. That was in the case of a man and his wife, both mentally unbalanced, who had been shooting at passersby on the state highway which ran in front of their house near this city. Realizing that it would be no small job to arrest them, I took other officers with me."

"When we approached the house the aged couple leveled rifles at us from their porch and told us if we came closer than ten feet they would kill us. Looking into the barrel of their weapons, I tried to persuade them to submit to arrest. Imagine the task! We finally took them through strategy, capturing the husband first and the wife later. It was the only time that I ever felt that I was facing death."

the city. he visitors will make a trip home by way of Toledo to Buffalo by lake, thence to Washington, D. C.

AT THE PALACE

LIKE WELLINGTON CROSS.

Seldom Has Act at New Palace Registered Like His.

Fort Wayne very frankly likes Wellington Cross. This handsome young man with the embracing smile laughed a few stories and sang a few songs last night and then he sang and told some more because his audience wouldn't let him go. He told the folks that he knew a whole pack of them and they insisted on having them all. His song, "Little by Little and Bit by Bit" was a bit of comedy set to music that registered especially big. He made a little speech, too, that was quite as funny as one would expect so talented a comedian to do.

The bill for the remainder of the week is a snacking sequence of excellent acts. The show opens with Love and Witbur, a boy and a girl, in some thrilling acrobatics and graceful poses. Anderson and Goines, two dark songsters and funsters who are well known to Fort Wayne audiences, still are doing their clever ghost hunt. Daniels and Walters open with a bit of foolishness in which the man as a stage hand and the girl singing have some good comedy and close with a patriotic number in which Daniels' depiction of a civil war hero strikes a responsive chord with his audience. The five violin girls, a dashing quintet of vivacious lassies with violins, play a bit and then engage in a general romp of dance and song playing their own accompaniments. A superbly staged and gracefully presented ultra modern dancing act is done by Harold DuKane and company of three people. The stage is set to depict the interior of a sumptuous dancing salon. Mr. DuKane's imitation of an ice skater is a remarkable demonstration of dancing agility.

HOW TO CAN TOMATOES.

Select firm, well-formed tomatoes. Scald 1 1/2 minutes or until skins loosen. Dip quickly into and out of cold water. Peel and remove stem and core. Pack directly into cans or hot jars. Press down with a tablespoon (add no water). Add a level teaspoonful of salt per quart. Put the rubber rings and caps of jars into position but do not tighten fully. Seal tin cans completely. Place the packed containers on a false bottom in a vessel of water sufficiently deep to cover them by one inch and allow to remain at a boiling temperature for 22 minutes when using hot water bath canners.

War Nighties Minus Laces, Styles Plain

There is one thing in the fashion world that is always fascinating to the feminine fancy, and that is lingerie. Even the war has failed to rob it of its perennial charm. Not that it has remained unaffected by the world shaking events of the last three years.

On the contrary, if the world at large only knew it, "undies" have given up a good deal in the way of patriotism.

The result is an added charm and distinction, so that the plain undergarments of war are even more dainty and alluring than the fluttering "frillies" of peace.

Lace to a great extent has disappeared from view. Few, if any, tucks break the expanse of material that stretches between the neck and hem of the wartime "nightie," or what one might quite truthfully call the "ration" chemise, so very literally does it interpret the injunction to "use no more than you want of anything, and do with as little as possible always."

How much diminutive garments manage to serve the useful purposes they undoubtedly do is a secret known only to themselves, the makers and the wearers.

It seems almost a pity that the great world can not have an opportunity of seeing how really little we women can do with when once we make up our minds to do it.

Frills have gone the way of lace. When the barrel silhouette obtruded its ungainly outline earlier in the season, frills for a brief period resumed their sway.

But the revision to the straight line—which is, after all, far more becoming to average woman than any other style—effectually flattened out all other tendencies. Flat as a pancake is the "pettie" that lies beneath the swaying skirts of summer.

Under perfect conditions watercross may be made to flower and seed within eight days of planting.

Successful experiments have been made at Moncton, New Brunswick, establishing telephone communication between a train dispatcher's office and a moving train.

CAMP TAYLOR ABOUT READY

Cantonment, Near Louisville for Men of the National Army.

INDIANA BOYS WILL BE TRAINED THERE

Vast City for Accommodation of 40,000 Men Has 1,200 Buildings.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 24.—Within less than three months there has grown up, on the southern outskirts of Louisville a mushroom city, now nearly completed, capable of housing more than 40,000 men. Here all members of the new national army drawn from Kentucky and Indiana and part of the Illinois troops will be trained.

The city is one of sixteen great cantonments which Uncle Sam is building, all of which will be devoted to the same purpose. It will bear the name of Zachary Taylor, hero of Buena Vista and Monterey, who lies buried within less than a dozen miles of the site.

Engineers drove their first stakes in June in the midst of pastures and truck gardens. Today nearly twelve hundred buildings in various stages of construction, a large proportion of them already complete, stand upon the same ground.

Despite the haste nothing has been overlooked which will add to the comfort or the well being of the men who will find their homes for months within its confines.

Company Barracks Ready. Most of the company barracks have been completed. The walls are well sheathed and are weatherboarded. They are designed to be warm in winter and the arrangement of windows promises that they will be as comfortable as it is possible to expect in summer. There will be no over-crowding and the sanitary arrangements have been planned by experts.

Within convenient access of each company is a detached building containing showers and wash rooms. Kitchens and dining halls are nearby. The city itself stands upon high rolling ground and it has exceptionally good surface drainage. A system of sanitary sewers within its borders will be connected with the sewer mains having been constructed to its boundaries by city and county authorities.

Water mains have also been laid to the boundaries of the cantonment by the municipally owned Louisville Water company and the 2,500,000 gallons of water which will be required daily will be supplied from the same filtration plant which supplies the city. Gas and Electricity.

The Louisville Gas and Electric company also has carried its transmission system to the boundaries of the cantonment and will supply the current used for light and power. The Louisville Street Railway company has constructed a double track line to the soldier city and will give a 5 cent fare to any section of Louisville.

When work was started upon the cantonment it was a small force and the material used in the first buildings, now used for offices, was hauled from Louisville lumber yards and supply houses.

Within ten days of this modest start lumber in trainloads was arriving from southern sawmills daily. The number of workmen grew as the flow of materials increased until today it totals about 10,000. Of these about 4,000 are carpenters, 4,000 others are listed as laborers and the remainder includes skilled craftsmen of many trades.

A good idea of the size of the task upon which the war department embarked when it undertook the construction of sixteen such cities simultaneously can be gained from the fact that 300 water boys are employed in the job at Camp Taylor. These youngsters are not idle either. Each must satisfy the demands of about thirty men and it keeps him busy.

With the increase in the number of men employed on the work and the swelling flow of materials the percentage of the whole task to be accomplished each day increased until it finally approximated about two and one-half per cent of the whole daily.

Will Find Camp Complete. When the first drafts of the new army begin to arrive September 5, they will find Camp Taylor complete.

in its essential details with but two exceptions. One section of the hospital group will be incomplete, as will the remount station. Two sections of the hospital group will be ready, however, and the completion of the third section will only add to the capacity, which will exceed 1,000 beds.

The quarters to be occupied by the men will still have finishing touches to be added which will improve their appearance and to some extent add to comfort, but there will be nothing really essential lacking.

Racing against time officials responsible for the erection of the cantonment have found the competitive instinct of the average human being a powerful factor in assisting their effort. Each day a detailed report showing the percentage of the work completed up to that time and listing separately the progress made on the preceding day is placed in the hand of Major Frank E. Lamphere, construction quartermaster in charge. These reports show at a glance how various bodies of men are progressing with their part of the work.

For instance for convenience in supervising and speeding up the work of carpenters the cantonment is divided into seventeen units, each with its own working organization. The report which comes to Major Lamphere each morning shows just how much timber, the total board feet being given, is required in the construction of each unit. Then is shown the number of board feet of timber placed to that date, together with the amount placed the preceding day. The report then shows what percentage of the work on each unit has been completed, and gives the number of man-days work charged against each unit. Then to complete the comparison the daily average of board feet of lumber per man placed in the buildings of various units is shown. A copy of this report is posted on the grounds where each unit is being erected so that the men may compare the progress of the unit on which they are engaged with that of other units.

This plan is followed out with other classes of work, and according to Major Lamphere it has produced good results. Each man is made to feel a personal sense of responsibility for the progress of the unit upon which the crew to which he belongs is engaged. Over 1,200 Buildings.

There are more than 1,200 buildings in the cantonment and they cover about 1,250 acres. The hospital group of sixty-five buildings occupies eighty acres and the remount station about seventy-five acres. This remount station will care for about 9,000 horses and mules.

Buildings and ground will be lighted by electricity. More than two hundred miles of wire will be necessary to supply the lights in the various buildings and 320 arc lights will be used to illuminate the company streets.

The buildings of the hospital group and officers' quarters will be heated with steam. The various company barracks will use coal stoves. More than 2,000 heating stoves will be used, and contracts for 17,000 tons of coal to supply them have been asked for.

More than five miles of asphalt roadway eighteen feet wide have been laid within the cantonment which is spread out in a great arc nearly two miles long. These roads will connect with several hard surfaced highways leading from Louisville to the surrounding country.

Much of the equipment for the cantonment has arrived and is already in storehouses built along the railroad tracks which have been run into the grounds. More is on the way.

The quantity of this equipment is tremendous. To name but a few items will show something of size of the task in getting it to the right place in time. More than 40,000 cots will be used, and there will be equipment of all sorts for 343 kitchens. Then there will be uniforms and other clothing for the thousands of men who will report for duty during September. Rifles and various other articles of military equipment, and added to all this and much more hundreds upon hundreds of tons of foodstuffs must be in the storehouses before even the first member of the new army arrives.

PLAN MEETS DISAPPROVAL

Garbage Would Have to be Cooked Before it is Fed to Pigs.

COMMISSIONERS WILL OPPOSE MOVEMENT

Only Available Spot for This Purpose Would be Ten Miles Out.

Mayor William Hosey's plan for the disposition of the garbage by raising pigs is meeting with disapproval.

It is said that the county commissioners will oppose the plan when presented to them. It is understood that one member of the board stated that the proposal to the county to take care of the garbage question would meet a flat refusal.

In circles in the court house where the proposed plan of the mayor is being discussed it was brought out that every bit of the garbage would have to be cooked before it is fed to the pigs. This, according to the men, would mean a great outlay of money as it would require several large vats to bring the garbage to a boiling point when all germs cease to live.

The cooking of the garbage would, therefore, necessitate, it is pointed out, the employment of a man who would understand that work.

Men who have been in the hog raising business for many years state that it would be extremely necessary to cook the garbage in order to prevent disease. A man who has made a study of hog cholera stated that in nearly all cases where Allen county was overrun by this dreaded disease the start of it could be traced to hog pens where garbage from Fort Wayne was being used as food for the animals.

The only available spot in the county, officials say, where the pigs could be raised and fed on the garbage is ten miles from the city on the new county farm.

Experienced hog raisers declare that hogs cannot be fattened to a marketable point on garbage alone, and that cereals would have to be purchased in order to make the city's hog farm a profitable one.

Another one of the arguments used against the plan is that the cost of boiling the garbage would be as great as the cost of burning it, and that the profits on the hogs would be wiped out by the expense of taking the garbage out to the farm and the expense incurred in buying corn and other cereals and wages for the men who would have to be hired to take care of them.

The outlook of this plan for the disposition of the city's garbage is therefore rather gloomy at the present time.

IN LAST HOUR RUSH ON CITY PARK PLANS

Adolph Jaenicke, the new city park superintendent, has prepared a series of exclusive park stories for The Sentinel. The interesting articles on "The How, What and Why of Our City Parks," will open in the Saturday issue. It will pay every public minded citizen, every genuine Fort Wayne booster, to follow these articles from beginning to end, as the stories will touch in a kindly way upon the duties of the public towards the beauty spots and the plans for bettering each city open place.

President Wilson is of Scotch-Irish ancestry on both sides.

PRESIDENT HAS THE JAP ENVOYS TO DINE

Mikado's War Mission is Received and Greetings Exchanged.

Washington, Aug. 24.—Viscount Ishii, special ambassador and head of Japan's mission to the United States, presented his credentials to President Wilson last evening and with them an autograph letter from his emperor congratulating the president and the people of the United States upon their decision to enter the war against Germany.

The ambassador recalled seeing American and Japanese colors waving together at the relief of Peking in 1900, and told the president it was a source of pride to every Japanese that the United States now was fighting with Japan for a safe and enduring peace based on "respect for the smallest and weakest of states, on contempt for the arrogance of materialistic force, on reverence for the pledged word."

Last night Viscount Ishii and the members of his mission were the guests of the president at a state dinner in the white house, closing a day of the formal calls of courtesy.

Congratulations on War.

Presenting his credentials to the president, Viscount Ishii said: "Mr. President, on this occasion I have the good fortune to be the bearer of a special message of welcome and deep appreciation from his imperial majesty the emperor of Japan to the president and sovereign people of the United States of America, on their momentous decision to co-operate in the great war now raging."

"His majesty, interpreting the unanimous sentiment of Japan, congratulates your great country on this determination. It has been arrived at, not lightly and in a moment of passion, but after the exercise of a noble patience and in a spirit of unselfish chivalry which have excited the admiration of the whole world. That America is now fighting on the side of Japan is a source of pride to his majesty and to every Japanese."

"It is not the first time, I may be allowed to remind you, Mr. President, that this has happened. In 1900 I had the privilege of seeing with my own eyes the American and Japanese colors waving together when the allied troops, in the face of terrible difficulties, triumphantly relieved the besieged legations at Peking. I well remember the skill and courage with which the American civilians and soldiers co-operated in the defense. The resourceful bravery which those few Americans showed then, American legions will show now."

"The auspicious co-operation of the United States of America and Japan in the tremendous task of restoring the reign of mutual confidence and good will among the nations of the earth can not but draw us closer together. Our common efforts are directed to seeking an enduring peace, based on respect for the independence of the smallest and weakest states; on contempt of the arrogance of materialistic force; on reverence for the pledged word. In the service of these common ideals, our two countries must surely realize a far nearer friendship than before."

"This is no ordinary war. It is an issue between common morality and an inhuman system of calculated aggression, which would render all friendly intercourse impossible. The welcome fact that the United States stands side by side with the allied powers is a guarantee of early victory, and his imperial majesty hails it as such with deep gratification."

Rights of Nations First. The president said in reply: "Mr. Ambassador: It is with a sense of deep satisfaction that I receive from your hand the letters whereby you are accredited as the ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary of Japan on a special mission to the United States. It is a pleasure to accept through you from your imperial sovereign congratulations on the entrance of the United States into the great conflict which is now raging."

"The present struggle is especially characterized by the development of the spirit of co-operation throughout the greater part of the world for the maintenance of the rights of nations and the liberties of individuals. I assure your excellency that standing, as our countries now do, associated in this great struggle for the vindication of justice, there will be developed those closer ties of fellowship which must come from the mutual sacrifice of life and property. May the efforts now being exerted by an indignant humanity lead, at the proper time, to the complete establishment of justice and to a peace which will be both permanent and serene."

"I trust your excellency will find your sojourn among us most agreeable and I should be gratified if you would be so good as to make known to his imperial majesty my best wishes for his welfare, for that of your wonderful country and for the happiness of its people. I am most happy to accord you recognition in your high capacity."

TAKES DEGREE AT COLUMBUS.

Charles Wild, of Fort Wayne, one of Soldier 32d Degree Masons.

Among the Blue Lodge Masons to receive the thirty-second degree at Columbus, Ohio, recently, was Charles Wild, of Fort Wayne. The young man is a member of the quarter-master corps, and was recently transferred to the barracks at Columbus. Many members of the army and navy units were initiated at that time, and a celebration was given in their honor. Initiation fees were waived in the case of the soldiers who took degrees. Wild was a member of the Wayne lodge, No. 35.

BIG INTEREST FOR HOSPITAL BONDS

County Council in Special Session Decides on Four and Three-Quarters.

Allen county tuberculosis hospital bonds if sold will draw 4 3/4 per cent interest. This decision was reached at a special session of the county council held Friday morning. This is a raise of 3/4 of a cent in interest.

The council ordered that the bonds be issued and advertised as bearing this amount of interest. Instead of being issued in denominations of $1,000 as they were on the first issue, the bonds will now be in denominations of $500 each. This action of the council was deemed necessary after the bonds failed to find buyers when they were offered for sale several weeks ago. Not one single bid was received for the bonds and as a second effort to dispose of the bonds the interest has been increased.

Western Gas Sued Again.

The Western Gas Construction company was made defendant in another suit filed by the National Supply company. The plaintiffs ask for a judgment of $1,000 on a promissory note which they allege is overdue, interest on this amount since Dec. 2, 1916, and attorney fees of $100.

Court Note.

Rose Kaufman, a nurse, has filed a claim of $67.50 against the estate of Daisy McVey, deceased. The plaintiff states that she nursed the deceased while the latter was demented.

Dr. Jesse H. Briggs, of Chubbuck, has filed claim against the estate of Mary L. Keck asking for $258.00. He states that his services have never been paid for.

Loretta E. Hayes has received her commission as a notary public.

OFFICER BREAKS HAND IN TILT WITH DENTIST

Dr. Kenneth Hatch, dentist, was in the city jail for a time Friday afternoon, when a charge of disorderly conduct was registered after his name on the blotter. He secured his release on bond. His arrest was due to the fact that he grew turbulent in his journeys through the halls of the Noll building, where his office is located. Patrolman Harris was called by other tenants of the building. Hatch resisted arrest, the officer claims. In an effort to strike the man who grappled with him, Harris says, the officer struck a steel post. A bone in the patrolman's hand was broken.

REICHSTAG HAS A LIVELY PEACE ROW

Chancellor Compelled to Clarify Utterances Just Made.

Berlin, Aug. 24.—Berlin was surprised to learn on awakening this morning that the reichstag building yesterday afternoon had been the scene of a political flurry, which assumed varying proportions as seen through the partisan editorial eye-glass. The incident which brought about the temporary disagreement between the majority coalition and the chancellor was the chancellor's somewhat indefinite phrasing of his attitude toward the reichstag peace proposal.

The impression created was that Dr. Michaelis was circumscribing his endorsement of that action. During Wednesday's intermission for luncheon the majority party drew up a statement to the effect that there could be no doubt respecting the chancellor's acquiescence in the coalition peace views.

The presentation of this declaration at the afternoon session drew forth a second statement from the chancellor in which he definitely corrected any false impressions that might have been created by his utterances at the morning session. Under stress of this tension the main committee adjourned its sitting. The chancellor received the party leaders for the purpose of holding a confidential conference.

The unexpected episode, which became known despite the alleged confidential nature of the main committee's deliberations together, gives a section of the press occasion to dilate upon the incident in columns of plain spoken comment in which the chancellor fares rather badly.

When the committee resumed its session this morning a number of the progressive people's party, speaking for the majority coalition, explained that the chancellor's supplementary statement had cleared up the misunderstanding and that the joint declaration of the majority parties would have been modified or entirely dispensed with if the correcting explanation offered by Dr. Michaelis could have been anticipated.

GIRL BADLY WOUNDED BY A LOVER'S PISTOL

Tipton, Ind., Aug. 24.—Miss Lena Schmidt, 19, daughter of Mrs. Mary Schmidt of this city, who was wounded late last night when she jumped in front of William Havens, and Paul Boswell, 17, who is alleged to have attempted to shoot Havens, is in a serious condition today. Boswell fled and has not been found. Havens was calling on Miss Schmidt. Boswell appeared unexpectedly and without warning is said to have pointed his revolver at Havens.

OBSERVES REFORMATION QUADRICENTENNIAL

Jubilee Service Will be Held by Lutherans at Bingen, Sunday.

Decatur, Ind., Aug. 24.—A jubilee service to commemorate the quadricentennial of the reformation will be held next Sunday, August 26, in the grove of the St. John's Lutheran church at Bingen, by the Lutheran congregations of Adams and Wells counties.

Jubilee services to commemorate the four hundredth anniversary of the reformation will be held next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, in the afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, sun time. In the morning service Pastor F. Wambaus, of Columbus, Ind., will preach on the theme: "Luther, the Great Reformer of Last Times." Pastor F. J. Keller, of Cleveland, the first speaker at the afternoon service, will preach on the theme, "Luther a Faithful Confessor of His Savior." An English address by Prof. H. B. Hemminger, of Conover, N. C., on "Our Inheritance and Our Obligation," will conclude the services.

A selected mixed chorus will lead in the choral singing of the occasion by rendering, also, several appropriate chorus selections. The offering taken at the services will be added to the Lutheran church extension fund.

Should inclement weather hinder the outdoor celebration, the services will be held in the St. John's church and school.

Those not intending to bring their lunch can get service at the lunch and refreshment stands, where coffee and sandwiches, soft drinks, ice cream, etc., may be bought.

RED CROSS MITE BOX

One of the latest helpers to the Red Cross cause is the "mite box," a little tin affair which is standing just outside the door of the Berry street headquarters for passersby to drop their nickels and dimes. Thursday afternoon early a dollar was dropped into the box. It will be opened again Friday evening, and headquarters officials expected even better results. The headquarters are brightened by the addition of a bunch of gladioli, the gift of Mrs. Michael Sheridan, of rural route 13.

ANOTHER AUTO STOLEN.

A. F. Puls, 3415 Fox avenue, has reported to the police that his Ford car is missing. The machine was taken from the corner of Sixth and Wells streets about 11 o'clock Thursday evening. The number on the runabout is 7143.

GERMAN PAPER SUSPENDED.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Aug. 23.—The Iowa Post, a German language newspaper, suspended publication today. The paper has been intensely pro-German and withdrawal of support by loyal Germans is given as the reason for the suspension. Henry Gundling, its editor, has been before the federal authorities twice.

MAYOR ELABORATES ON PIGGERY PLAN

Would Glean Grease From Garbage Being Cooked for Food.

Mayor W. J. Hosey is making his plans for a city piggery more definite. He will be prepared to explain the full process to the council committee if that organization meets on Friday evening to discuss the garbage situation.

The mayor proposes to make use of the Grand Rapids railroad in hauling the garbage from the city to the county farm, ten miles from Fort Wayne. When the waste cannot be moved at once by rail the mayor would use auto trucks, which he says could make the trip over the highly improved Lincoln highway in a short time.

Large vats for cooking the garbage would have to be erected, the mayor admits. He would cook the refuse by steam heat and would have the grease, which would rise to the surface, skimmed off and sold to soap manufacturers.

The mayor was out to the county farm of 800 acres where he proposes to place the piggery, Thursday afternoon. He states that conditions are good for the raising of the stock. There is not a house within a mile of the region where the pigs would be fed, under the mayor's plan.

Mayor Hosey shows an added boon to his plan from the reason that the price of pork might be lowered for Fort Wayne citizens if the city went into the pig raising business. The land which is now nearly valueless, he states, would be conserved if made to serve as a piggery.

WANT PAVING.

Alexander Street Folk Beg Board for Improvement.

A delegation of property owners from the region of Pontiac Place addition attended the board of works meeting Thursday evening and petitioned the board for the paving of Alexander street, and of Pontiac street, from Anthony boulevard to Abbott street. Alexander street is impassible in wet weather, several of the spokesmen explained. There is no mail delivery along the street because of the state of the drive way, it was told. The board members promised to take the matter up at once and to take action on both streets.

A petition for the extension of the water lines on Reynolds and Molitor streets was presented before the works board. The water system extension is especially needed in order to accommodate a sausage factory which is being placed near the end of the street. The petition will be given consideration, but shortage of water pipes will delay construction work, the board members explained.

The assessment roll for the Spy Run sewer was approved by the works board. This is the first real drain line for the Spy Run district. Work on the line will start at once.

The plat for the South Wood Park addition was approved.

Assessment rolls for the following concrete sidewalks were approved by the board: On both sides of Jackson street, from Washington to the alley south of Jefferson; for the south side of Pontiac street, from Calhoun to Fairfield; both sides of Swinney avenue, from Broadway, and both sides of Dawson, from Calhoun to Fairfield. The board also confirmed a resolution for the vacating of 23 1/2 feet of Barthold street, from the right of way of the Lake Shore to St. Mary's avenue, as petitioned by the railway company in order to reduce the width of improvements contemplated by the railroad.

Assessment rolls were approved for cement sidewalks on the west side of Lantz street, from Tennessee avenue to Delaware avenue; both sides of Pape avenue, from St. Mary's river to St. Mary's avenue; both sides of Superior, from Barr to Harrison, and approved the assessment roll for the sewer in the alley between Lafayette and Clark streets, from Oxford to the alley south of Wiebke street. A resolution was adopted for the construction of a cement sidewalk on both sides of Woodview boulevard, from Hanna street to the alley east of Gay street.

Building permits were issued to William Wefel, to build residence, 1113 Swinney avenue, $1,500, and to Max Kirbach, repair house, 2233 John street, $300.

WILL ATTEND BIG FAREWELL.

Lafayette, Ind., Aug. 24.—Mayor Thomas Bauer has issued an appeal to the citizens of Lafayette to attend the farewell demonstration for the First Indiana field artillery to be held in Indianapolis on Sunday. Battery C of this city is a unit in the organization. Scores of citizens from here have signified their intention of attending.

The new Wisconsin state capitol at Madison cost $7,000,000 and was twelve years in building.

FURTHER PLANS NOT YET MADE

Country District Board May Have to Summon Still More Men.

DISTRICT BOARD HINDERED BY "BULLS"

District Two Board Will Conduct Oral Exams Friday Evening.

Re-examination of men who were rejected upon the first examination occupied the attention and time of the board of country district Friday. Members of the board state that their plans for the future will depend entirely upon the action of the district board on the appeals for exemption.

It is evident, however, that if the appeal board grants the majority of the exemptions that another call for more men will have to be sounded. The percentage of men who claim exemption runs very near being 95 per cent in this district.

Inefficiency on the part of the local boards in districts throughout northeastern Indiana has hindered the work of the district board to a great extent. The members of the board were busy Thursday afternoon and Friday morning checking up the so-called "bulls."

The board in the second city district has called in a number of men for oral examination for Friday evening. It is asked by the board that those who are called in should bring the dependents with them.

District boards in the city will soon be in a position to announce the list of men who will be called to Louisville for training.

It is stated that the boards will have to finish their work in a hurry as it is believed that the order for the first thirty per cent of the quota to report will soon be on hand from the war department.

The list of selected men as published in all three Fort Wayne papers from the Third district is said to be unofficial. Both evening papers published the list on Wednesday evening and a morning paper on Thursday morning. Members of the board state that there will be several changes.

HIS FAIR VICTIMS ARE IN ALL STATES

John Beckwith, Poet and Soldier, Left Trail of Bleeding Hearts.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 24.—With fair victims in almost every state in the union, John F. Beckwith, poet, novelist, soldier and love-letter writer, has been arrested by federal authorities here charged with getting large sums of money by defrauding women, whose confidence he is alleged to have won through expressions of love. He used a "follow up" system of love letters, it is charged, written in masterful English.

Beckwith admitted to federal officers he followed a system in cajoling each victim, studying each separately and declares himself to be "intensely impressionable." His first epistles to his victims usually expressed his desire for love in an impersonal manner but in each succeeding communication his avowed love became more intense.

When arrested he had a mailing list of seventy-five names including women from Portsmouth, Akron, Deshler, Canton, Columbus, Forestville and Ashland, Ohio. Most of his operations were directed from Albany, N. Y., but he has been in Cleveland since April. He was arrested on a warrant charging him with using the mails to defraud Mrs. A. Peterson, 332 Elm street, Sycamore, Ill. Beckwith says he is a college graduate, holding two degrees and served as an officer in the Boer war. He was born in Norway, he says.

NO MATCHES PLAYED IN STATE TOURNAMENT

The matches in the semi-finals of the singles and doubles of the State Tennis tournament scheduled for this morning were called off and deferred to later in the afternoon. O'Rourke and Balke were scheduled to meet Stephens and Fisher at 10 o'clock and O'Rourke was to play Appel, of Indianapolis, at 11:30, but both of these matches had to be postponed. Stephens was scheduled to meet Hoag at 3:30 o'clock.

ENDED ARGUMENT.

A young man who has given police the name of Lloyd Rammart, is held in the city jail upon a charge of carrying concealed weapons. It is alleged that he drew a revolver, of ancient design, as a method of ending an argument in the grocery store of Schefman & Son, corner of Francis and Wayne streets, Friday noon. The police were alerted by a man who hurried from the store after the alleged gun pointing. The weapon was taken from the young man.

RAID ON JAIL FLATS NETS FOUR PRISONERS

Police Will Sustain Effort to Keep Down Vice in Old Section.

Four prisoners were taken when police raided the jail flats, Thursday night. The two couples will answer an associating charge on next Tuesday. Meantime it is expected that the defendants, who are all colored, will remain in jail.

"The old vice must not raise its head along the former 'red light' row," said Police Chief Lenz Friday morning, in commenting on the raid of the night before. "We expect to keep our eyes on the big houses and whenever we believe there is legal looseness being practiced in the frame palaces there will be wholesale raids. We mean the order that the flats must no longer be a scarlet section."

The four negroes who gave the names of Misses Alpha Reece and Arzene Maize and Arthur Ross and William Taylor, are held under $50 bond each.

Dismisses Battery.
A veritable battery of witnesses filed into court for a preliminary hearing of a Brock street dispute. The twelve women and girls who wished to "speak their mind" were told to march home again as the case will not be waged until Saturday morning.

Clara Murry, 1218 Brock street, and Clara Gulliver, 1208 Brock street, are charged with provoking. They promised to commit assault and battery upon Bertha Brown, one of their nearest neighbors, the affidavits against them read. The trouble, which is claimed to have stirred the Brock street section of the city, occurred on Thursday afternoon, when the neighbors engaged in an argument.

Scattered Crowd.
A young man in a speeding automobile scattered the crowd of transfer corner hangers-on at midnight Thursday night when he breezed across the intersection of Main and Calhoun street at the rate of twenty-five miles an hour. Patrolman Kavanaugh told in court Friday morning.

The officer commanded an automobile and gave chase. The pursuit led north on Calhoun street to Eureka street and then west to the Harrison street bridge. At Harrison street the patrolman leaped from the machine in which he was giving chase, to the running board of the speeding car. The unwilling auto party was conducted to police headquarters.

The defendant gave his name to the police as Lorenz Chandler, and the real name is Lorenz Chandler, and the bond of $50 was made in Chandler's name. The young man did not appear in court. He was fined $35 and costs, which amounted to $45.

Caught At Station.
Rapid action on the part of Detective Sergeant Charles Spiller caused him to catch up with Ernest Lanager, 18, just as the young man had purchased a ticket for Toledo, O., Thursday afternoon. The train, which would have carried the young man from the state, was due in five minutes.

Lanager engaged himself as delivery man for the Kaiser & Bando grocery Thursday. It is claimed that the young man kept money which was paid to him for groceries when he made deliveries. The youth pleaded guilty to a petit larceny charge in police court Friday morning. He was fined $20 and sentenced to 120 days at the reform school.

The young man was clad in the khaki of the United States army when he appeared before Judge H. W. Kerr. He had been a member of the 28th infantry, he explained. He was dismissed six months ago because of a weak heart, he told. He stole the money because his father demanded board pay, the youth tearfully explained. He has been in the state correction school before, Lanager admitted.

Other Police Court Cases.
Two negroes who were taken from a New York Central railroad freight train, Thursday night, are in contemplation of difficulties. Walter Offit, one of the colored men, says he was of age on June 28, but he added that he was

DISCOVERY OF SNAKE TRAINED TO STEAL FOR MASTER ENDS A MYSTERY

Special.
Birdseye, Ind., Aug. 23.—The local vigilance committee, organized here after hundreds of dollars worth of poultry, hams, eggs and milk had been stolen, has disbanded, after catching the thief. It proved to be a huge milk snake, trained in thievery by Henry Loose, a squatter living in a cave near town.

Two months ago farmers found their smoke houses and spring houses were being entered mysteriously and the choicest provisions taken.

The town constable sleuthed for a month with no success.
Farmers sat up all night with shot guns trying to trap the thief, but provisions would be stolen right under their eyes.

There was talk of witchcraft and ghosts until Bill Green, a member of the vigilance committee, met the snake on a road one night with a big ham in its mouth. Green pursued, but the snake dropped the ham and escaped.

A meeting of the vigilance committee was called and Mel Rose, president, proposed a strategy which resulted in the capture of the snake and its master.

A hole, just large enough for the snake to enter, was cut in Rose's spring house and a large can of sweetened milk placed on the floor. After the snake had consumed the milk its body was so swollen that it could not get out, and it was captured.

Members of the committee, expert in handling snakes, then tied a cord around its neck and it led them to the cave, where Loose was found with enough supplies to keep him for two years.

The snake will be added to the menagerie in the park zoo, where already there are an owl and a red squirrel.

REVOLTS AT "DIGGING" IN

American Soldier Hard to Teach the New Kind of Warfare.

WANTS TO STAND UP FOR A FIGHT

Went to Europe to Fight Germans and Would Wade Right in.

American Training Camp in France.
Aug. 24.—(By the Associated Press.)
—One of the greatest problems American officers have before them is impressing upon their men the absolute importance of learning the best ways of keeping under cover. The American soldier is not a natural digger-in. He is much like his Canadian brother in arms in that respect for it is an old saying on the British front that Canadians will die in the last ditch but never dig in.

Want a Stand-Up Open Fight.
It is the American spirit as it was that of the Canadians to up-stake and fight, but the world war has long since passed that stage and now in the long wear and worry of a struggle of attrition the best commander is the one who best conserves his men by keeping them under cover. One of the great reasons why the Germans are still in France and Belgium is their wonderful facility for digging in. They have a perfect passion for it, and an incentive as well, for the allied artillery never ceases to pound them day and night.

The German belief that they can dig faster than a modern army can advance is one of the principles of their defensive tactics. Notwithstanding all that has been told along this line, notwithstanding the heroic efforts to rouse his enthusiasm over the pick and shovel, the American soldier has remained decidedly lukewarm.

Came to Fight.
He came to France to fight the Germans, he says, and not to dig a hole and look at them through a spyglass. The French Canadian and Australian soldiers all resent the idea of digging in and who would not admit the necessity of so doing had they not learned by bitter experience the lesson.

It is purely a matter of temperament and there seems to be little doubt now that only actual battle experience will convince American soldiers that the ability to take advantage of any bit of cover is one of the greatest assets the modern man at arms can have.

Shame To Do It.
"It seems a shame to have to curb the first-line fighting spirit of our troops," said an American training officer, "but the men must be made to understand as far as possible that impetuosity must be subordinated to steadiness. This has been a time clock war. The men must advance in given time and go no further. Every step of infantry advance must first be worked out with artillery and when the plan is arranged it must be strictly adhered to."

"We realize that it would be difficult to hold our men to this plan. If they see a battle going on, their favorite impulse will be to push on as far as they can, and some are bound to do so just as the Canadians in the earlier stages."

May Have Big Losses.
We will undoubtedly have big losses in this way, but the men who come through our first battles will be worth their weight in gold thereafter. They will learn quickly the value of steadiness and absolute discipline under fire and they will be the steady influence we can distribute through the newer units of our great army as they get their final preparation for trial by fire.

The natural fighting man, it seems, has a natural antipathy to digging in. Even these late months of the war British Tommies would much rather remain above ground and stand chances of getting killed by shells than to dig deep dugouts so adored by the Germans. In planning the battle of Messines ridge, which was a model of a clean cut victory, the British army commander took into account the fighting man's point of view and when the advance had reached a stage where it gave the British coveted high ground the fighting men were directed to take a rest while specially organized sections were rushed up from the rear to do the necessary digging and consolidating of new trenches so as to make them thoroughly proof against counter-attack.

The result was that the fighting men were unhampered and unworried by the necessity of digging, went forward later in the day and took objectives that were rather hoped for than actually expected.

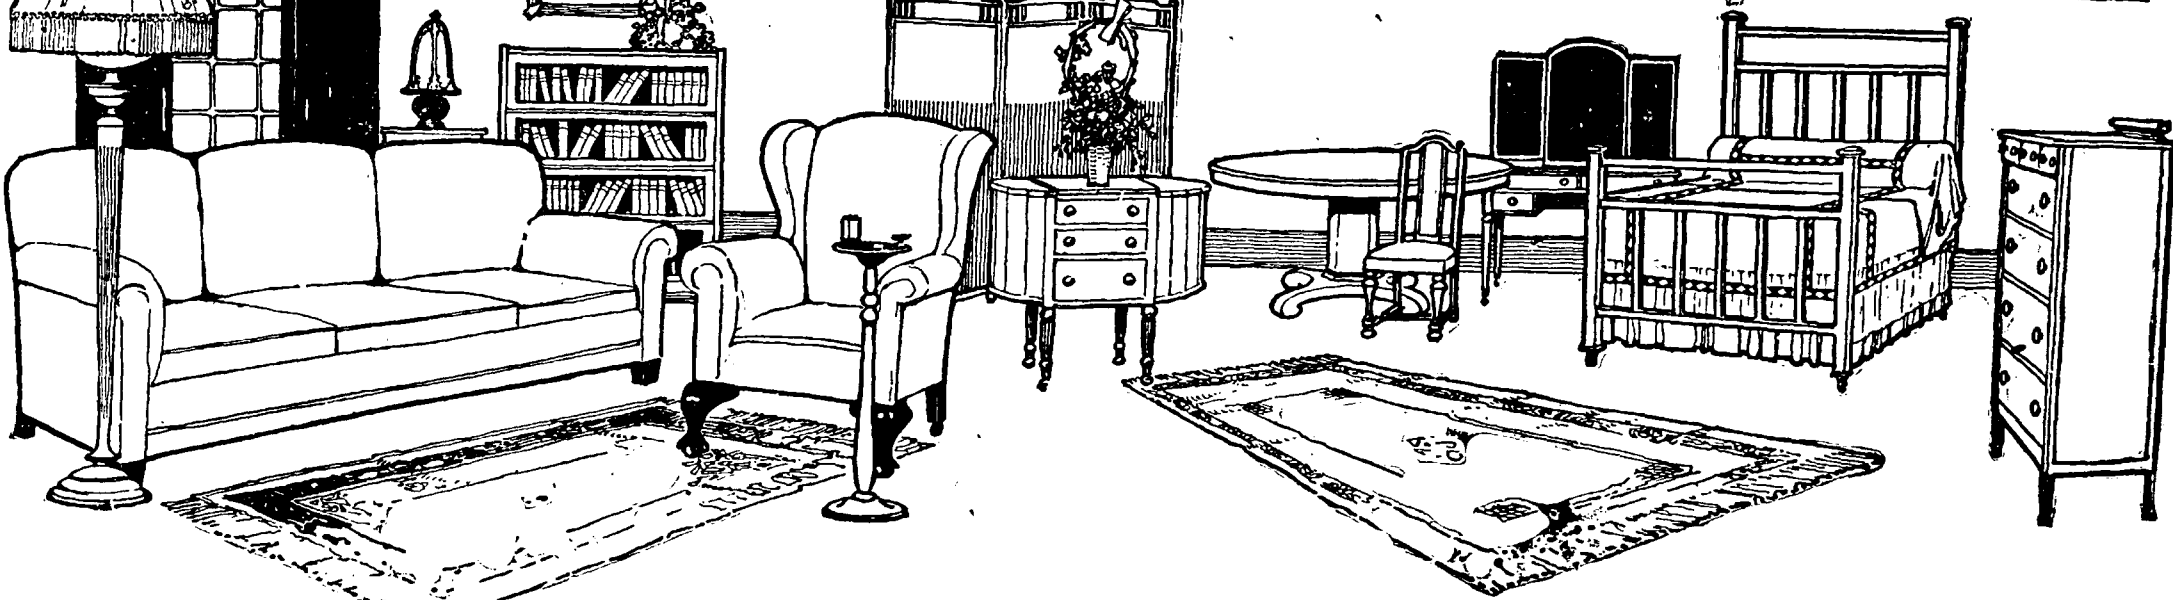

What the Americans Want.
These are the tactics the American fighting man would like to see. They appeal to him but just he is being put through a pretty stiff course of digging. This does not apply to digging trenches alone. He is being taught how to dig himself in individually while lying flat on the ground in face of enemy fire, thus getting temporary shelter and the protection of a sort of grave-like excavation. It is not so often nowadays, however, that a man has actually to dig himself in on solid ground for there is seldom an infantry advance made over anything but ground all pitted and torn with shell craters.

Fighting from shell holes is an art in itself and one that Americans must learn before taking their place in the allied lines. German prisoners declare they would rather fight from shell holes on an active part of the front than from a regularly organized trench system, contending that the latter affords the artillery too good a target while shell holes are difficult to deal with.

BELLS RING WHEN WOMAN IS FOUND

Farmer's Wife Discovered in Thicket After Hunt of Eleven Hours.

Clinging dinner bells broke the twilight silence from one end of Cedar Creek township to the other when Mrs. Lillie Krimbige, 32, wife of George Krimbige, a farmer living three miles southeast of Cedarville, was found by a posse of searchers at 6 o'clock Thursday evening. The woman had been missing from her home since 7 o'clock in the morning.

Two hundred Cedar Creek men and women had joined in the hunt for the lost woman when Sheriff Gillie and his deputies arrived at the Krimbige home late Thursday afternoon. Many of the farmers had tramped the fields since morning without stopping for dinner. Several women carried babies in their arms as they walked through the meadows calling for Mrs. Krimbige, who has lived in the neighborhood for some time.

The thicket in which the woman was found by Deputy Sheriff H. W. Cole was a small mass of farm trees a mile and a half from the Krimbige home. It is thought that the woman had wandered aimlessly about for hours after she left the back door of her house shortly after breakfast. The woman refused to talk after being rescued. She was carried to her home, where two physicians were summoned. She was ill and faint.

People of the neighborhood feared that Mrs. Krimbige had drowned herself in the St. Joseph river, near her home, because she had made the threat that she would put herself out of the way. She has been ill for several months.

VIEWED AS A BATTLE SITE

Company B Signal Corps at Work Making Contour
Map of Country.

ADVANTAGEOUS

Twenty Men Leave Fort Wayne Recruiting Station on Thursday Evening.

Uncle Sam's troops are to meet the enemy's troops somewhere north of the city and keep them from spreading ruin and chaos in Fort Wayne. The enemy is advancing and Company B, Signal Corps, was detailed to secure a contour map of the territory over which the enemy will have to pass in order to reach the city. The best sight for a battle was selected where the soldiers can make a stand. Advantageous points of position were to be selected. This was the mission that sent the Signal Corps boys out of the city early Friday morning. Of course the enemy and battle sight "stuff" is all imaginary but the boys went at it as though it was the real thing.

Need More Recruits.
Members of the company are anxious to secure more recruits through the generosity of Fort Wayne people. Any vitriol record will be appreciated and a discard from anyone's cabinet will be accepted. The carpenter of the company have finished making the cabinet and are anxious to have the places all filled before departing.

Those who have donated thus far are: Mrs. Edwin K. Kirkland, Mrs. Charles Bachelor, Mrs. Charles R. Dancer, Miss Virginia Randall, Mrs. John Daley, Mrs. Will Diffenderfer, Miss Ola Parks, Mrs. Clint Willson, Mrs. Robert Harding, Miss Laura Sperry, F. J. Crighton and Mrs. Cook.

Major Thomas F. Ryan, U. S. A., in charge of the Fort Wayne recruiting office, announces that twenty men were sent to Fort Thomas, Ky., Thursday evening. A large number will be sent Friday.

Men Are All Well.
Members of company E who received the "second shot in the arm" two days ago are all well and are participating in all the drill practices. Company E will also gladly receive any records that wish to be donated.

Lands Safely in France.

Lester Franks, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Franks, of 2422 Harrison street, has written from somewhere in France, stating that he arrived safely after a monotonous journey. He states that he is feeling fine, although he "fed the fishes for two days" on his journey across. He states that the French people are treating all the United States soldiers like princes. The young man is in the quartermaster corps.

Off to France in Aero Squad.

Don M. Boston, a young man of Harlan, has written to his friends that he left an American port for France a few days ago. He is a corporal in the 35th aero squadron and until ordered to leave for France was stationed at San Antonio, Texas. Hal Stewart, the well known boxer and prize fighter, is also a member of this same squadron, writes Mr. Boston, and he has been disposing of all would-be champions in the entire camp. Mr. Boston writes that "you may expect us back when it is over of there."

Captain Byroade Back.

Captain George L. Byroade, formerly military instructor at Concordia college but who was ordered to Fort Crook, Neb., last June, has returned to Fort Wayne and is awaiting orders from the adjutant general's office as to his next place of duty. In the meantime he will remain in the city.

Here on Furloughs.

Herbert C. Rust and Leon T. Baker, of the United States naval academy at Annapolis, are in the city spending a month's furlough with their parents.

Albert Leutewiler, of 2720 Lafayette street, and Wayne Bell, are also in the city on furloughs. The former is stationed at Sparta, Wis., in the field artillery and the latter is a private in the service at Fort Thomas, Ky.

Will Attend Services.

Members of Company C, through the invitation of Rev. C. Claude Travis, will attend divine services at the Wayne Street M. E. church, Sunday morning at 10:45 o'clock.

Patterson-Fletcher children's barber shop grows more popular every day. The pleasant surroundings and good service make it an ideal place to go.

Maccabees Entertained.

Keklonga Review No. 83, Woman's Benefit Association of Maccabees were entertained by Mrs. Krider, of Wallace street, last evening. In the card games and contests of the evening prizes were won by Miss Mildred Roeger, Mrs. Roeger and Mrs. McManigal. Delicious refreshments were served. Overly twenty members were present.

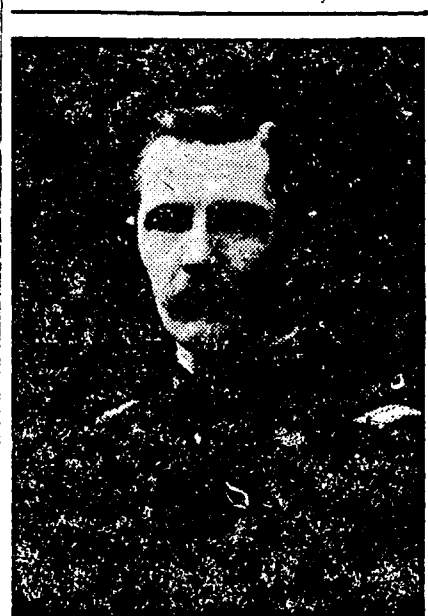

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish in this manner to thank the many friends and neighbors, the A. I. U. Mr. Grimme and Mr. Andrews of the police department, and all those who assisted in the search for our son and brother, Edward Huber, for their kindness and sympathy during our hours of great sorrow. We also wish to thank Rev. Bridge for his comforting words and those who sent the beautiful floral offerings.

Friends in Fort Wayne have just been apprised of the fact that in the distribution of regular army promotions recently Capt. Ivers W. Leonard, of this city, has been distinguished by advancement to the rank of lieutenant-colonel, and that he will have command in the new national army.

Col. Leonard has been in the service since 1898, when he took an examination for the regular army and was commissioned a second lieutenant. He served in the Philippines and distinguished himself there by gallantry in action against the insurgents of Aguinaldo. He has remained steadily in the service and has had successive promotions.

For three years Col. Leonard was stationed in Fort Wayne as military instructor in Concordia college, and then returned to the Philippines for duty. He has been back from the far eastern archipelago but a few months.

Colonel Leonard was born in Fort Wayne, was for a good while employed in the Pennsylvania offices and later studied law, locating in Columbia City for practice. More than twenty years ago he was elected prosecuting attorney of the Whitley-Noble judicial district. He then came to Fort Wayne to practice and it was while here that he entered the army. Many years ago he was an officer of the famous old Fort Wayne Rifles, in its day one of the crack militia companies of the country.

Colonel Leonard has been ordered to report to Camp Jackson, Columbia, South Carolina.

PICTURES AUSTRIA CRAZY FOR PEACE

Country Says His Land
Must Quit War.

Copenhagen, Aug. 24.—Austria, which is literally crying for peace, which has discarded any thought of territorial expansion and even is willing to buy its way out of the war by territorial sacrifices on the Italian front; an Austria of frequent food riots, unable to last through another winter or war; an Austria whose population would rise in revolution if any reasonable peace offer were rejected by the government, is pictured by an intelligent Austrian who has arrived here from Vienna. In a long talk with the correspondent today he told a story which, though perhaps, unduly pessimistic, explains the persistence of Count Czernin, Austro-Hungarian foreign minister and of Emperor Charles, in returning again and again to the subject of peace negotiations.

This Austrian, who spent several days in Berlin on his way to Copenhagen, had an opportunity to talk with representatives of the German foreign office, including Baron von Dem Busche-Haddenhausen, the under secretary, and other prominent Germans of the stamp of Professor Hans Delbrueck of the University of Berlin; Philipp Scheidemann, the socialist leader, and Maximilian Harden, editor of the Zukunft. He said that all of these men with the exception of Herr Harden, were convinced peace was coming before winter.

ITALIAN DRIVE CONTINUES TO MAKE PROGRESS

Rome, Aug. 24.—The war office reports that the battle on the Isonzo front continues and that about sixty guns have been captured.

Gen. Cadorna announces that the Italians yesterday stormed new Austrian positions, broke up violent counter attacks made by the enemy and took a large number of Austro-Hungarian prisoners.

More than twenty thousand prisoners, the war office statement says have been removed from the Austro-Italian front by the Italians.

MUST HAVE GOOD SUPPORT.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 24.—Wives of registrants should not be compelled to support themselves on the allowance of $25 a month from the army pay of their husbands under the ruling of the third Indiana district appeal board, sitting at the state house today. The board made the decision in sustaining appeals of registrants, whose pleas of exemption on the ground that their dependent wives would be compelled to support themselves on their army pay had been overruled by exemption boards in other counties.

TOLEDO WOMEN IN MEN'S WORK FIND THEIR ROMPERS AS GOOD TO ROMP IN AS THEY ARE TO WORK IN

It's off with the petticoat and on with the pantaloons—for girls in Toledo factories. These pictures show women employees of the Saxon Manufacturing company ready for work or play in overalls designed by Herman Saxon, head of the company. Dressed first to make woman's war work more convenient, the girl employees and the "rompers" an ideal garment for outdoor recreation, in which they are encouraged by factory heads. "The new garments make women employees less conspicuous to men than the old flimsy waists," is the Toledo verdict.

a lieutenant general. As a result, Major General William A. Mann has been designated to command the division of national guardsmen to go to France next, dubbed the "Rainbow Division," because they come from twenty-six different states.

But Mann may not go, as he reaches the retirement age next July.

The youngsters among the major generals are Kuhn, who was 53 last June, and Peyton C. March, not yet 53. March has been designated as chief of artillery with the expeditionary forces in France.

WHERE MONEY MUST BE MONEY BY FIAT

Turk Governor of Palestine Declares Shimplasters 100 Per Cent Good.

Cairo, Egypt, July 22.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The paper money issued by the Turkish government is not popular in Palestine. Since its issue it has steadily declined in value, and as the native of Palestine has an international reputation for discrimination in matters of finance, it is not easy to hoodwink the people as to the real worth of the greenback currency.

The governor, Jemal Pasha, recently has issued some rather peculiar proclamations insisting that this rise in the local rate of exchange is due to "the evil practice of hoarding real money" and that therefore the practice of hoarding must cease.

The proclamations declare that paper money and specie must and shall be equal in value, and to enforce this somewhat arbitrary adjustment of financial values, he states that:

"If our hope to have this adjustment peacefully effected is disappointed, and if by the fifteenth instant articles of any kind, whether food or otherwise, cannot be purchased with paper at exactly the same rate as cash, I shall proceed to deport from the

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

A depression which is centered over Ontario reaches southward over the Atlantic states and an area of high barometer, central over the eastern slope, covers much of the country from the Mississippi valley westward. During the last 24 hours showers have occurred over the northeast quarter of the country, and also in the Gulf and South Atlantic states. Moderate temperatures obtain in the Atlantic and Pacific states but in the region between the Rockies and the 85th meridian, except in the extreme south, the weather is cooler than the seasonal average.

TO GERMAN CHEMICAL TRADE.

London, Aug. 24.—Dr. Addison, minister of reconstruction, discussing the future of the chemical industry with representatives of the trade, insisted on the necessity of increased production to pay for the war and to meet preparations that the Germans were making for industrial effort after peace. He indicated that his policy would be to assist the trade in every possible way to meet the dislocation that would take place when the factories caused to produce war material and said he wanted them to give workmen a direct interest in the introduction of improved methods which were essential to the success of the industry.

WHO WILL BE NEXT HEAD OF THE ARMY

Gen. Kuhn, United States Observer in Germany, is Good Guess.

(Staff Special.)

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—Who'll be the next commander-in-chief of Uncle Sam's army—an army that may soon be the biggest ever assembled under the stars and stripes and one of the most formidable in the world? Here's Washington's guess:

Joseph H. Kuhn, for two years United States military observer in Germany.

The rest of Washington's dope sheet on the army reorganization necessitated by Major General Hugh Scott's retirement as chief of staff, next month because of the age limit is:

United States commander-in-chief in France, John J. Pershing, with the rank of lieutenant general.

Corps commanders, Generals Peyton March, Thomas Barry and Leonard Wood.

Kuhn and Barry have been most prominently mentioned for Scott's post. Both have been assigned to take charge of sections of the new national army. Kuhn is the scholar type of officer, and has served largely with the engineers. Barry is the fighting type.

The scholar is picked as first choice, and Kuhn has the additional advantage of knowing more about European war methods than any other American because of his two years of observation of the German army.

In choosing corps commanders under Pershing the war department had to take seniority into consideration. A number of major generals, including Leonard Wood, are seniors to Pershing, so they could not serve under him, unless Pershing were made

COST OF LIVING IN JAPAN.

Tokio, Aug. 24.—The steady rise in the price of necessities of life in Japan is calling forth protests from many quarters, especially from the ranks of the salaried workers. In many cases private employees have raised wages to meet the new conditions and the government is considering some measures of advancing salaries. The giving of bonuses already has begun.

BRITAIN MUST BE CRUSHED

We can do. The greater and mightier the problem the more gladly we shall grapple with it and solve it. We shall fight and conquer until the enemy has had enough of these struggles.

England the Gully. "All Germans have realized who is the instigator of this war and who is the chief enemy—England. Every one knows England is our most spiteful adversary. She spreads the hatred of Germany over the whole world, filling her allies with hatred and eagerness to fight. Thus every one at home knows what you know just better, that England is particularly the enemy to be struck down however difficult it may be. Your relatives at home, who, too, have made great sacrifices, thank you through me.

"A difficult struggle lies ahead of us. England, proud of her stubborn resistance believes in her invincibility but you will show that you can achieve still greater things for the price of the war is the German people's freedom to live—freedom at sea and freedom at home. With God's help we shall see the struggle through and be victorious."

COMPLETING FUEL CONTROL

result of the drastic restrictions placed on jobbers' profits. In case the mines fail to observe the regulations prescribed, the president has the power given him in the food bill to take over and operate the properties. A corporation, similar to the wheat corporation of the food administration has been suggested as a possible means of handling the industry in case the price-fixing does not operate satisfactorily.

Hits All Big Producers. The anthracite scale for railroad owned which include practically all the big producers, follows: White Ash—Broken, $4.55; egg, $4.45; stove, $4.70; chestnut, $4.80; pea, $4.00; Red ash—Broken, $4.75; egg, $4.65; stove, $4.90; chestnut, $4.90; Lyskens valley—Broken, $5.00; egg, $4.90; stove, $5.30; chestnut, $5.30; pea, $4.35.

Other producers may charge an advance of 75 cents a ton of that city over the figures set for the railroad owned mines. Those who incur the expense of recreating it at Atlantic or lake ports may add an additional 5 cents a ton.

Anthracite jobbers delivering coal at Buffalo and points east of that city will be allowed a maximum profit of 20 cents a ton of 2,240 pounds and those delivering it west of Buffalo may charge an excess of 30 cents. The combined gross profits of any number of jobbers handling a shipment must not exceed the limit of profit set for a single jobber, except that a screening charge of 5 cents may be made on water shipments at Atlantic or lake ports.

Similar to Bituminous. Bituminous profits for jobbers are fixed at 15 cents a ton of 2,000 pounds, and the same restrictions that govern dealings by a number of anthracite jobbers apply to bituminous transactions.

The president's order forbids railroad-owned mines from selling to other mines and prohibits dealers from selling coal produced by railroad-owned mines on a basis of profit fixed for other mines.

The bituminous jobbers become effective immediately as did bituminous mine prices made public last night.

The coal administration will be organized as soon as Dr. Garfield has completed his work of recommending to the food administration a government price for the 1917 wheat crop. Dr. Garfield's price fixing committee, it was said today would be ready to announce a price within a few days.

DAYTON TEAM IS WRECKED

Dr. Garfield announced last night he would constitute a licensing system for all coal dealings from the mine to the retailer and that if prices were fixed for retailers the licensing would be extended to cover retail dealing.

Mines All Under Control. Under the law giving the president control over fuel the government can take over and operate any mines failing to observe regulations prescribed. A corporation similar to the wheat corporation of the food administration is suggested as a possibility to prepare the government to handle the situation if the price fixing plan does not work out satisfactorily. The last resort under the law is government requisitioning of the output of all mines and the sale of it to the public. The organization of an operating and purchasing corporation would provide all the machinery necessary to put the commanding provision of the law into operation.

Fixing of retail prices presents a tangled problem. Handling costs are not the same in any two cities and a flat gross margin for the dealer is equitable profits will be hard to fix.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY'S WAR NEWS

The new French assault made less than a week after the beginning of the new offensive was delivered west of the Meuse on a somewhat shorter front than Monday's opening attack, which was on both sides of the river. At the first shock the French, although highly successful, did not obtain all their objectives, and today's attack doubtless was intended to complete the attainment of the Meuse immediately in view. The French are now masters of all the important points on the Verdun front which they held before the beginning of the great German attack last year.

On the British front the bitter fight for possession of Lens was continued during the night. The official British statement announces that the British now holds German trenches immediately northwest of the Green Crassier, to the south of Lens, and that especially heavy losses have been inflicted on the Germans. Portuguese troops, which are holding a sector in northern France, repulsed German raids in the vicinity of La Bassee.

Heavy artillery fighting continues around Ypres, where the British have improved their positions and successfully withstood counter attacks. Heavy fighting continues along the Italian front. Rome announces that more than 20,000 prisoners have been taken as well as sixty guns. The Italians have stormed further Austrian positions and broken up violent counter-attacks.

mer commander-in-chief of the Russian forces, in an interview at Moscow asserts that Germany's strategy aimed at driving the Rumanian army from all its positions in order to compel Rumania to conclude a separate peace or to enter into an alliance with the Teutonic allies. The sent of the Russian government, Gen. Alekxiev continued, must be transferred to Moscow although Petrograd at the present is not really threatened. The situation on the Russian front, he added, though serious, is not hopeless.

Hard Fighting at Lens. British Front in France and Belgium, Aug. 24.—(By the Associated Press.)—Heavy fighting proceeded throughout the night in the southwest edge of Lens for possession of the great slag heap known as the Green Crassier from the crest of which the Canadians broke through late yesterday after having a foot on it all day. The British this morning were continuing the battle from positions which they had he has made arrangements to play an exhibition game with the Lincoln Life team of this city next Sunday afternoon. This will be the last appearance of the Fort Wayne team on the local lot and will therefore close the Central league season in this city.

Manager Johnny Nee, of the Dayton team, telegraphed to Manager Vandagriff that the series of games with his club would have to be cancelled.

MORE MONEY FOR RUSSIA

Secretary Lansing, however, did not alter his decision not to make public any of the recent reports from Russia, as the statement taken that the news received from there is a nature that should be given out by the provisional government. Reports from certain officials, regarded as disquieting, have been received within the last week, but Secretary Lansing's flat expression of confidence is the official intimation that opinion was not general. No reports have been received at the department within the last twenty-four hours.

Secretary Lansing pointed out that the recommendations of the Root commission are being carried out. Regarding the military situation Secretary Lansing professed less concern than has been displayed by many observers.

Mr. Gen. Scott, chief of staff, who was a member of the Root commission, said the capture of Petrograd would be only slight strategical loss to the Russians.

WHITE SOLDIERS HUNT DOWN THE BLACK SLAYERS

Others were assigned to duty in the city. Two soldiers were detailed to each street car in the city and two more were detailed to each street corner in the downtown section. Orders were given to prevent the assembling of citizens in the streets.

City and county officers are co-operating with and following the instructions of the military officers and it is officially stated that the situation is so well under control that unless crowds are permitted to assemble there will be no further trouble.

Among the dead is a negro sergeant, Vida Henry, believed to have been the ringleader in the uprising. Henry's body, riddled with buck shot, was found a quarter of a mile from the camp limits.

Horace Moody, one of the wounded police officers who suffered an amputation of the leg, died this morning at the hospital. E. J. Melneke, another police officer, is the fifteenth victim reported found.

General Hulen's Orders. The following orders and warnings were issued today: All citizens will remain in their homes or usual places of business at once.

No citizens not an officer will appear on the streets with arms. Parties will not assemble on the streets.

Saloons will not be permitted to open.

Places of business where arms and ammunition are sold, will remain closed.

(Signed) HULEN.

Statement by the Mayor.

Acting Mayor Moody, of Houston, issued the following statement:

I call upon every citizen of Houston, white and colored, to preserve peace, to go quietly about their business and to rest assured that there is going to be full inquiry and proper punishment for the crimes which have been committed.

It is time for coolness and for careful avoidance of further trouble.

It is no time for further excitement.

The city is under martial law, a condition which is most regrettable; but it is necessary.

There will be no further trouble if every citizen will carefully see to his own conduct.

Incendiary speech is of no avail.

The situation is well in hand—unless there be studied effort to cause more trouble.

Eighteen of these have surrendered and others are being rounded up by the military patrols as the search for the negro soldiers progresses.

Under military law, it was stated soldiers may be shot for having rioted and fired on their officers.

The rioting, according to best accounts available was caused by ill feeling among the negroes, caused by the treatment accorded some of them by city police. As military police, the negroes patrolled the environs of the city when members of the battalion were released from the camp on pass.

Several minor clashes occurred between the white police and the military, the latest preceding the riot resulting in the arrest of two negro troops for interfering when a white policeman arrested a negro woman.

Captain Mattes, Illinois national guard officer, who was slain by the negroes, was mutilated almost beyond recognition. Feeling among the Illinois troops is running high and rumors from Fort Crockett at Galveston, have been rushed here.

Start of the Trouble.

The trouble is said to have started after some of the negro soldiers had complained of treatment accorded them by members of the Houston police force. About 9 o'clock some eighty negroes, later being joined by others, formed at their camps and began a march toward downtown Houston.

Lights in residences along the way were shot out and a number of persons wounded as they sat inside their homes.

THE MARKETS

LIGHT OFFERINGS IN CORN AIDS ADVANCE

Prices Go Up Notably on Early Rally—Wheat is Dull in Pits.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 24.—Light offerings of corn caused price figures to advance in the early trading. Opening prices ranged from 1½¢ lower to ¾¢ higher, with December at $1.09 to $1.09½, and May at $1.07 to $1.07½. The initial rally carried December to $1.10 and May to $1.07½.

Wheat kept to its recent dull routine with occasional transactions of an evening-up character. The opening was 3¢ higher, September prices being $2.10. Later trades were a decline of 2¢.

The close was strong, September selling 5¢ higher at $2.12, the high point of the day.

Scattered buying of oats in sympathy with corn, gave firmness to that market which opened unchanged to ½¢ higher. The close was strong and near the top, ½¢ to 1½¢ net higher, with December at $1.10½ to $1.10½ and May at $1.07½ to $1.08.

Provisions were moderately lower.

New Hay Maintains High in Corn Market.

Receipts on the local markets were heaviest of the season Friday. On the city scales, a total of thirty-three loads were weighed.

There was a great abundance of new hay, but despite that fact, the price remained at $12 to $14, the mark which was reached Thursday. Seventeen loads were weighed at the city scales. Two loads of old hay came in, selling at $15 per ton.

Corn suffered a slight drop, farmers selling their grain on the city scales for $1.50 per bushel. Three loads were weighed. Oats deviated but slightly from the top and bottom prices of the previous day, selling for 54c to 60c per bushel. Eleven loads were received at the city scales, partly new and partly old grain.

Local millers quote the same price on wheat. New home-grown potatoes were reduced 10c on the bushel on the wholesale market. Retail prices remained at 35c to 40c per bushel.

SHOP AND RAILROAD NEWS

FREIGHT CLERKS GET
INCREASE IN SALARIES

Twenty Local Wabash Employees Hear the Good News Friday Morning.

Notices were received at the Wabash freight office this morning of an increase of 15 per cent. in the wages of the clerks, the same effective the first of September. This means $15 for the chief clerk, $10 for the cashier and $6 to $8 for the other clerks per month additional pay. About twenty men are affected. Last May, when the wages of the mechanics at the shops were raised, it was predicted that the freight clerks would receive an advance also. While it is not announced here, it is understood that the increase of wages in this class of work is general over the Wabash system.

VISITING OLD FRIENDS.

A caller at the Pennsylvania master mechanic's office and the shops today was H. Tegtmeyer, of Chicago, who was warmly greeted by the men who were his associates a few years ago. Mr. Tegtmeyer is a foreman of one of the departments of the St. Paul roundhouse at Chicago. His brother, Ernest Tegtmeyer, former foreman of the Pennsylvania erecting shop, but now holding an important position with the Standard Oil company at Chicago, is expected here today or tomorrow morning.

HAD LEG BROKEN.

Brakeman M. M. Long was brought from Knox last night and taken to St. Joseph hospital with a fractured leg. Mr. Long met with the accident while making a trip with Conductor W. C. Bell by falling from a car at Knox. He is a young married man, having been employed on the road only about a year.

COAL IS GIVEN

THE PREFERENCE

Has Right-of-Way Over All Other Classes of Freight on All Roads.

A drastic order issued by all railroads in compliance with instructions from the government gives the movement of "lake" coal preference over all other kinds of freight. It appears there is a shortage at all the docks and other points of consumption in the north and northwest sections and the purpose of the drastic order governing the movement of the coal from the mines to the lakes is to get a big supply on hand at the chief points of consumption before the close of navigation. This order, if it is enforced a considerable length of time, will very materially affect the traffic and possibly demoralize business of certain kinds for awhile. The order to rush coal shipments becomes effective at once.

Five power department of the B. & O. road, is in the city for a short visit with his uncle, H. G. Granger, of Berry street.

G. F. Emrick, Pennsylvania motive power inspector, who had been at Rome City this or four weeks, returned home last night and this morning resumed his duties at the motive power office.

B. E. Beman, third track switch tender at Clinton street, on the Pennsylvania, has entered upon a two weeks' vacation, which will be spent at Richmond, Va., Norfolk, Fortress Meade, Baltimore, Washington, Philadelphia and other eastern points.

Business connected with the draft is occupying the attention of E. W. Bailey and H. F. Adair, of the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, today, and they did not report for work. Private business is also attracting attention from George McCoy, of the same shop.

The B. & O. has resorted to calling retired mechanics and road men into service when they are able to work to help out during the scarcity of men. This is in accordance with the provisions of the rules of the retirement system.

It is rumored here that the federation of the Wabash system, which embraces the five crafts employed at the shops, is preparing to present a petition to the management for a wage of 50 cents an hour, or $4 for an eight-hour day. There is no threat of strike, it is alleged, to force this wage scale.

"Lots of freight trains moving, but many of the cars are empties," is the situation on the Pennsylvania today, according to one of the men connected with the operating department. "Tomorrow the conditions as they refer to the loaded cars may be reversed," added the man. "The cars are being rushed to points where they are to be loaded and they will be coming back loaded in a day or two."

MAXWELL SUCCEEDS
H. T. SYMPSON

Pennsylvania Road Foreman of Engines Heads Y. M. C. A. Committee.

E. E. Griest, president of the Fort Wayne Y. M. C. A., announces that O. E. Maxwell, road foreman of engines, western division of the Pennsylvania lines west, has accepted the chairmanship of the committee of management of the railroad department.

O. E. MAXWELL.

This position has been vacant for some weeks owing to the resignation of H. T. Symson, who removed to Cleveland after being promoted to another position with the Pennsylvania lines on that division.

Mr. Maxwell at the same time succeeded Mr. John H. Hanna as road foreman of engines. Mr. Maxwell has been in the employ of the Pennsylvania company for twenty years, and is very well known and popular among Fort Wayne railroad men. He has been thoroughly interested in Y. M. C. A. work for many years, and will take hold of the responsibilities connected with this new position with earnestness and enthusiasm.

Mr. Griest also announces that Walter D. Erickson, freight conductor on the Nickel Plate, has accepted membership on the railroad department committee of management, and with Mr. Raymond E. Helsel will represent the employees of that road on the committee of management. This committee will have its next regular meeting on Tuesday evening, Sept. 11, at which time they will take up a number of very important plans effecting the future of this department of the Y. M. C. A.

The state executive committee of the Y. M. C. A., as a part of its campaign to serve "soldiers of the soil," as well as soldiers on the firing line, has added a new department. This is a department of county work, whereby Y. M. C. A.'s will be organized as rapidly as possible in each county of the state under the direction of Mr. R. L. Donnan, state county-work secretary. Mr. Donnan comes to this work from a successful experience in Lake county, Ohio. Under his direction county organizations will be formed and county secretaries secured to organize boys and young men in all towns and villages of the county to carry on athletic, social, educational and religious activities. This will mean great things for the boys of the farms and villages and small towns all over the state.

TALKS TO MOTHERS ABOUT SONS.

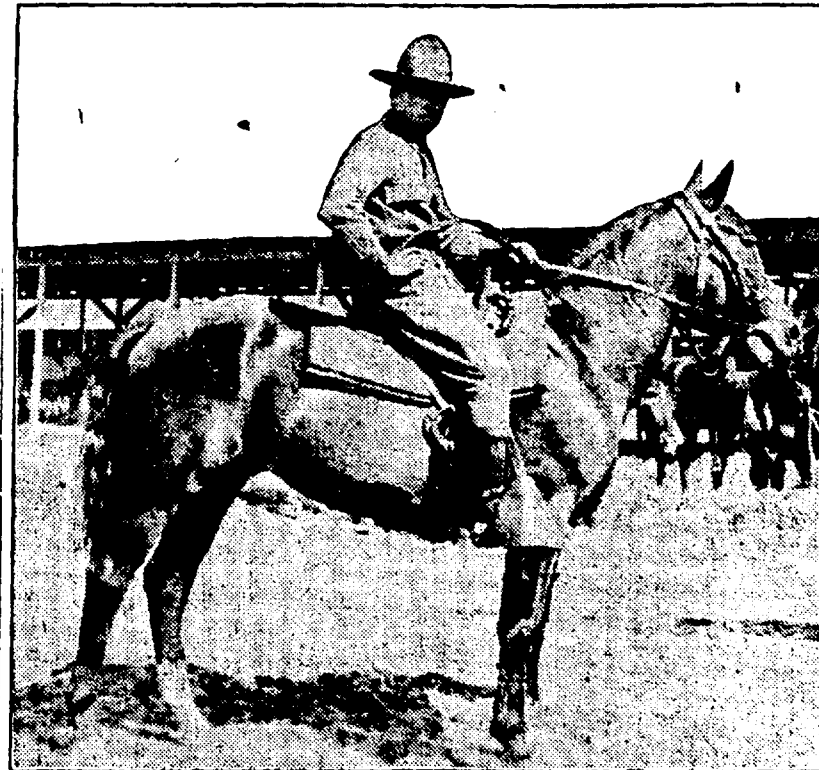

Mothers! Lend me your ears! Use the rod for a fishing pole. I've come to praise little Roscoe, not to wallop him. That's all you think young fellows are for, licking, scolding and running errands. I am here tonight to defend kids and show you your errors. I was a kid myself once and can prove it. What do you mothers know about young fellows? None of you was ever a little boy. You favor and pet little girls but boys are all scallwags. That's where you are wrong. How about it, lads? Aye and then some! It seems boys were invented so mothers would have someone to scold while pa was away during the day, so's they wouldn't get out of practice. Eh, wot kids? You said it!

Don't forget mothers, some day maybe little Hank may be president, then won't you wish you had been nice to him. Say kids, all of you strive to be president when you grow up and then your ma will feel sorry. Don't strive to be congressmen or we'll all be sorry.

(Another talk tomorrow.)

News of Our Neighbors

SAYS WAR PRESAGES END OF THE WORLD

Speaker at Adventist Camp
at Wabash Recalls Predictions of Long Ago.

Wabash, Ind., Aug. 24.—The Seventh Day Adventists of Indiana, at their annual camp meeting here, continue to discuss the fulfillment of biblical prophecies from their viewpoint. L. H. Christian, of Chicago, president of the Lake Union conference, said: "There is more prophecy fulfilled in a month now than there was in fifty years some centuries ago. We need to study the prophecies of the Bible that relate to our time. Never have we faced such momentous issues as we face now. God has spoken of our time and of the great events that are now taking place. The prophecies are being fulfilled before our very eyes."

"The prophet Jeremiah predicted the present war as one of the last great events to occur before the second coming of Christ. He says, 'I am pained at my weary heart; my heart maketh a noise in me; I can not hold my peace, because thou hast heard, O my soul, the sound of the trumpet, the alarm of war.' See Jer. iv, 19-26. According to the bible the whole world will be plunged into war and into a great final trouble."

Predicted a Tempest.
At this point Mr. Christian read a statement made by Mrs. E. G. White, twenty-seven years ago, in an appeal to the youth to prepare for that which was before them, and published in the official organ of the denomination, the Review and Herald, of February 17, 1890. The appeal follows:
"The tempest is coming and we must get ready for its fury, by having repentance toward God, and faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ. The Lord will come to shake terribly the earth. We shall see troubles on all sides. Thousands of ships will be hurled into the depths of the sea. Navies will go down, and we shall see human lives sacrificed by the millions. Fires will break out unexpectedly, and no human effort will be able to quench them. The palaces of earth will be swept away in the fury of the flames. Disasters by rail will become more frequent; collision, confusion and death without a moment's warning will occur on the great lines of travel. The end is near; probation is closing. O let us seek God while He may be found, and call upon Him while He is near."

Another Prediction.

Mr. Christian read another statement published by Mrs. White a number of years ago. It follows: "More and more, as the days go by, it is becoming apparent that God's judgments are in the world. In fire and flood, and earthquakes, He is warning the inhabitants of this earth of His near approach. The time is nearing when the great crisis in the history of the world will have come, when every movement in the government of God will be watched with intense interest, and inexpressible apprehension. In quick succession the judgments of God will follow one another—fire and flood and earthquake, with war and bloodshed."

"These predictions are being fulfilled in our day," said Elder Christian. "Already 2,000 ships have gone down in the war, millions have gone down in death, and the end is not yet."

OLD PAPERS UNEARTHED.

Curiosities Come to Light in Kendallville Hardware Store.
Kendallville, Ind., Aug. 24.—O. W. Shew, of the Stinson hardware store, while unpacking some boxes, came across a package of old papers, used in the packing, some of which rank in the curiosity class. Copies of the Boston Weekly Journal, dated February, 1847, are old enough and unusual enough to merit notice.
These papers are eight-column quarto and are entirely without sign of a double-deck head. Indeed, headlining must have been an unknown art at that time, since the most of the news stories have no introductory headlines at all. The print is apparently all handset and the pages are well-nigh free from advertising.

The chief news features are stories, half news and half editorial comment upon the Mexican war and the doings in congress. Little attention was given to local happenings. A curious feature, as it would be viewed today, is a prose translation of Homer's Odyssey, run as a serial.

It may be added that the Boston Journal, which was started in 1833, is still in existence, being now a daily with a circulation of perhaps 75,000 papers.

WILL SOON GO TO EUROPE.

Mayor and Mrs. Mock, of Bluffton, Planning Trip.

Bluffton, Ind., Aug. 24.—Mayor John Mock and wife left last evening for a trip to Washington, D. C., and Mayor Mock said that they expected to be gone until Tuesday. Their trip to the national capital has to do with their preparations to leave soon for a trip to Europe, for a visit to England and France and other allied countries, during which they also will look after matters pertaining to war hospitals which Mrs. Mock was instrumental in helping establish and maintain in London and Paris.

The record of Mrs. Mock's activities in the hospital work will mean that the United States authorities as well as the governments of the allies will grant them board liberties in traveling to various points in the countries at war. The trip to Washington also will include discussion of plans to make the handsome Mock home here a United States war hospital.

WILL NOT RESUME WORK.

Winona College of Agriculture to Remain Closed.

Warsaw, Ind., Aug. 24.—The Winona College of Agriculture will not open its doors this year. Definite announcement of this was made by Dr. J. C. Breckenridge, president of the agricultural school.

The closing of the school results from a misunderstanding regarding the management of the school—an effort to federate it with Winona college having failed to bring satisfactory results. The Winona College of Agriculture has been in operation for eight or ten years, and had reached the point where it was recognized as one of the standard agricultural schools of the country.

EXAMINING FOR THE ARMY.

Kendallville, Ind., Aug. 24.—Noble county's conscription board is busy at Albion, examining eighty more men coming under the selective draft, who will be subject to military service and may be called upon to fill a portion of the quota of forty-three men required of Noble county in the first draft. The eighty men, in other words, will be held in reserve, but from present indications will not be called upon for service at once. Today the board is re-examining married young men who were exempted on the grounds of a dependent wife and have no dependent children. It is possible that some provision will be made whereby all the sons of one family will not be taken, according to announcement by Provost Marshal Crowder. It is understood that a new definition of the status of married men is to be worked out.

HAS HOT PISTOL FIGHT.

Elkhart, Ind., Aug. 24.—Sergeant Walter Damer, of the Elkhart police, fought a revolver battle with five men believed to be automobile thieves, and captured three of them. The men told the police the car they were driving, which had an Ohio license number, had been stolen in Chicago by the two men who escaped. The men registered as Paul Fording, of Omaha, and William Morley and Samuel McCarty, of Detroit.

Sergeant Damer was asleep at his home when a woman, who had seen the five men with the automobile, called him. The officer, still in sleeping apparel, attempted to arrest the men, who opened fire. After an exchange of shots, three surrendered and were loaded into a grocer's wagon and taken to jail.

Her Dog Trained to Work of Red Cross

Mrs. Henry I. Haas

Mrs. Henry Haas has passed her examinations as a Red Cross nurse and ambulance driver and is ready to sail from New York to do her share for the allies. But when she enlists it will be a double enlistment, for her dog, Tristan, has also been thoroughly trained and will go with her. Though Tristan is a German police dog, Mrs. Haas expects him to drag more wounded allies to her ambulance than several ambulance assistants could recover from the battlefield.

and best known citizens of Kosciusko county, died at his home Thursday of neuralgia of the heart. He was up town and seemingly feeling as well as usual Wednesday evening. Mr. Rippey, who was 72 years of age last March, was one of the most widely known and respected men of the county. He had lived in Plain township all his life and his sudden death leaves to mourn his demise a host of friends and a wife, three children—Charles E. Rippey, Warren, Ind.; David S. Rippey, Milford, Ind.; and L. Kemper, Laporte. The deceased was a member of the town board of Leesburg, and had always been associated with the community problems of Plain township.

DEKALB DRAFT BOARD ASSAILED

Waterloo, Ind., Aug. 24.—There have been some ugly charges made against the local draft board at Auburn, charging them with allowing politics to enter the deliberations of the board and that certain men have been exempted owing to their politics and that the favoritism has been shown to either democrats or republicans who were expected to give their influence to certain members of the board in the future. The charges have been made by parties of all political faiths, and as near as can be ascertained there is no foundation for the charges. It appears that the local draft board has exempted all men who made claim for exemption on the ground of having dependent wives or dependent wives and children.

RESCUES TWO FROM WATER.

Wabash, Ind., Aug. 24.—Maurice Goodwin, of Indianapolis, who is here attending the state meeting of the Seventh Day Adventists, saved Helen Goodwin, age eleven, and boy, whose name was not learned, from drowning in the Wabash river here yesterday. Goodwin was watching a number of boys in bathing when one of them sank. The lad's companion hurried to the shore while Goodwin pulled off his coat and rescued him after he had gone down the second time. Two hours later Goodwin was standing on the river bank watching some men employed on the construction of a bridge. It was then that the little girl, accompanied by a number of playmates, waded into the stream and was soon beyond her depth.

the history of northeastern Indiana will be staged in Kendallville next Saturday afternoon and evening, and will be in the nature of a community festival in honor of Company D. The frolic will start promptly at 12 o'clock noon and will continue until midnight. ## WOMEN NEED NOT FEAR TO SIGN PLEDGE CARDS

Government Will Not Take

(By the State Council of Defense Publicity Committee, George Ade, Chairman.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 24.—Women of Indiana are not being asked to sign the canning and Hoover food conservation cards in order that a federal agent, at some later date, may exact from them, without payment, the fruits and vegetables they have preserved for the approaching winter. No one will be called upon to furnish the United States government with supplies, whether it be in food for the soldiers or bullets for the guns, without being paid a fair and reasonable price.

The signing of the canning cards, as has been oft repeated, is solely for the purpose of assisting in the compilation of a survey of the available foodstuff in the country, so that when the emergency exists the national food administrator will have an idea where the food is, and what is its relative value.

The Hoover cards are intended altogether to identify the patriotic housewife with an educational movement that has for its object the conservation of food, the elimination of waste and the substitution of something equally nourishing for some of the meat and the wheat the American people must now share with their allies, if the war against Germany is to be won.

The service cards are for use by the census department of the government, which if called upon expects to be able to point out to the authorities where available women may be found who are capable and willing to substitute for the man-power withdrawn from business and the industries.

No woman will be asked to give up any of the food she has preserved for the use of the federal government, except that she offers same for sale and receives a fair price in return. Absolutely none of it will be taken from her forcibly. It is only those who attempt to influence the market by hoarding, who will feel the weight of Uncle Sam's mailed fist.

No woman will be forced into any sort of involuntary service, even though she may have all the essential qualifications for replacing a man. She will be given the opportunity to volunteer to do the work, if the government finds occasion to call on women, or needs them, but she retains her personal and individual rights to serve or not, as she chooses.

Friends of the kaiser are seeking to interfere with the work of enrolling the women of the state. The state council of defense vouches for the truth as set forth above. Women who understand are asked to assist in removing any doubt that may linger in the minds of those who have been deluded by traitors.

THE EVENING SENTINEL FILLS WOMEN'S NEEDS

Just now, in addition to the many reasons prevailing in ordinary times, there are numerous special reasons why the women who buy food and other supplies for the family should not let a day pass without a careful reading of every page of the Evening Sentinel.

Skip nothing. Read the news columns, editorials, selected women's features, the market page, store news of Fort Wayne merchants, want-ads—everything—as all hold money-saving suggestions.

TELLS WHAT THE ROW IS ALL ABOUT

Strife Centers About the City of Butte, and Its Triangular Fight.

(By BENJAMIN E. LING.)

(Staff Special.)

Butte, Mont., Aug. 19.—(By Mail.)—I find centered in this mining town nearly all the industrial strife that for several months has crippled the great copper camps of Montana, Idaho, Utah, New Mexico and Arizona, and that had led to lynchings of I. W. W. leaders, deportations of I. W. W. members, and charges that this "revolutionary" labor organization is financed by German gold.

From Butte, "Wobbly" orators and agitators have penetrated the copper regions of the west, stirring up strikes. In Butte the I. W. W.'s have waged their fight to break up the old Western Federation of Miners, now known as the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

In their fight against the mine owners every organization affiliated with the I. W. W.'s have sought to with the American Federation of Labor. This has become a three-cornered fight between the A. F. of L. unions, the "Wobblies" and the mining magnates.

Result—At the moment of the government's large demand for copper, the output has been seriously curtailed by strikes.

An indication of the intensity of feeling was evidenced here in the lynching of Frank Little, a fortnight ago, I. W. W. leader.

The I. W. W. leaders called out 12,000 miners here, though less than one-third of them were affiliated with miners' organizations. About 5,000 strikers have left to take jobs in mining camps elsewhere or to work in harvest fields.

As is the I. W. W. custom, no demands were made before the men walked out. Later the leaders presented their demands and organized what is now called the Metal Mine Workers' union. Officials of this organization strenuously deny it is an I. W. W. group, but all the "Wobblies" belong to this union and are active in its leadership.

The demands of the miners are: Abolition of the rustling card, establishment of a flat $6 a day wage, elimination of the sliding scale, better working conditions.

The rustling card is the principal contention. Leaders say this merely is a variation of the blacklist.

A rustling card is given a miner when his application for a job has been acted upon favorably. To get this card he must tell where he has worked during the previous two years, and other facts about himself, giving reasons for being out of a job.

The rustling card mine disaster in which 170 men lost their lives, June 8, added to unrest among the miners.

The living cost in Butte, always high, has risen over 50 per cent in the last year. Wages of miners have gone up 18 per cent.

Since the strike was called, the big mining companies, notably the Anaconda and the Great Butte, have offered the men another increase of 25 and 50 cents a day.

Their offer is based on a sliding scale depending upon the market price of copper. When copper is selling for between 15 and 17 cents a pound, the miners would get a minimum wage of $4 a day, while when it is selling for 23 cents a pound the miners would get $4.75 a day and so on up to $6 a day.

Miners here say that merchants have raised their prices whenever the miners got a wage increase.

W. H. Rogers, federal mediator, trying to settle the strike, advised I. W. W. members to join the A. F. of L. union and go back to work.

This aroused the I. W. W.'s to a bitter attack on Rogers and on President Wilson.

They insist they want the government to take over the mines. They say if this is done, copper can be sold for less than 16 cents a pound and the miners can get $8 a day for six hours' work.

The mine operators won't deal with the I. W. W.'s, who refuse to sign any agreements for any length of time.

There's much talk about German gold being given I. W. W. leaders to of L. methods, beat Haywood, "direct action" apostle. Haywood's men in the I. W. W. camp here are now fighting the more conservative Meyer men.

The miners grew discontented when they saw the price of copper rise from 13 cents a pound to over 30 cents and understood the millions of profits this meant to the mine owners, while they—the workers—were having a struggle to live with the scanty increases in pay compared with the big raise in the cost of living.

There has been much anti-war agitation in Butte. Blame for it has been placed at the doors of I. W. W. agitators, Finns, Austrians and Sinn Fein Irish. Federal officials, preparing to cope with this situation now, think they can remedy it.

A MILLION BED BUGS. Just think, a barrel of old-fashioned bug killer, 25c package of the new golden chemical P. D. Q. CUT THIS OUT. This new chemical can be had at any first-class drug store. A 25c package makes a quart of P. D. Q., and will go farther than a barrel of old-fashioned bug killer. ## WORLD'S GREATEST CO-OPERATIVE EFFORT

How California Citrus Fruit Growers Manage Their Marketing.

BY JACK JUNGMEYER.

Staff Special.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 24.—How 8,000 California citrus fruit growers are today conducting the world's largest co-operative enterprise is an achievement that ever producer and consumer in the United States might profitably study.

It is the story of how the California Fruit Growers' exchange kicked the gouging manipulator out of a great industry—the story of an harassed competitive worm that turned.

And it was some turn! Where, not many years ago, rapacious middlemen, heavy mortgages and starvation returns made orange ranching here a nightmare, the status of the producer is today one of enviable prosperity.

Aggregate returns to the growers in the association this year promise to exceed those of 1916 when 28,823 car loads of lemons and oranges were collectively marketed with a shipping point value of $27,703,000 and a delivered value of $38,500,000.

In the manipulator's heyday these men were victimized to a point where they were often given but 10 cents per box for oranges costing 50 cents to produce.

The change has been brought about without increased cost to the consumer. Collectively selling turned the trick. It represents the tremendous triumph of team work—an industrial lesson America must quickly learn to be 100 per cent. effective in the world war.

The California orange growers, beginning with the old shibboleths of free competition and the devil-take-the-hindmost, soon found that in union lay not alone strength, but actual existence as a producer.

What the middlemen did to him in the beginning was plenty plus!

Gropingly, the orange men began to organize. Disrupted by half-way measures, a second and tighter association was perfected. This today is the California Fruit Growers' exchange, on a purely co-operative basis.

United under 145 local bodies, the 8,000 citrus fruit growers maintain 17 sub-exchanges, representing 67 per cent. of this industry in the state.

Each member is under contract to his local association to deliver to it all the fruit he produces. He brings his lemons and oranges, grown to standard, to the local packing plant. There they are mechanically graded, washed, cleaned and packed by the prescribed, expert exchange methods.

All the fruit is put together by grades. Each grower gets a certificate showing the exact amount of each grade he has furnished. When the returns come back, often within 24 hours of sale, he shares proportionately in the proceeds.

Policies and business matters are determined by a board composed of one delegate from each local association.

Aside from his prosperity, the effect upon the grower has been one of benefit to the consuming public. His care now is to produce good and increasingly better fruit.

He knows that his product stands squarely on its merits now and will bring him just what the actual market demand warrants.

There is no gouging. No one else is getting the benefit of his labor. He—collectively—is the seller as well as producer.

The marketing field is divided into six territories covering the United States and Canada, each with a center where marketing conditions and needs can be instantly learned and met. The exchange has 77 main selling agencies, supplying 2,500 jobbers in the 700 sub-districts, to which it ships in car load lots. The fruit is then handled by 300,000 retailers.

Driven to unite in self-defense, the fruit growers have today probably the best organized, most smoothly efficient teamwork institution in the United States. They used their brains.

Pains in the Stomach and Bowels. Owing to the great distress which this disease occasions, every family should keep at hand the proper medicine for its relief. Mrs. L. E. AGED 100; STILL WORKS HARD.

Grand Island, Neb., Aug. 24.—"I do more work than any two men in the county," declared "Uncle Pete" Starr, of Dunning, Blaine county, Nebraska's only centenarian, in a recent interview. Born in Genesee county, New York, April 8, 1818, Mr. Starr has just been chosen assessor for Dunning precinct for 1918, a position whose duties he has performed for eight years. He was assessor of Blaine county the preceding four years. In his early life, Mr. Starr taught school in New York and Indiana. He never has worn spectacles and makes the statement that he has used tobacco and whisky all his life.

Bilious Attacks.

You wonder what upset your stomach. Never felt better in your life yesterday—now you have a bad bilious attack. Cure that first, then look for the cause. Keep quiet, abstain from food for one day, take three of Chamberlain's Tablets. Drink plenty of water. This will clean the fermenting food and bile out of your stomach, tone up your liver and move your bowels. You will soon be all right again. If you have these bilious attacks at irregular intervals, abstain from coffee and red meats and you may avoid them.—Advertisement.

Alexander, aged 62 years, one of the most prominent farmers in Whitley county, and owner of over 400 acres of land, died Thursday forenoon at 11:30 o'clock at his home in Washington township, after an illness dating back to last May, he believed to have been cancer, complicated by diabetes of long standing. He was born in the township in which he died to the late Sylvester and Vestha Alexander, and is the last of the family. He was wedded in 1876 to Miss Lydia Schaefer, who survives, as do the following children: Gilbert, George and Leon, of Washington township, and Grace and Wilbur at home. He joined the U. ## FRENCH COMPLETE THE RESULT AT VERDUN

BERLIN ANNOUNCES THAT FAMOUS HILL 304 HAS BEEN LOST

Important Stronghold Long Held by Crown Prince Against French Stormed and Taken.

OTHER IMPORTANT POINTS CAPTURED

Paris, Aug. 24.—The French made an attack this morning on the left bank of the Meuse, between Avocourt wood and Deadman hill. The war office announces the capture of hill 304, Camard wood and the fortified works between Hancourt wood and Bethincourt.

The French gained more than their objectives, advancing to an average depth of two kilometers (1 1/4 miles.)

HARD FIGHTING AT LENS.

London, Aug. 24.—Heavy fighting was kept up throughout the night south of Lens, the war office announces. The British now hold German trenches immediately northwest of the bitterly disputed Green Grassier.

BERLIN ADMITS LOSS.

Berlin, Aug. 23.—The evacuation by the Germans of hill 304, the famous stronghold on the Verdun front, is announced by the war office. It is said a weak garrison was left there.

On the British front, the statement says, the Germans today wrested from their opponents the gains recently made by their south of the Ypres Menin road.

NO FIGHTING AT RIGA.

Petrograd, Aug. 24.—The Russian official statement issued today makes no mention of fighting in the Riga region, saying that on the Russian front there were only fusillades and scouting operations. On the Rumanian front the Austro-Germans last night attacked the Russian-Rumanian positions near the village of Krendshani and after occupying part of the trenches of the defenders, were ejected by counter attacks.

Summary of the Day's War News

In a brilliant attack this morning on the Verdun front the French carried hill 304, one of the most bitterly disputed positions of the war in the struggle for which thousands of men have lost their lives. The French advanced to an average depth of 1 1/4 miles over the sector between Avocourt wood and Dead Man hill. Paris announces officially, and in addition to hill 304 stormed the fortified works between Hancourt and Bethincourt. The official German report from the western front, while not definitely admitting the loss of hill 304, says it was evacuated Tuesday night, only a weak garrison being left there.

BRITAIN MUST BE CRUSHED

So the Kaiser Tells His Troops on Visit to Flanders Front.

HARD JOB, BUT IT MUST BE FINISHED

God Still With Them, and Will Help Humble the Guilty British.

Copenhagen, Aug. 24.—England the arch enemy of Germany, must be beaten down at whatever cost, Emperor William told his troops, while on a visit to the Flanders front on Wednesday.

An official statement issued in Berlin says the emperor addressed deputations from all detachments which have had a share in meeting the British attacks. He said he felt impelled to express his thanks and his full recognition of the heroic gallantry shown by troops from all parts of Germany in the hard fighting of the last week.

The emperor referred to the marked contrast between the German and Anglo-French points of view and continued: "It is in God's hands when in His wisdom He will give us victory. He has taught our army a hard lesson and now we are going to pass the examination. With the old German confidence in God we shall show what

HEAVY SLUMP IN HOGS ON MARKET IN INDIANAPOLIS

Indianapolis, Aug. 24.—Hog prices broke $1.50 a hundred pounds at the opening of the Indianapolis market today, recording the greatest decline in the same length of time known here. Local commission men say they do not remember so great a break any place else. Sales in the local yards were at $15.50 to $17.50, compared with $20.00 on Tuesday. Fresh receipts at the local yards were 7,500, with holdovers from Thursday's market numbering 7,500. Dealers said they could not account for the great slump except that the price had gone above what the buyer would pay because of lack of demand for pork.

IT PROFITS UNCLE SAM

Government Makes $2,500 a Day on Tardiness in Paying Certificates.

BANKERS DELAY IN CASHING ISSUES

Profit is Difference Between Bond Rates and Loan Rates.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—The government is making a clear profit of nearly $2,500 a day on the procrastination of bankers and others in cashing money due them for short time certificates of indebtedness, issued months ago and now past maturity.

More than a month has passed since the last of these certificates matured and at present approximately $25,000,000 of the issue is still outstanding. At 3 1/2 per cent interest the rate on the liberty bond loan and the rate paid by foreign governments for money loaned them by the treasury the amount reported by outstanding certificates would yield approximately $2,500 a day.

The entire proceeds of the liberty loan so far as paid in (there yet remains one installment to be paid), has been spent for domestic needs or loaned to America's allies and the treasury is now meeting demands upon it largely with the proceeds of the first issue of certificates, $300,000,000, in anticipation of the second liberty bond issue.

Some of the $25,000,000 outstanding is undoubtedly deposited as collateral for government deposits, some has not been turned in apparently because the holders are careless and some certificates may have been lost but all have ceased to bear interest.

REGULARS SENT TO HOUSTON TO CONTROL RIOTS

Galveston, Tex., Aug. 24.—Eight special intervention cars left here early today with United States troops for Houston to assist in the control of the situation resulting from last night's disorders. One light field piece with a supply of ammunition was taken along. The troops are in command of Maj. Marcus G. Spinks. A detachment of quartermaster troops also left for Houston.

COMPLETING FUEL CONTROL

Federalization of Coal Industry Will Soon be Finished.

FIXING THE RETAIL PRICES FINAL STEP

President Names Rates at Mine and Appoints Garfield Administrator.

Washington, Aug. 24.—Completion of the administration's program for federalization of the coal industry was in sight today when officials turned their attention to the fixing of retail prices and the regulation of distribution.

Dr. Harry A. Garfield, appointed to head the coal administration, will take active charge of the work as soon as he finishes his duties with the committee fixing prices on wheat.

The president's action in establishing prices on anthracite for operators and jobbers and limiting the profits to be made by bituminous wholesalers is considered the most important step yet taken towards bringing the industry under government supervision.

Little Price Change.

The new anthracite prices, effective Sept. 1, vary but slightly from the rates now charged at the mines under a voluntary agreement made with the federal trade commission operators. Retail costs probably will drop as a

FORT BENJAMIN HARRISON WILL BE A HOSPITAL

Indianapolis, Aug. 24.—Information from what is believed by Indianapolis business men to be reliable sources, has been received to the effect that the war department is considering a plan to abandon Fort Benjamin Harrison as a post and training camp for the purpose of converting it into a large hospital station for wounded soldiers brought back from Europe. Indianapolis business interests have protested to Indiana senators, and ask them to investigate the reports.

WHITE SOLDIERS HUNT DOWN THE BLACK SLAYERS

MARSHAL LAW NOW RULES TEXAS CITY

Houston, Texas, Aug. 24.—More than one hundred negro soldiers of the two companies of the Twenty-fourth infantry which engaged in a riot last night and caused the death of fifteen and the wounding of more than a score of persons, are being sought today by strong patrols of regulars and Illinois National guardsmen under the command of General John A. Hulen, governor of the city, which is now under martial law.

Three companies of coast artillery regulars from Fort Crockett reinforced the 1,000 or more Illinois guardsmen today and order, which was restored early this morning, is being maintained. Roll call this morning by Major Snow, in command of the battalion of negroes, developed 125 men were absent.

UNDER MARTIAL LAW.

Houston, Texas, Aug. 24.—As the result of the riot of negro soldiers of the 24th U. S. infantry last night the entire city of Houston and its environs are under martial law today. Gen. John A. Hulen is in command as provost marshal.

A revised list shows fifteen dead. Orders have been given to soldiers to watch all incoming trains and not to permit armed men to enter the city.

A report shortly after midnight said that armed men were likely to flock into Houston from some of the adjoining counties. It was decided that this should not be permitted.

MORE MONEY FOR RUSSIA

Another One Hundred Million Loan is Made to the Slav Allies.

WASHINGTON HAS MUCH CONFIDENCE

Denial Made That Somber Facts from Russia Are Kept Secret.

Washington, Aug. 24.—Another credit of $100,000,000 to Russia was made today by the American government.

This brings the total of credits extended so far to the Russian government to $275,000,000. Detailed information as to the needs of all allied nations in American markets is being controlled by Secretary McAdoo in planning the next issue of liberty bonds.

Complete confidence in the new Russian government was expressed today by the state department. Secretary Lansing denied that dispatch from Russia caused this government to take a pessimistic view of the situation, declaring instead of this prevailing a feeling of optimism quite the contrary had been created by official dispatches received. "I regard the government of Russia as stronger today than it has been for months," he said. "I mean in general," he added, "both from political and military points of view. This opinion is based upon reports more or less confidential than we have been getting."

NEGRO TROOPS WILL STAY FOR INVESTIGATION

Washington, Aug. 24.—Senator Sheppard, of Texas, after a conference with Secretary Baker today, announced that the negro troops concerned in the rioting at Houston would be withdrawn from Texas immediately. Later Secretary Baker, after reading first official reports, announced that he would take no action of any kind until the affair had been investigated fully. Secretary Baker also said that the Houston affair did not affect the policy of training negro troops in the south. It is within the jurisdiction of the commander of the southern department to move the troops to any other point in his territory without orders from Washington.

MANY TESTAMENTS

GO WITH SOLDIERS

Hundreds of Holy Books
Wayne During Year.

Nearly every Fort Wayne soldier boy has carried a bible or testament with him when he marched away from the care of mother to the solemn training for the battle front. Hundreds of testaments have gone from the local book stores during the past few months. Each of the six leading book shops of the city state that they face a dearth of bibles and testaments because of the constant call.

"I want a soldier's testament," is the usual request when mother or sister enters a book store. In many cases the new recruit accompanies the woman.

"I want the smallest bible you have," is generally the request from the embryo soldier, who has already had a touch of the value of light equipment.

"Nobody will know how many tears are shed by the mothers and other dear ones as they are engaged in picking out the holy books," said a clerk in one of the downtown book shops, Friday morning. "There is something in the sober meaning of it all which touches the hearts deeply."

The stock of small testaments is practically depleted in downtown book stores. Most of the books purchased have been of the size and quality which sell from thirty-five cents to a dollar.

The new khaki clad testament is much in demand. Shipments of the latest thing in garbing testaments for soldiers' use have only begun to arrive in the city within the past few weeks. Upon the cover of the book is stamped an American flag in the bright tint of gold. The khaki testaments are in various sizes from three by two inches in dimensions to six inches square. Some of them have covers which snap shut to keep out all dampness.

Word from the outside is to the effect that the call for thousands of testaments is as general as the call for democracy's defenders. In every city where bibles are printed the presses are running day and night. It is impossible to get a full shipment of bibles, explains a Fort Wayne dealer. The bibles will come in allotments of about a dozen at a time. They are being furnished as rapidly and as generally as possible.

It is nearly always the women folks who make the purchase of the testaments, say book dealers. It seems that after the family conference, dad decides to get the wrist watch and mother buys the bible.

If the belief be true, which has grown with the passing years, that Cromwell's men followed him to victory after victory because they carried a testament next to their heart and a hymn on their lips, the young men of this land are being prepared for a series of glowing victories for trusting mothers have fitted them up in the fashion of the sturdy "Round Heads" who marched with "Old Ironsides"—that "Servant of the Lord."

SOLDIERS OF FRANCE

SLEEP UNDERGROUND

Dozen of Divisions Stowed
rooms All Snug.

French Front, July 30.—(Correspondence.)—Dozens of divisions of the French army now sleep underground in comparative comfort, even in the front lines when the Germans are hurling tens of thousands of shells on the ground above them, thanks to the work of the companies of excavators formed since the beginning of the war. The men chosen to construct these shelters, which have preserved so many thousands of lives, are soldiers whose age varies between 45 and 50 and who would have been unfit to take part in the active operations of modern battles, where quickness of movement and litheness of limb are absolute necessities. No matter what the nature of the soil, whether hard rock, quicksand, chalk or marshy land, these veterans have overcome all the difficulties and have succeeded in constructing formidable bomb-proof shelters all along the line of the front from the North Sea to the Swiss frontier until at the present moment any fighting unit arriving at almost any part of the line finds a habitable dug-out awaiting it.

Subterranean Cities.

The correspondent of the Associated Press has seen and been inside dozens of these subterranean cities—for such they may be termed—at many places, and, even where all the natural conditions are difficult, has found the shelters commodious, well drained and well ventilated. In some cases a battalion finds accommodation in a single shelter, and each man lodged in it is provided with a simple bed consisting of a wire netting foundation supported by wooden uprights. On this the soldier lays his regulation bundle of straw and, covering himself with his army blanket and great coat, can sleep with freedom from anxiety as to any bombardment in progress outside. The shelters are provided generally with electric light or acetylene lamps, sanitary conveniences, and, in some cases, with complete shower baths.

First aid posts and dressing stations with all modern surgical appliances are also at hand, so that the surgeon attached to the unit may attend immediately to any wounded man brought in from the near-by battle-field.

Not One Destroyed.

So well are the shelters protected from the view of the enemy that, although in many instances the underground lodging covers an area of 3,000 square yards, not once in the course of the past year has one of them been destroyed by the enemy's fire. They have many exits, the plan being to provide one for each section or quarter company, so that in case one exit should be hit and blocked, the men inside may escape through another opening.

At the beginning of the war the soldiers actually in the fighting line made their own shelters, which were just holes dug in the ground and covered with tree trunks and earth and affording very little protection, besides taking up much of the time of the soldier, and costing very much labor and money for transporting the necessary timber.

It was then decided to utilize the

"HOME AT LAST!"

These American soldiers are ready for supper. They have bounded over the "bounding main" from America to a "pot" somewhere on the French coast. They have rolled over the railroad from the sea coast to the field headquarters. They have jolted over roads whose shell craters have been only partly filled in. And now they are at home at last—in the concentration cantonment which will be their only home until they make their first charge against the Boches. They are ready for their first meal in a French camp—and for whatever comes after it.

older classes of the reserve of the territorial army who had been called to the colors and who, despite their previous military training, had been found unable to bear the strain of campaigning. Several companies of them were formed and they were first given the task of constructing shelters in the Somme district and around Verdun.

Their officers were chosen from the engineer corps and from men who in civil life were engaged in similar undertakings, such as builders and miners. Most of the men were peasants used to digging in the fields and their work was very satisfactory, but this kind of excavating work was different and they suffered considerably from the unusual motion of having to throw the earth upward, or wheeling it in barrows up steep inclines.

Spurs Inventive Genius.

One of the officers overcome this trying difficulty by inventing an apparatus for carrying loosened earth or rock to the surface by use of electric power. By this arrangement two men can do the work formerly done by ten. When the earth has reached the surface it falls into barrows and is wheeled away along the level and distributed about in such a manner as not to attract the attention of the enemy's airmen always flying about the lines to observe what is going on in the opposing position.

started to provide the props and planking for the shelters and everything is done at minimum cost.

The veterans so employed have sustained losses when working in exposed positions, but no danger appears to daunt them and they continue their job as though they were working in the fields at home. They have adapted themselves to the use of the most modern tools, and although the great majority of them had no previous experience of electric drills and borers they now use them as well as practiced miners.

"About two years ago I had an attack of bowel trouble and was in a serious condition when I began using Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes Mrs. J. Rogan, Fairport, N. Y. "This medicine relieved me at once and after taking three or four doses of it I was cured." People are always pleased by the prompt cures which this remedy effects. The recommendations of those who have used it have done much to make it the most popular medicine in use for bowel complaints.—Advertisement.

SHERMAN'S

Experience Our Greatest Teacher

Before we started our retail stores, we wholesaled Sherman's clothes for $10 to men that ran retail clothing stores. They in turn sold them to you for $15 to $18, making their share of profit $5 to $8. Men bought Sherman's clothes and paid $15 to $18 for them and got style and good service from them.

We conceived an idea. Why can't we open retail stores and sell our clothes direct to the man that wears them at our regular wholesale price, $10, and give every man a good honest value for his money, eliminating for you these large profits of the retailer, and with this idea, we have succeeded in establishing one of the largest chains of stores in the country.

Now Be Logical and Not Skeptical

Experience will teach you. Come to Sherman's and examine our clothes; you will immediately recognize that they are equal in value to the clothes you always paid retail stores $15 to $18. Some men have been skeptical and thought that we could not sell such wonderful values for $10, but upon examining our clothes, this thought they quickly abolished, and these same men buy and appreciate the value we sell for $10.

We Guarantee You a Saving of $5 to $8

Your new suit should be bought at Sherman's. You can make your selection from every up-to-date fabric—shepherd plaids, smart new patterns, worsteds, homespun and cassimeres; gray clay worsteds, all wool serges in plain blue and fancy stripes, every new tweed and size here to fit every man. ## STILL FINDS TIME

TO HELP BELGIANS

Feeding People of United States Not All Hoover is Now Doing.

(Staff Special.)

Washington, Aug. 24.—Despite the immense task of organizing United States food administration, Herbert C. Hoover finds time to give several hours each week to Belgian relief.

Although practically all publicity in this country of the Belgian relief work of which Hoover was formerly the head ended with the United States' entrance into the war, the work is still being carried on, under ever-increasing difficulties.

The commission has money enough for, but is hampered by inability to get vessels to transport supplies. Prior to Germany's ruthless submarine campaign, about 100,000 tons of foodstuffs were being shipped into Belgium by the commission each month. The best the commission has been able to accomplish recently is between 50,000 and 60,000 tons monthly, altogether inadequate for even the most meager ration.

As a result the cables each week bring appeals to Hoover to "do something."

One plan on which Hoover has been working is the delivery of the Belgian relief commission of the major part of the cargoes of Dutch vessels now held in New York harbor by our embargo, in return for permitting a minor part of these cargoes to be released to Holland. But a world of red tape has to be unwound.

Meanwhile much of the 300,000 tons of food and feeds held in these Dutch vessels may spoil.

Another difficulty is the failure of the embargo board to announce a policy covering food exports to neutrals. If the board should announce an absolute prohibition the Belgian relief commission could charter these Dutch vessels and buy their cargoes.

ALL SET FOR WINTER.

Fuel control under the authority of the new law is now a fairly complete fact. President Wilson has appointed an administrator of the law in the person of Dr. Harry A. Garfield, president of Williams College, and chosen because of special qualifications for the post. Price regulations have been extended to anthracite coal in a fashion that will deliver that commodity to the consumer at figures which will contrast pleasantly with hard-coal bills for the past year or two. Price-fixing has been laid upon the operations of mine-operators and jobbers and it is indicated that it will be extended to dealers.

So there you are in the matter of the fuel control by federal intervention. The thing now is to get production speeded up to meet demands and to further arrange transport to get coal to the consumer, domestic as well as industrial. The railroads are believed to be making the movement of coal a matter of their first concern and their highest efficiencies just now and if all factors in the situation are made to work together and all resources drafted to the purpose, there is no reason why there should be any great distress in the matter of fuel this winter. The factor of labor in the mines is not so reassuring as it might be, but perhaps federal regulation can go far enough to forestall the general upheaval of which there have been more than premonitory symptoms in some of the coal regions.

Fuel control is an experiment of uncommon interest, because it is the first step of the federal government upon a course that by all logic should lead to a permanent federal regulation of the coal business and to possible nationalization of coal lands if not to nationalization of mining itself. Nationalized coal lands have long been urged by those of more or less radical opinion, but have had the advocacy in recent years of some who are not in other opinions at all radical, but do believe that in the interest of conservation this great natural resource should be more carefully guarded than can be assured so long as there is wholly private ownership and exploitation of coal lands. In any event, it may be set down as a tolerable certain prospect that the government, having taken a hand in the fuel business will not be likely soon to let go, if ever it relinquishes wholly an administrative interest in the coal industry.

There are going to be a good many things about direct and arbitrary federal regulation of the coal business that the coal business may not like and events may come that will put the matter of control in different aspect to the consumer's view. War is no respecter of preferences and opinions. But of one thing there may be taken good assurances, which is that federal regulation will be just and fair. The consumer cannot then accuse the coal interests of raping him and the coal interests cannot charge that the consumer is a selfish and unreasonable blockhead.

THE HOUSTON RIOT.

The bloody riot of colored soldiers in Houston is the second outbreak of the sort in which negro troops have taken part in Texas within a few weeks. The Brownsville affair of some years ago will be readily recalled as another clash between white Texans and black soldiers. Evidently there is a state of bad blood between the two elements in that commonwealth and it may not be an unreasonable consideration of events past as well as contingencies future to assemble just as few colored soldiers as possible down there.

It will not mitigate the horror of the Thursday night affair nor will it palliate the fact that the colored soldiers were wholly unamenable to discipline to establish that in the first place white policemen in Houston gave provocation. The negroes are soldiers who are charged among their other duties to uphold law and assist if need be to make the public order secure. These negroes armed themselves with the weapons furnished by the government and literally ran amuck in the city, shooting white people without discrimination. They refused to heed the words of counsel from their officers and finally rode them down in mad rebellion against authority and discipline. That is tolerably serious business for soldiers of the regular army to engage in. It was not the insane outbreak of a few maddened or drunken spirits, but the concerted action of practically a whole military company.

No doubt, if the colored soldiers in the riot can be induced to talk it will be found that the race riots recently taking place in East St. Louis were somewhat luridly in mind when the onset was made against the white police and citizens of Houston. Hotheaded leaders among negroes have had considerable latitude in preaching to masses of colored people in many places that they should be prepared to take reprisals for what occurred in East St. Louis and what may take place elsewhere of similar tenor.

In any event, the uprising among the colored soldiers at Houston is a grave warning that too many negro soldiers should not be concentrated in the south, or elsewhere, for the matter of that. If an entire company of negroes can lash themselves into a frenzy to rise against white men an entire regiment or brigade might just as easily incite itself to a turbulent and bloody revolt.

Dr. Garfield comes from a family that has rendered eminent service to the country. His father was a distinguished union general of the civil war, served long in congress, both as senator and representative, was elected president and became a martyr to a madman's delusions. His brother, James A. Garfield, was in the Roosevelt cabinet and before that held high, though more subordinate positions and assisted in the organization of the progressive party and was one of the leaders in its first national campaign. Considering that the Woodrow Wilson a cinch and his re-election a necessity, and that the Garfields were of it and in it, it may well be said that the family service to the country was ably continued. However, in the last election Dr. Garfield didn't go half way in the support of Wilson. He was out and out for him. The true course of partisan comment being now entirely obvious, standpat newspapers have nothing left to do but to jump on the new fuel dictator.

Democratic—almost socialized—Russia appears to be getting ready for a flare-up that will make the late revolt as tame as a dry picnic and promises little to make the world safe for democracy, Russian or otherwise. There is no denying that internal affairs in Russia, combined with the rapidity of the Austro-German advance against the Slav armies, is giving the entente allies many an unpleasant quarter-hour. The complete collapse of Russia will not mean German triumph, but it will mean a great prolongation of the war at immense additional cost to all. Russian loyalty to the Russian duty at this time would do much to bring the end of the conflict measurably near.

Indianapolis coal dealers are reported to be making plaint that the government price schedule will cause them losses of about $200,000 on coal contracts already made at the unregulated price. That will be too bad, if course; but not nearly so bad as it would have been were it not that the Indianapolis coal dealers last winter and spring were stinging their customers for several dollars a ton in excess profits just because they could force the price. The principal feature of injustice is that the losses the coal dealers may now have to stand do not go into the pockets of the consumers they ravished last winter, but into the roomy pouches of the coal barons.

The Houston riot furnishes a good and bloody argument why not too many negroes should be trained and armed for the present war or any other war. They might take a similar notion on a much larger scale and the cost of getting it out of their heads would be rather more than even a great nation with plenty of white men should be required to pay for a wanton folly.

Governor Goodrich will not call the Indiana legislature together in extra session unless he just is forced. No wise governor ever wantonly wished a legislator on himself, after having had experience with a session, and we believe James P. Goodrich is worldly wise with the wisdom of last winter.

If Russia were still bucking the line as she started in to do July first, the present co-ordinated assault on the Austro-German lines would be counting for a deal more on the fronts.

It is proposed that everybody take a sheep to raise. Next it will be everybody keep a pig. Food conservation seems to be going to some lengths.

(By a Military Expert.)

President Wilson's order naming 148 new division and brigade generals completes the preparation for training America's new national army. With the junior officers' graduation from training camps, it turns the United States into a real military power. Germany thought we were bluffing, called us, and finds we hold the hand. When we went to war our total armed forces were 32,000 men. Today we have 820,000. And we have trained the men who will train the next million.

America has performed the most gigantic feat of military preparedness in history. It has made strides believed impossible in putting effective force against the Tontons. In April the regular army consisted of 131,481 officers and men; officers' reserve corps, 2,000; the national guard, 123,605; the navy, 62,000; the marine corps, 15,000, and there were less than 10,000 naval militiamen. The total forces numbered 322,000.

The regular army and the national guard were ordered recruited to war strength—the army to 293,000 men, the guard to 329,954, a total of 622,954.

The regulars reached their quota in August, having added 131,481 men in four months. The national guard, mustered into federal service August 5, numbered approximately 300,000 men, and recruiting continues in organizations not filled.

The navy, finally ordered to recruit up to 107,000, and the marine corps, 15,000 to 30,000 men, completed their quotas. Five months after the declaration of war, therefore, approximately 820,000 fighting men of all branches are under arms.

More than one-third of the 687,000 men in the first quota of the new national army have been passed. Before October all will be in camp. The men who will train them have been selected in officers' training camps.

Pershing in the 1918 spring drive can have 473,000 thoroughly trained and equipped men. By the end of March, the national army will have completed six months training. British infantrymen now go to France after sixteen weeks' training, are tested eight days and sent to the trenches.

If the allies require, we can throw into battle 500,000 additional troops the end of March—every one trained more than six months—a million fully trained men for the next big offensive.

April 21, 1917, the war department announced it had ample supplies for 600,000, with the exception of heavy ordnance and machine guns. These deficiencies have been met. By the end of November the first increment of the national army will be equipped. The rifle supply problem has been solved.

Yes, in a way Uncle Sam was bluffing. But the bluffer has bluffed the other bluffer.

WE'VE GOT THE SHIPS WE'VE GOT THE MONEY BUT WE LACK SEAMEN

(By BASIL M. MANLY.)

Ships to beat the submarine are on the way—but what of the sailors to man the ships?

A long step toward meeting this problem has just been taken at Washington by the combined action of the International Seamen's Union of America, the shipping board and the principal Atlantic steamship companies.

The Pacific coast ship corporations had already joined hands with the union and the shipping board. Only the Lake Carriers' association refuses to co-operate. As the lakes are the natural breeding grounds for American sailors, the greed of the lake shipping companies and the steel trust may thwart the plans.

The peril is great. The sailor famine today is as serious as the tonnage shortage. It takes skilled men to sail ships through the submarine zone. The best submarine antidote discovered to date is fast ships and skilled crews.

British shipping losses have been caused largely by the cowardice or inefficiency of the Oriental coolies who have been diving the British tar out of the mercantile marines.

Similar conditions had about eaten the backbone out of the American mercantile marines, when the seamen's law was passed, and a period of improvement set in. But today the supply of seamen is just enough to keep the present boats moving.

The mercantile marine has been able to contribute nothing to the navy, and Uncle Sam has been forced to make blue jackets out of farmer boys, by long and expensive training.

The agreement signed by the shipping board, the union and the Atlantic companies adopts a wage scale corresponding to the present union scale, starting with $60 per month.

A bonus of 50 per cent for voyages within the submarine zone is added.

Quasi-union recognition is provided. On the basis of this agreement, both the companies and the union agree to appeal to all American seamen who have left the sea because of low wages and former slavery to come back and man the ships which are to win the war for democracy.

The lake carriers' refusal to co-operate, however, throws doubt on the success of the plan. The men distrust the owners, and the action of the lake companies will dampen their enthusiasm. They will note that it is only where danger is imminent, that the companies are willing to make concessions.

The number of American sailors on present American ships on the Atlantic is only 16 per cent and on the Pacific only 10 per cent.

At the time of the enactment of the seamen's law there were only 1 per cent of American sailors left in the American mercantile marine.

The law eventually will raise the wages of all seamen the world over to the American level, and give American ship owners an even break with foreign ship owners.

This was accomplished by the simple expedient of abolishing slavery on board any ships lying in American ports.

Only the Lake Carriers' association still files the Jolly Roger of industrial slavery, and bars the way to the ideal of American sailors, under American flags on American-built ships.

DESPITE WAR AUTOS IN AMERICA NUMBER OVER FOUR MILLION

Instead of cutting down the number of automobiles and truck in the United States the war has resulted in a large increase in motor vehicles in use in the forty-eight states and the District of Columbia, according to figures secured from state registration officials by "The Automobile."

The report shows 4,242,139 cars and trucks in the country on July 1, a gain of 100,401 over the number owned Jan. 1.

This number of machines shows one to every 24 inhabitants, according to the latest census estimate against one to 29 Jan. 1 or one to 42 at the end of 1915.

The increase is the more remarkable when war conditions are considered. Many manufacturers have cut down their output on account of unsettled conditions and the high price of gasoline, tires and parts has had some effect on the marketing of cars.

New York led the country in the number of cars with 345,936. Ohio, Illinois, Pennsylvania, California, Iowa and Texas follow in the order named.

The largest percentages of increases were shown in the south and west, where improved road conditions have helped place many cars on the market. Arkansas led in percentages of increase with 64 per cent over 1916, Louisiana and South Carolina ranked second with 61 per cent and Nevada and Maryland followed.

The new cars placed on the market during the six months are estimated at 800,000 with a total value of $660,000,000.

The middle west and west led the country in the number of cars in proportion to the population.

Iowa has one car to each line of population, Nebraska, one to 10, California, one to 12 and Kansas and South Dakota each one to 13.

Automobile statisticians, however, do not expect this unprecedented sale of cars to continue during the remainder of the year. War conditions, it is believed, will make inroads on the industry.

PARKING IN CITIES.

(Municipal Journal.)

The Express-Advertiser, of Portland, Me., has obtained information from the city clerks of several cities of between 50,000 and 100,000 population concerning the methods which they employ in providing parking spaces for automobiles. Four of the cities have given information as follows:

Manchester, N. H., is considering the advisability of allowing the use of a park or common in the heart of the city just off the main street as a parking place for automobiles.

New Bedford, Mass., last year assigned as a parking place a vacant lot which is styled the "municipal lot," which is located in the business center of the city and is about 191x148 feet in size. No charge is made for the use of this.

Peoria, Ill., has selected two of its extra wide streets and marked off the center of the same so that cars can be parked therein. About 50 automobiles can be accommodated in each block. On other streets, cars can stand for one hour at a time, except on Sundays and holidays. There are also some one-way streets on which cars are parked.

In Springfield, Mass., automobiles are allowed to park on the main street for ten minutes only and on certain streets they are not allowed to park within 100 feet of the main street, although on most streets this distance is only 50 feet. On all except the main street, vehicles stand all day and all night without any prohibition, which is the cause of much complaint on the part of merchants whose patrons are thus prevented from alighting at their doors, but the police are powerless to prevent it. A committee of the city government is now amending the rules of the road and proposes to limit automobiles and other vehicles to twenty minutes on the side streets.

He will remain here and take a position on one of the city papers. Ed is an interesting conversationalist, and has seen the bright and the rough sides of life.

Frank Ankenbruck, who is employed as a driver for Louis Brames & Co., the proprietors of the Summit City Bottling works, met with a painful accident near Academic station when his wagon upset, throwing him out into the road, breaking his leg. He was brought to the city and taken to his home, 162 East Jefferson street.

Fort Wayne now has another street car line in operation. Yesterday for the first time the cars were run to the full length of the Lakeside line as a started the business was fully up to expectations. All day two summer cars and one box car were kept busy carrying visitors to and from the Reformed Orphans' home. The roadbed is in excellent shape and the cars run smoothly and rapidly along under the superintendency of John McDonald.

DON'T WORRY ABOUT
BOY ON TRANSPORT

Your Soldier Hero En Route to France Will Be Well Cared For.

BY J. H. DUCKWORTH
(Staff Special.)

An American Port, Aug. 24.—Have you a boy in the new army? Are you worrying about whether he will be comfortable aboard a transport, whether he will get good food, a good bed, good medical and other treatment? You need not!

I have just spent an afternoon aboard an army transport which made the first trip to France with Pershing's army.

The boys aboard that transport get the best possible care. It can carry 1,500 men with all their equipment. Streaming out of the docks I saw an endless procession of motor trucks and wagons—thousands of boxes and barrels for France. And in that freight was the food supply. There were thousands of cases of peas, beans and corn, of the familiar brands you have on your dinner table. There were tons of cereals you eat for breakfast. There were hundreds of quarters of the best fresh beef, thousands of hams and sides of bacon. The boys will be well fed.

It was necessary to take over commercial vessels as transports. The quartermaster's department in two weeks rebuilt the inside of the vessels and turned the decks into sleeping and eating quarters—a tribute to wonderful efficiency.

Two entire lower decks are sleeping quarters. The bunks are in three tiers, and double rows with ample walking space between. At every bunk is a compartment for personal belongings. Each man swings his rifle beside his bunk.

Instead of unsanitary mattresses, a comfortable bed is swung between two side poles like a stretcher—a bed and hammock, combined. Every man has a clean, new piece of canvas swung in his bunk. The bed is readily lifted out and taken down.

Throughout the sleeping decks forced ventilation drives pure air. Electric lights make the deck as light as day. Every man has at least eighty cubic feet of air space.

At the ends are the washstands, with one bowl for every ten men, with running hot and cold water. Besides, every transport is amply equipped with shower baths. Hand fire extinguishers hang from racks.

On the deck is the men's mess. Tables, folded and hung at the ship's sides when not needed, each accommodate ten men. At one end is a cook's galley. Connecting are the refrigerating plant and storerooms.

One man for each table serves his table, by turn. Each man has his own mess tin. When the meal is over, he washes and dries his own dishes in running hot water. With the tables removed, the men have this deck for exercise.

"When the troops come down," explained my officer guide, "their commanding officer is handed a plan of the vessel and assigns the battalions to quarters. The men usually toss coins for top, middle and lower berths."

The officers use the ship's cabins. A hospital is part of the equipment of each vessel. A medical officer makes a thorough inspection, and steamboat inspectors pass upon the life saving equipment. Every transport carries more than the law requires.

After each trip, the transport is thoroughly fumigated; the cook's galleys, refrigerators and storerooms are emptied, cleaned and disinfected. And the vessel's crew scrubs and rubs every inch of the vessel until she literally shines.

Two thousand pounds of coconuts will be produced this year at an experimental silk farm in Texas. The farm will be enlarged next year by planting 12,000 additional mulberry trees. Mechanical methods are used to handle coconuts and eggs.

GREASED POLE ON ROMP DAY

The pole will be greased at 1:30 P. M. on Romp Day. The boys seemed to be disappointed on Boys' Day when the five dollar gold piece was awarded. One little fellow said, "Is that all the bigger it is?" Another boy said, "Gee, I wouldn't work so hard for a little piece like that." Therefore boys, that your eyes may dance with joy and that your mind may be properly impressed with your possession, five hundred bright and shining coppers will be the prize at the top of the greased pole on Romp day. So bring along your overalls, for the big bag of money is worth trying for. The winner can have a copper trail of his own with all the boys and girls in his neighborhood.

Theo. J. Israel Welcomes the Men of Fort Wayne Tomorrow, Saturday to his FIFTH ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

The Most Important Annual Clothing Event Featured in the City

It is with a feeling of satisfaction, not unmixed with pride that I publicly invite the big, generous Fort Wayne community to visit my store tomorrow, and to share with me in the results of the success I have achieved, with their efforts and support, in the five years that I have been in business in this city.

Today, as a result of keeping implicit faith with the buying public and squaring my deeds with my promises, I am able to welcome my army of customers and friends to a LARGER and MORE COMPLETE STORE than when I first opened five years ago

Souvenirs, I have none to offer; but what I sincerely believe will be a more practical evidence of my appreciation of the patronage which has been vouchsafed me is the EXTRAORDINARY VALUES that I have prepared for those who come to see me.

So, beginning tomorrow, every one, who has in any way contributed to my progress and success can share in the benefits by taking advantage of the unequalled values in

$10 - $15 - $20

Despite the enormous increase in the cost of materials and labor, I am able to give the SAME BIG VALUES and to assure the SAME SUBSTANTIAL SAVING of from $5 to $10 as in former seasons, when conditions have been normal.

Every style, every material, every pattern, every color that has been approved by the fashion leaders of the nation is to be found in my complete and unequalled assortments of NEW SUITS and OVERCOATS at $10, $15 and $20.

Frankly, for a time I was obliged to wrestle with the problem of raising my prices in order to meet the increase in costs, but I decided NO, believing that by retaining the same low prices, that I could increase my business sufficiently to justify selling the clothing on a closer margin of profit.

I have that much faith in the good judgment of the men of Fort Wayne that I know that this policy of SMALL PROFITS and MORE BUSINESS at the OLD LOW PRICES will win out.

COME TOMORROW AND LET ME SAVE YOU $5 TO $10 ON YOUR NEXT FALL SUIT AND OVERCOAT

RUSSIA'S COUNCIL OF COMMON PEOPLE IS MOST REMARKABLE LEGISLATIVE BODY IN THE WORLD

Americans Are Funny When They Try to Assume a Superior Attitude Toward the New Democracy, Says Russell—If Czar Gets Back to Winter Palace You Can Blame Germans and American Copperheads.

(Copyright, 1917, by the Newspaper Enterprise Association.)

Many other things about Russia may be doubtful, but there is one Russian certainty all may bank upon with confidence.

Barring only German success, democracy has come there to stay.

Not half way democracy nor a fake miscalled by democracy's name. The goods—the real thing.

Russia will be ruled by the Russian people. All the Russian people. They will rule it absolutely.

Autocracy, whether frankly labelled with the name of a czar or neatly disguised as a constitutional monarchy, is a dead end in Russia. Keep the Germans out and it will never again have a look in there.

Wise things may be done; also foolish. But whether wise or foolish, whatever is done will be by the grace of the people of Russia, free and independent.

Reactionary influences in this and other countries are striving hard to create the impression that Russia has or is about to have a dictator.

You can put all that aside as the idle dreams of troglodytes. I don't know any climate on earth that is more unhealthy for dictators now than the climate of Russia. Gentlemen planning to go into that line of business are earnestly advised to look elsewhere.

Russia will not have a dictator and, contrary to cave dwelling opinion, does not need a dictator. It is no One Man's Country and never will be again.

I don't know any country where the national democratic spirit is stronger, more resolute or better awake to its job.

Wise democratic heads in Russia are now studying outlines for the new Russian constitution. No one need be astonished if, when their time is done and the constitution adopted, it proves to be the most advanced document of the kind ever put together. No one need be astonished if it provides for a government more directly and truly democratic than any other nation on earth has ever had.

Even now, without any formulated constitution, the people are supreme.

The most powerful institution in all Russia is the National Council of Workmen, Soldiers' and Peasants' delegates, and that is a purely democratic power.

Local councils, similarly formed, furnish for the time being the governing steam in the municipalities. The national council furnishes it in national affairs.

The national council is the only source of authority. What it says goes.

Its 830 delegates were elected from all parts of Russia by men and women voters equally endowed with citizenship.

It is the most remarkable legislative body in the world, and, as it looks to me, the most significant, the most satisfactory and admirable.

It is composed chiefly of farmers and workmen; the actual producers and toilers.

Now in every country these are the vast majority of the population.

Therefore, in every country, if we are to have real democracy, these should compose the legislative power.

In this country and in England there is a strange superstition that nobody can make laws or manage government except lawyers, bankers, exploiters and professional politicians.

Well, then, give fervent thanks to Russia. She has knocked the spots out of all that fol-de-rol.

Her national council does business with rapidity, good sense and good judgment. She doesn't miss the law-years, except to bless the Lord they are not there.

Lawyears constitute less than 1 per cent of the population and hold in our country 70 per cent of the legislative offices. They can't see that in Russia.

Also, to arrive at the next point for thanksgiving, five of the delegates in the national council are women.

Women suffrage was achieved in Russia the moment the revolution was a success. It achieved itself automatically, without effort. Nobody argued or campaigned for it. Nobody had to point out that it was a good thing and a simple act of justice and ought to be adopted. Democracy had won and nobody in Russia had any other idea of democracy except a democracy that included men and women.

If you will stop and study that little fact for a time, and let it seep into your mind and heart, and look at it from every angle, you will, I am sure, discover how comical a position we assume when we undertake our favorite superior and condescending attitude toward the new democracy.

In a short time elections will be held throughout Russia to choose delegates to the first constituent assembly, which will adopt a constitution and help to launch the Russian republic.

Men and women will vote for these delegates. Women will be among those chosen and will sit in the assembly and help to make the constitution.

It will not be necessary for anybody to argue for this privilege. Everybody will think it perfectly natural and right.

The national council adjourned on July 7, but it left in charge of the government its executive committee of 250, apportioned among the workmen, soldiers and farmers, and this executive committee is now running things in Russia.

It operates the machine. You do not hear anything about, for reasons I shall tell you hereafter. But you can discount any stories you may read from day to day about anybody else "ruling" Russia. This is the only ruling power, being the representatives of the people.

The rest of the world seems to have a fear that there may be a counter-revolution and a return of the old conditions.

Unless German victory and German influence can bring it back to life, there isn't anything else anywhere in the world quite so dead as the old order in Russia.

It's deadlier than a mackerel that for sanitary reasons the Board of Health has ordered to be cremated.

If the Germans, assisted by the American copperheads, American doughfaces and American pro-Germans, do not break through that front not even the ghost of the old order will ever come again.

If they do, you will see the czar back in the winter palace and you ought to have a clear understanding as to who put him there.

PAY MILITARY HONORS.
Veterans of Three Wars Attend Funeral of William Richards.

Military honors were paid Thursday to the remains of William C. Richards, veteran of the Spanish American war, by members of the Henry W. Lawton camp, No. 35, Lawton-Wayne post, G. A. R., and a firing squad from Company B. The funeral cortege was met at the gates of Lindenwood and escorted to the grave. Flag services were held by the S. W. Stirk circle, Ladies of the G. A. R. Commander Forest Arney, of Lawton camp, took charge of the ritualistic ceremonies, and Rev. A. J. Folsom pronounced the benediction. Richards served in Company B, 15th Indiana Volunteer Infantry, during the Spanish-American war.

QUARTER MILLION TO AID WAR CAMP WORK
Methodist Church Raising Big Sum for Ministry at Cantonments.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 24.—Two hundred and fifty thousand dollars for war camp ministry to Methodist soldiers is being asked of the Methodist Episcopal church through its board of home missions and church extension with headquarters in this city.

The survey of church conditions in the neighborhood of the cantonments and other camps shows that while in most cases the Methodist Episcopal churches in the vicinity were able to perform an adequate ministry to the normal population, many of them are entirely inadequate for meeting the needs of the 150,000 Methodist soldiers who will be distributed throughout the different camps.

This $250,000 will be used to equip regular Methodist Episcopal chaplains, to equip and support volunteer chaplains for officers' training camps and to render more efficient Methodist churches located near the camps and to augment the equipment of those churches needing it, in order to render an adequate ministry to the Methodist boys in the camps in the name of Jesus Christ and the church back home.

War emergency commissions are being appointed by the bishops in the twenty Episcopal districts in the United States, which will co-operate with the board of home missions and church extension in raising and disbursing the money. The strongest men in the denomination will be sent to serve as pastors or associate pastors at these camp churches.

Bishop Joseph F. Berry, of this city, is president of the board of home missions and church extension of the Methodist Episcopal church, and Dr. David D. Forsyth corresponding secretary.

DEMAND MILLION HOUSES.
London, Aug. 24.—The joint committee on labor problems after the war is pressing for an immediate decision as to the government's housing policy and declares that 1,000,000 houses ought to be completed within four years from the declaration of peace. The cost is placed at £250,000,000, including a sinking fund to repay the whole debt within sixty years.

Miss Margery Link, of Toledo, Ohio, was honored last evening by a supper party at the Y. W. C. A. private dining room for which Miss Anna Heyman was the host. Bowls of pink cosmos and crystal candlesticks filled with white candles decorated the table beautifully. There were other visitors present besides Miss Link, Mrs. U. W. Ford, of Heights, N. The guests were Mrs. Albert Schaff, Miss Cecil Foley, Miss Mable Homsher, Miss Edith Monahan, Miss Bernadette Monahan, Miss Marie Travis, Miss Evelyn Walter and Miss Margaret Gutermuth.

The reception at the Country club held last evening by the University club to honor the soldiers in the city, including newly commissioned officers and men from Fort Benjamin Harrison, Red Cross hospital unit members, Company E Battery B and members of the signal corps, was a big success. The men invited their wives, sisters and other friends and music and dancing, singing and visiting, handshaking and congratulating were distinct features of the good time. The guests were received informally by E. G. Hoffman, president of the University club and Major Ryan. Late in the evening Maurice Niezer led in singing a number of patriotic songs. Miss Alba Kessler furnished the music for dancing, the Watson Twins, semi-professional young girl dancers of this city, gave two exhibitions of their accomplishments. Mrs. Robert W. Fowler sang patriotic solos. President Hoffman announced about 10 o'clock that the officers would line up in the ballroom and the guests would have an opportunity to pass and shake hands with each one. The opportunity to show appreciation of the patriotism of the men was gladly improved by the visitors. Staff Special.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 24.—Mrs. Nettie Yaw, of Los Angeles county, bears the distinction of being the only woman deputy sheriff in California and one of the few in the United States. The billet is as hazardous as it is unique. She does general work, just as do all of the officers; her sex makes her assignments harder.

As an intelligence worker, and a handler of violently insane persons, Deputy Yaw has rendered signal service to the department. Intelligence work consists in gathering that confidential information which is on file in every sheriff's office regarding persons and property within the county.

As a server of subpoenas Mrs. Yaw has no equal. She has succeeded in rendering service when every man in the department has failed. Often she has located people who were supposed to have moved out of the county.

"Perhaps my greatest success has been in handling women criminals and also in dealing with insane patients," says Mrs. Yaw. "The department seems to think that my greatest need is in the last named work. Arresting the unfortunate victims of insanity is, of course, the most dangerous duty which confronts peace officers. One never knows when the crazy person will become violent, nor to what extent he will go."

"In the year that I have been a deputy sheriff, I have found it necessary to manacle but two insane patients. That was when I first came into the sheriff's office and before I became thoroughly familiar with the work."

So remarkable has Deputy Sheriff Yaw's success been in handling insane persons that it has attracted wide attention among medical staffs.

"Only in one instance have I ever had trouble in quieting a crazy person. That was in the case of a man and his wife, both mentally unbalanced, who had been shooting at passersby on the state highway which ran in front of their house near this city. Realizing that it would be no small job to arrest them, I took other officers with me."

"When we approached the house the aged couple leveled rifles at us from their porch and told us if we came closer than ten feet they would kill us. Looking into the barrel of their weapons, I tried to persuade them to submit to arrest. Imagine the task! We finally took them through strategy, capturing the husband first and the wife later. It was the only time that I ever felt that I was facing death."

Monday from Bridgeport, Conn., where she had been visiting her sister, Mrs. Wehmyer.

NEW SKIRT-LIKE PANTS.

BY BETTY BROWN.
If women must wear pants they can at least make those pants share some of the beautiful lines of skirts, is the idea of Miss Fannie Harley, well-known magazine writer and traveler, who has given the last three years to work for dress reform. All the costumes she has designed are bifurcated.

The street costume she wears here is of white yachting serge, with serge pipings and facings, and girdle of cerise taffeta. The cuffs are trimmed with tiny cerise buttons. Marabou trims the neck and skirt of the upper garment. The white hat has chiffon sashes and ostrich plume, and the French parasol is of cerise.

War Nighties Minus Laces, Styles Plain

There is one thing in the fashion world that is always fascinating to the feminine fancy, and that is lingerie. Even the war has failed to rob it of its perennial charm. Not that it has remained unaffected by the world shaking events of the last three years.

On the contrary, if the world at large only knew it, "undies" have given up a good deal in the way of patriotism.

The result is an added charm and distinction, so that the plain undergarments of war are even more dainty and alluring than the fluttering "frillies" of peace.

Lace to a great extent has disappeared from view. Few, if any, tucks break the expanse of material that stretches between the neck and hem of the wartime "nightie," or what one might quite truthfully call the "ration" chemise, so very literally does it interpret the injunction to "use no more than you want of anything, and do with as little as possible always."

How much diminutive garments manage to serve the useful purposes they undoubtedly do is a secret known only to themselves, the makers and the wearers.

It seems almost a pity that the great world can not have an opportunity of seeing how really little we women can do with when once we make up our minds to do it.

Frills have gone the way of lace. When the barrel silhouette obtruded its ungainly outline earlier in the season, frills for a brief period resumed their sway.

But the revision to the straight line—which is, after all, far more becoming to average woman than any other style—effectually flattened out all other innovations. Flat as a pancake is the "pettle" that lies beneath the swaying skirts of summer.

Under perfect conditions watercress may be made to flower and seed within eight days of planting.

Successful experiments have been made at Moncton, New Brunswick, in establishing telephone communication between a train dispatcher's office and a moving train.

How to Beautify a Summer Soiled Face

It's really a simple matter to renovate a face soiled by sun, winds or dirt. Ordinary mercurized wax, used like cold cream, will transform the worst old complexion into one of snowy whiteness and velvety softness. It literally peels off the outer veil which hides the skin, but so gently, gradually, there's no discomfort. The worn-out skin comes off, not in patches, but evenly, in tiny particles, leaving no evidence of the treatment. The younger, healthier under-skin forming the new complexion, is one of captivating loveliness. One ounce of mercurized wax, to be had at any drugstore, is enough to remove any tanned, reddened, pimples, freckled or blotchy skin. Apply before retiring, washing it off mornings.

Many skins wrinkle easily with every wind that blows, with heat, worry, etc. An excellent remedy, however, because it tightens the skin and strengthens relaxed muscles, is a wash lotion made as follows: Powdered exfolite, 1 oz., dissolved in witch hazel, 1 pint. This gives immediate results.—Advertisement.

CAMP TAYLOR ABOUT READY

Cantonment, Near Louisville, for Men of the National Army.

INDIANA BOYS WILL BE TRAINED THERE

Vast City for Accommodation of 40,000 Men Has 1,200 Buildings.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 24.—Within less than three months there has grown up, on the southern outskirts of Louisville, a mushroom city, now nearly completed, capable of housing more than 40,000 men. Here all members of the new national army drawn from Kentucky and Indiana and part of the Illinois troops will be trained.

The city is one of sixteen great cantonments which Uncle Sam is building, all of which will be devoted to the same purpose. It will bear the name of Zachary Taylor, hero of Buena Vista and Monterey, who lies buried within less than a dozen miles of the site.

Engineers drove their first stakes in June in the midst of pastures and truck gardens. Today nearly twelve hundred buildings in various stages of construction, a large proportion of which are already complete, stand upon the same ground.

Despite the haste nothing has been overlooked which will add to the comfort or the well being of the men who will find their homes for months within its confines.

Company Barracks Ready.

Most of the company barracks have been completed. The walls are well sheathed and are weatherboarded. They are designed to be warm in winter and the arrangement of windows promises that they will be as comfortable as it is possible to expect in summer. There will be no over-crowding and the sanitary arrangements have been planned by experts.

Within convenient access of each company is a detached building containing showers and wash rooms. Kitchens and dining halls are nearby.

The city itself stands upon high rolling ground and it has exceptionally good surface drainage. A system of sanitary sewers within its borders will be connected with the sewer system of the city of Louisville, sewer mains having been constructed to its boundaries by city and county authorities.

Water mains have also been laid to the boundaries of the cantonment by the municipally owned Louisville Water company and the 2,500,000 gallons of water which will be required daily will be supplied from the same filtration plant which supplies the city.

Gas and Electricity. The Louisville Gas and Electric company also has carried its transmission system to the boundaries of the cantonment and will supply the current used for light and power. The Louisville Street Railway company has constructed a double track line to the soldier city and will give a 5 cent fare to any section of Louisville.

When work was started upon the cantonment it was a small force and the material used in the first buildings, now used for offices, was hauled from Louisville lumber yards and supply houses.

Within ten days of this modest start lumber in trainloads was arriving from southern sawmills daily. The number of workmen grew as the flow of materials increased until today it totals about 10,000. Of these about 4,000 are carpenters, 4,000 others are listed as laborers and the remainder includes skilled craftsmen of many trades.

A good idea of the size of the task upon which the war department embarked when it undertook the construction of sixteen cities simultaneously can be gained from the fact that 300 water boys are employed on the job at Camp Taylor. These youngsters are not idle either. Each must satisfy the demands of about thirty men and it keeps him busy.

With the increase in the number of men employed on the work and the swelling flow of materials the percentage of the whole task to be accomplished each day increased until it finally approximated about two and one-half per cent of the whole daily.

Will Find Camp Complete. When the first drafts of the new army begin to arrive September 5, they will find Camp Taylor complete.

in its essential details with but two exceptions. One section of the hospital group will be incomplete, as will the remount station. Two sections of the hospital group will be ready, however, and the completion of the third section will only add to the capacity, which will exceed 1,000 beds.

The quarters to be occupied by the men will still have finishing touches to be added which will improve their appearance and to some extent add to comfort, but there will be nothing really essential lacking.

Racing against time officials responsible for the erection of the cantonment have found the competitive instinct of the average human being a powerful factor in assisting their efforts. Each day a detailed report showing the percentage of the work completed up to that time and listing separately the progress made on the preceding day is placed in the hand of Major Frank E. Lamphere, construction quartermaster in charge. These reports show at a glance how various bodies of men are progressing with their part of the work.

For instance for convenience in supervising and speeding up the work of carpenters the cantonment is divided into seventeen units, each with its own working organization. The report which comes to Major Lamphere each morning shows just how much timber, the total board feet being given, is required in the construction of each unit. Then is shown the number of board feet of timber placed to that date, together with the amount placed the preceding day. The report then shows what percentage of the work on each unit has been completed, and gives the number of man-days work charged against each unit. Then to complete the comparison the daily average of board feet of lumber per man placed in the buildings of various units is shown. A copy of this report is posted on the grounds where each unit is being erected so that the men may compare the progress of the unit on which they are engaged with that of other units.

This plan is followed out with other classes of work, and according to Major Lamphere it has produced good results. Each man is made to feel a personal sense of responsibility for the progress of the unit upon which the crew to which he belongs is engaged.

Over 1,200 Buildings. There are more than 1,200 buildings in the cantonment and they cover about 1,250 acres. The hospital group of sixty-five buildings occupies eighty acres and the remount station about seventy-five acres. This remount station will care for about 9,000 horses and mules.

Buildings and ground will be lighted by electricity. More than two hundred miles of wire will be necessary to supply the lights in the various buildings and 320 arc lights will be used to illuminate the company streets.

The buildings of the hospital group and officers' quarters will be heated with steam. The various company barracks will use coal stoves. More than 2,000 heating devices will be used, and contracts for 17,000 tons of coal to supply them have been asked for.

More than five miles of asphalt roadway eighteen feet wide have been laid within the cantonment which is spread out in a great arc nearly two miles long. These roads will connect with several hard surfaced highways leading from Louisville to the surrounding country.

Much of the equipment for the cantonment has arrived and is already in storehouses built along the railroad tracks which have been run into the grounds. More is on the way.

The quantity of this equipment is tremendous. To name but a few items will show something of the size of the task in getting it to the right place in time. More than 40,000 cots will be used, and there will be equipment of all sorts for 349 kitchens. Then there will be uniforms and other clothing for the thousands of men who will report for duty during September.

Rides and various other articles of military equipment, and added to all this and much more hundreds upon hundreds of tons of foodstuffs must be in the storehouses before even the first member of the new army arrives.

PLAN MEETS DISAPPROVAL

Garbage Would Have to be Cooked Before it is Fed to Pigs.

COMMISSIONERS WILL OPPOSE MOVEMENT

Only Available Spot for This Purpose Would be Ten Miles Out.

Mayor William Hosey's plan for the disposition of the garbage by raising pigs is meeting with disapproval.

It is said that the county commissioners will oppose the plan when presented to them. It is understood that one member of the board stated that the proposal to the county to take care of the garbage question would meet a flat refusal.

In circles in the court house where the proposed plan of the mayor is being discussed it was brought out that every bit of the garbage would have to be cooked before it is fed to the pigs. This, according to the men, would mean a great outlay of money as it would require several large vats to bring the garbage to a boiling point when all germs cease to live.

The cooking of the garbage would, therefore, necessitate, it is pointed out, the employment of a man who would understand that work.

Men who have been in the hog raising business for many years state that it would be extremely necessary to cook the garbage in order to prevent disease. A man who has made a study of hog cholera stated that in nearly all cases where Allen county was overrun by this dreaded disease the start of it could be traced to hog pens where garbage from Fort Wayne was being used as food for the animals.

The only available spot in the county, officials say, where the pigs could be raised and fed on the garbage is ten miles from the city on the new county farm.

Experienced hog raisers declare that hogs cannot be fattened to a marketable point on garbage alone, and that cereals would have to be purchased in order to make the city's hog farm a profitable one.

Another one of the arguments used against the plan is that the cost of boiling the garbage would be as great as the cost of burning it, and that the profits on the hogs would be wiped out by the expense of taking the garbage out to the farm and the expense incurred in buying corn and other cereals and wages for the men who would have to be hired to take care of them.

The outlook of this plan for the disposition of the city's garbage is therefore rather gloomy at the present time.

IN LAST HOUR RUSH ON CITY PARK PLANS

Adolph Jaenicke, the new city park superintendent, has prepared a series of exclusive park stories for The Sentinel. The interesting articles on "The How, What and Why of Our City Parks" will open in the Saturday issue. It will pay every public minded citizen, every genuine Fort Wayne booster, to follow these articles from beginning to end, as the stories will touch in a kindly way upon the duties of the public towards the beauty spots and the plans for bettering each city open place.

President Wilson is of Scotch-Irish ancestry on both sides.

PRESIDENT HAS THE JAP ENVOYS TO DINE

Mikado's War Mission is Received and Greetings Exchanged.

Washington, Aug. 24.—Viscount Ishii, special ambassador and head of Japan's mission to the United States, presented his credentials to President Wilson last evening and with them an autograph letter from his emperor congratulating the president and the people of the United States upon their decision to enter the war against Germany.

The ambassador recalled seeing American and Japanese colors waving together at the relief of Peking in 1900, and told the president it was a source of pride to every Japanese that the United States now was fighting with Japan for a safe and enduring peace based on respect for the smallest and weakest of states; on contempt for the arrogance of materialistic force; on reverence for the pledged word.

Last night Viscount Ishii and the members of his mission were the guests of the president at a state dinner in the white house, closing a day of the formal calls of courtesy.

Congratulations on War.

Presenting his credentials to the president, Viscount Ishii said:

"Mr. President, on this occasion I have the good fortune to be the bearer of a special message of welcome and deep appreciation from his imperial majesty the emperor of Japan to the president and sovereign people of the United States of America, on their momentous decision to co-operate in the great war now raging."

"His majesty, interpreting the unanimous sentiment of Japan, congratulates your great country on this determination. It has been arrived at, not lightly and in the spirit of a noble patience and in a spirit of unselfish chivalry which have excited the admiration of the whole world."

"That America is now fighting on the side of Japan is a source of pride to his majesty and to every Japanese."

"It is not the first time, I may be allowed to remind you, Mr. President, that this has happened. In 1900 I had the privilege of seeing with my own eyes the American and Japanese colors waving together when the allied troops, in the face of terrible difficulties, triumphantly relieved the besieged legations at Peking. I well remember the skill and courage with which the American civilians and soldiers co-operated in the defense. The resourceful bravery which those few Americans showed then, American legions will show now."

Common Ties Bespoke.

"The auspicious co-operation of the United States of America and Japan in the tremendous task of restoring the reign of mutual confidence and good will among the nations of the earth can not but draw us closer together. Our common efforts are directed to seeking an enduring peace, based on respect for the independence of the smallest and weakest states; on contempt of the arrogance of materialistic force; on reverence for the pledged word. In the service of these common ideals, our two countries must surely realize a far nearer friendship than before."

"This is no ordinary war. It is an issue between common morality and inhuman system of calculated aggression, which would render all friendly intercourse impossible. The welcome fact that the United States stands side by side with the allied powers is a guarantee of early victory, and his imperial majesty hails it as such with deep gratification."

Rights of Nations First.

The president said in reply: "Mr. Ambassador: It is with a sense of deep satisfaction that I receive from your hand the letters whereby you are accredited as the ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary of Japan on a special mission to the United States. It is a pleasure to accept through you from your imperial sovereign congratulations on the entrance of the United States into the great conflict which is now raging."

"The present struggle is especially characterized by the development of the spirit of co-operation throughout the greater part of the world for the maintenance of the rights of nations and the liberties of individuals. I assure your excellency that standing, as our countries now do, associated in this great struggle for the vindication of justice, there will be developed those closer ties of fellowship which must come from the mutual sacrifice of life and property. May the efforts now being exerted by an indignant humanity lead, at the proper time, to the complete establishment of justice and to a peace which will be both permanent and serene."

"I trust your excellency will find your sojourn among us most agreeable and I should be gratified if you would be so good as to make known to his imperial majesty my best wishes for his welfare, for that of your wonderful country and for the happiness of its people. I am most happy to accord you recognition in your high capacity."

TAKES DEGREE AT COLUMBUS.

Charles Wild, of Fort Wayne, one of Soldier 32d Degree Masons.

Among the Blue Lodge Masons to receive the thirty-second degree at Columbus, Ohio, recently, was Charles Wild, of Fort Wayne. The young man is a member of the quarter-master corps, and was recently transferred to the barracks at Columbus. Many members of the army and navy units were initiated at that time, and a celebration was given in their honor. Initiation fees were waived in the case of the soldiers who took degrees. Wild was a member of the Wayne lodge, No. 35.

Since 1891, 30,000 miles of fencing has been erected in the state of South Australia for the purpose of controlling the rabbit pest.

BIG INTEREST FOR HOSPITAL BONDS

County Council in Special Session Decides on Four and Three-Quarters.

Allen county tuberculosis hospital bonds if sold will draw 4 3/4 per cent interest. This decision was reached at a special session of the county council held Friday morning. This is a raise of 1/4 of a cent in interest.

The council ordered that the bonds be issued and advertised as bearing this amount of interest. Instead of being issued in denominations of $1,000 as they were on the first issue, the bonds will now be in denominations of $500 each.

This action of the council was deemed necessary after the bonds failed to find buyers when they were offered for sale several weeks ago. Not one single bid was received for the bonds and as a second effort to dispose of the bonds the interest has been increased.

Western Gas Sued Again.

The Western Gas Construction company was made defendant in another suit filed by the National Supply company. The plaintiffs ask for a judgment of $1,000 on a promissory note which they allege is overdue, interest on this amount since Dec. 2, 1916, and attorney fees of $100.

Court Note.

Rose Kaufman, a nurse, has filed a claim of $67.50 against the estate of Daisy McVey, deceased. The plaintiff states that she nursed the deceased while the latter was delirious.

Dr. Jesse H. Briggs, of Churubusco, has filed claim against the estate of Mary L. Keck asking for $258.00. He states that his services have never been paid for.

Loretta E. Hayes has received her commission as a notary public.

OFFICER BREAKS HAND IN TILT WITH DENTIST

Dr. Kenneth Hatch, dentist, was in the city jail for a time Friday afternoon, when a charge of disorderly conduct was registered after his name on the blotter. He secured his release on bond. His arrest was due to the fact that he grew turbulent in his journeys through the halls of the Noll building, where his office is located. Patrolman Harris was called by other tenants of the building. Hatch resisted arrest, the officer claims. In an effort to strike the man who grappled with him, Harris says, the officer struck a steel post. A bone in the patrolman's hand was broken.

REICHSTAG HAS A LIVELY PEACE ROW

Chancellor Compelled to Clarify Utterances Just Made.

Berlin, Aug. 24.—Berlin was surprised to learn on awakening this morning that the reichstag building yesterday afternoon had been the scene of a political flurry, which assumed varying proportions as seen through the partisan editorial eyeglass. The incident which brought about the temporary disagreement between the majority coalition and the chancellor was the chancellor's somewhat indefinite phrasing of his attitude toward the reichstag peace proposals.

The impression created was that Dr. Michaelis was drumming his endorsement of that action.

During Wednesday's intermission for luncheon the majority party drew up a statement to the effect that there could be no doubt respecting the chancellor's acquiescence in the coalition peace views.

The presentation of this declaration at the afternoon session drew forth a second statement from the chancellor in which he definitely corrected any false impressions that might have been created by his utterances at the morning session. Under stress of this tension the main committee adjourned its sitting.

The chancellor received the party leaders for the purpose of holding a confidential conference.

The unexpected episode, which became known despite the alleged confidential nature of the main committee's deliberations together, gives a section of the press occasion to dilate upon the incident in columns of plain-spoken comment in which the chancellor fares rather badly.

When the committee resumed its session this morning a number of the progressive people's party, speaking for the majority coalition, explained that the chancellor's supplementary statement had cleared up the misunderstanding and that the joint declaration of the majority parties would have been modified or entirely dispensed with if the correcting explanation offered by Dr. Michaelis could have been anticipated.

GIRL BADLY WOUNDED BY A LOVER'S PISTOL

Tipton, Ind., Aug. 24.—Miss Lena Schmidt, 19, daughter of Mrs. Mary Schmidt of this city, who was wounded late last night when she jumped in front of William Havens, and Paul Boswell, 17, who is alleged to have attempted to shoot Havens, is in a serious condition today. Boswell fled and has not been found. Havens was calling on Miss Schmidt. Boswell appeared unexpectedly and without warning is said to have pointed his revolver at Havens.

OBSERVES REFORMATION QUADRICENTENNIAL

Jubilee Service Will be Held by Lutherans at Bingen, Sunday.

Decatur, Ind., Aug. 24.—A jubilee service to commemorate the quadricentennial of the reformation will be held next Sunday, August 26, in the grove of the St. John's Lutheran church at Bingen, by the Lutheran congregations of Adams and Wells counties.

The jubilee services to commemorate the four hundredth anniversary of the reformation will be held next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, in the afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, sun time.

In the morning service Pastor F. Wamburg, of Columbus, Ind., will preach on the theme, "Luther, the Great Prophet of Last Times." Pastor F. J. Keller, of Cleveland, the first of the afternoon service, will preach on the theme, "Luther a Faithful Confessor of His Savior." An English address by Prof. H. B. Hemminger, of Conover, N. C., on "Our Inheritance and Our Obligation," will conclude the services.

A selected mixed chorus will lead in the choral singing of the occasion by rendering, also, several appropriate choruses selections. The offering taken at the services will be added to the Lutheran church extension fund.

Should inclement weather hinder the outdoor celebration, the services will be held in the St. John's church and school.

Those not intending to bring their lunch can get service at the lunch and refreshment stands, where coffee and sandwiches, soft drinks, ice cream, etc., may be bought.

RED CROSS MITE BOX

One of the latest helpers to the Red Cross cause is the "mite box," a little tin affair which is standing just outside the door of the Berry street headquarters for passersby to drop their nickels and dimes. Thursday afternoon early a dollar was dropped into the box. It will be opened again Friday evening, and headquarters officials expect even better results. The headquarters are brightened by the addition of a bunch of gladioli, of rural route 13.

ANOTHER AUTO STOLEN.

A. F. Puls, 2415 Fox avenue, has reported to the police that his Ford car is missing. The machine was taken from the corner of Sixth and Wells streets about 11 o'clock Thursday evening. The number on the runabout is 7149.

GERMAN PAPER SUSPENDED.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Aug. 23.—The Iowa Post, a German language newspaper, suspended publication today. The paper has been intensely pro-German and withdrawal of support by loyal Germans is given as the reason for the suspension. Henry Gundling, its editor, has been before the federal authorities twice.

MAYOR ELABORATES ON PIGGERY PLAN

Would Glean Grease From Garbage Being Cooked for Food.

Mayor W. J. Hosey is making his plans for a city piggery more definite. He will be prepared to explain the full process to the council committee if that organization meets on Friday evening to discuss the garbage situation.

The mayor proposes to make use of the Grand Rapids railroad in hauling the garbage from the city to the county farm, ten miles from Fort Wayne. When the waste cannot be moved at once by rail the mayor would use auto trucks, which he says could make the trip over the highly improved Lincoln highway in a short time.

Large vats for cooking the garbage would have to be erected, the mayor admits. He would cook the refuse by steam heat and would have the grease, which would rise to the surface, skimmed off and sold to soap manufacturers.

The mayor was out to the county farm of 800 acres where he proposes to place the piggery, Thursday afternoon. He states that conditions are good for the caring for the stock. There is not a house within a mile of the region where the pigs would be fed, under the mayor's plan.

Mayor Hosey shows an added boon to his plan from the reason that the price of pork might be lowered for Fort Wayne citizens if the city went into the pig raising business. The land which is now nearly valueless, he states, would be converted if made to serve as a piggery.

WANT PAVING.

Alexander Street Folk Beg Board for Improvement.

A delegation of property owners from the region of Pontiac Place addition attended the board of works meeting Thursday evening and petitioned the board for the paving of Alexander street, and of Pontiac street, from Anthony boulevard to Abbott street. Alexander street is impassible in wet weather, several of the spokesmen explained. There is no mail delivery along the street because of the state of the drive way, it was told. The board members promised to take the matter up at once and to take action on both streets.

A petition for the extension of the water lines on Reynolds and Molitor streets was presented before the works board. The water system extension is especially needed in order to accommodate a sausage factory which is being placed near the end of the street. The petition will be given consideration, but shortage of water pipes will delay construction work, the board members explained.

The assessment roll for the Spy Run sewer was approved by the works board. This is the first real drain line for the Spy Run district. Work on the line will start at once.

The plat for the South Wood Park addition was approved.

Assessment rolls for the following concrete sidewalks were approved by the board: On both sides of Jackson street, from Washington to the alley south of Jefferson; for the south side of Pontiac street, from Calhoun to Fairfield; both sides of Swinney avenue, from Broadway, and both sides of Dawson, from Calhoun to Fairfield. The board also confirmed a resolution for the vacating of 23 1/2 feet of Barthold street, from the right of way of the Lake Shore to St. Mary's avenue, as petitioned by the railway company in order to reduce the width of improvements contemplated by the railway. Assessment rolls were approved for cement sidewalks on the west side of Lantz street, from Tennessee avenue to Delaware avenue; both sides of Pape avenue, from St. Mary's river to St. Mary's avenue; both sides of Superior, from Barr to Harrison, and approved the assessment roll for the sewer in the alley between Lafayette and Clay streets, from Oxford to the alley south of Wiebke street. A resolution was adopted for the construction of a cement sidewalk on both sides of Woodview boulevard, from Hanna street to the alley east of Gay street.

WILL ATTEND BIG F. REWELL.

Lafayette, Ind., Aug. 24.—Mayor Thomas Bauer has issued an appeal to the citizens of Lafayette to attend the farewell demonstration for the First Indiana field artillery to be held in Indianapolis on Sunday. Battery C of this city is a unit in the organization. Scores of citizens from here have signified their intention of attending.

James Russell, messenger for J. A. Foster, foreman of the airplane department of the Pennsylvania shops, has resigned his position and will visit at Lima, Toledo and elsewhere for two weeks. Then he will return to his home in Chicago to resume his studies in the high school.

The new Wisconsin state capitol at Madison cost $7,000,000 and was twelve years in building.

FURTHER PLANS NOT YET MADE

Country District Board May Have to Summon Still More Men.

DISTRICT BOARD HINDERED BY "BULLS"

District Two Board Will Conduct Oral Exams Friday Evening.

Re-examination of men who were rejected upon the first examination occupied the attention and time of the board of country district Friday. Members of the board state that their plans for the future will depend entirely upon the action of the district board on the appeals for exemption.

It is evident, however, that if the appeal board grants the majority of the exemptions that another call for more men will have to be sounded. The percentage of men who claim exemption runs very near being 95 per cent in this district.

Inefficiency on the part of the local boards in districts throughout north-eastern Indiana has hindered the work of the district board to a great extent. The members of the board were busy Thursday afternoon and Friday morning checking up the so-called "bulls."

The board in the second city district has called in a number of men for oral examination for Friday evening. It is asked by the board that those men who are called in should bring the dependents with them.

District boards in the city will soon be in a position to announce the list of men who will be called to Louisville for training.

It is stated that the boards will have to finish their work in a hurry as it is believed that the order for the first thirty per cent of the quota to report will soon be on hand from the war department.

The list of selected men as published in all three Fort Wayne papers from the Third district is said to be unofficial. Both evening papers published the list on Wednesday evening and a morning paper on Thursday morning. Members of the board state that there will be several changes.

HIS FAIR VICTIMS ARE IN ALL STATES

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 24.—With fair victims in almost every state in the union, John F. Beckwith, poet, novelist, soldier and love-letter writer, has been arrested by federal authorities here charged with getting large sums of money by defrauding women, whose confidence he is alleged to have won through expressions of love. He used a "follow up" system of love letters, it is charged, written in masterful English.

Beckwith admitted to federal officers he followed a system in cajoling each victim, studying each separately and declares himself to be "intensely impressionable." His first opiate to his victims usually expressed his desire for love in an impersonal manner but in each succeeding communication his avowal of love became more intense.

When arrested he had a mailing list of seventy-five names including women from Portsmouth, Akron, Deshler, Canton, Columbus, Forestville and Ashland, Ohio. Most of his operations were directed from Albany, N. Y., but he has been in Cleveland since April. He was arrested on a warrant charging him with using the mails to defraud Mrs. A. Peterson, 832 Elm street, Sycamore, Ill. Beckwith says he is a college graduate, holds two degrees and served as an officer in the Boer war. He was born in Norway, he says.

NO MATCHES PLAYED IN STATE TOURNEY

The matches in the semi-finals of the singles and doubles of the State Tennis tournament scheduled for this morning were called off and deferred to later in the afternoon. O'Rourke and Balke were scheduled to meet Stephens and Fisher at 10 o'clock and O'Rourke was to play Appel, of Indianapolis, at 11:30, but both of these matches had to be postponed. Stephens was scheduled to meet Hoag at 3:30 o'clock.

ENDED ARGUMENT.

A young man who has given police the name of Lloyd Rammart, is held in the city jail upon a charge of carrying concealed weapons. It is alleged that he drew a revolver, of ancient design, as a method of ending an argument in the grocery store of Schifman & Son, corner of France and Wayne streets, Friday noon. The police were called by a man who hurried from the store after the alleged gun pointing. The weapon was taken from the young man.

RAID ON JAIL FLATS NETS FOUR PRISONERS

Old Section.

Four prisoners were taken when police raided the jail flats, Thursday night. The two couples will answer an associating charge on next Tuesday. Meantime it is expected that the defendants, who are all colored, will remain in jail.

"The old vice must not raise its head along the former 'red light' row," said Police Chief Lenz Friday morning, in commenting on the raid of the night before. "We expect to keep our eyes on the big houses and whenever we believe there is legal looseness being practiced in the frame palaces there will be wholesale raids. We mean the order that the flats must no longer be a scarlet section."

The four negroes who gave the names of Misses Alpha Reese and Arzene Muzo and Arthur Ross and William Taylor, are held under $50 bond each.

Dismisses Battery.

A veritable battery of witnesses filed into court for a part in the settlement of a Breck street dispute. The twelve women and girls who wished to "speak their mind" were told to march home again as the case will not be waged until Saturday morning.

Clara Murry, 1218 Breck street, and Clara Gulliver, 1208 Breck street, are charged with provoking. They promised to commit assault and battery upon Bertha Brown, one of their nearest neighbors, the affidavit against them read. The trouble, which is claimed to have started the Breck street section of the city, occurred on Thursday afternoon, when the neighbors engaged in an argument.

Scattered Crowd.

A young man in a speeding automobile scattered the crowd of transfer corner hangers-on at midnight Thursday night when he breezed across the intersection of Main and Calhoun street at the rate of twenty-five miles an hour. Patrolman Kavanaugh told in court Friday morning.

The officer commandeered an automobile and gave chase. The pursuit led north on Calhoun street to Eureka street and then west to the Harrison street bridge. At Harrison street the patrolman leaped from the machine in which he was giving chase, to the running board of the speeding car. The unwilling auto party was conducted to police headquarters.

The defendant gave his name to the police as Lorenz Chandler, and the real name is Lorenz Chandler, and the bond of $50 was made in Chandler's name. The young man did not appear in court. He was fined $35 and costs, which amounted to $45.

Caught At Station.

Rapid action on the part of Detective Sergeant Charles Spillner caused him to catch up with Ernest Lanager, 18, just as the young man had purchased a ticket for Toledo, O., Thursday afternoon. The trap, which would have carried the young man from the state, was due in five minutes.

Lanager engaged himself as delivery man for the Kaiser & Baude grocery Thursday. It is claimed that the young man kept money which was paid to him for groceries when he made deliveries. The youth pleaded guilty to a petit larceny charge in police court Friday morning. He was fined $20 and sentenced to 120 days at the reform school.

The young man was clad in the khaki of the United States army when he appeared before Judge H. W. Kerr. He had been a member of the 28th Infantry, he explained. He was dismissed six months ago because of a weak heart, he told. He stole the money because his father demanded board pay, the youth tearfully explained. He has been in the state correction school before, Lanager admitted.

Other Police Court Cases.

Two negroes who were taken from a New York Central railroad freight train, Thursday night, are in conscription difficulties. Walter Obit, one of the colored men, says he was of age on June 28, but he added that he was

DISCOVERY OF SNAKE TRAINED TO STEAL FOR MASTER ENDS A MYSTERY

Special.
Birdseye, Ind., Aug. 23.—The local vigilance committee, organized here after hundreds of dollars worth of poultry, hams, eggs and milk had been stolen, has disbanded, after catching the thief. It proved to be a huge milk snake, trained in thievery by Henry Loose, a squatter living in a cave near town.

Two months ago farmers found their smoke houses and spring houses were being entered mysteriously and the choicest provisions taken.

The town constable sleuthed for a month with no success.

Farmers sat up all night with shot guns trying to trap the thief, but provisions would be stolen right under their eyes.

There was talk of witchcraft and ghosts until Bill Green, a member of the vigilance committee, met the snake on a road one night with a big ham in its mouth. Green pursued, but the snake dropped the ham and escaped.

A meeting of the vigilance committee was called and Mel Rose, president, proposed a strategy which resulted in the capture of the snake and its master.

A hole, just large enough for the snake to enter, was cut in Rose's spring house and a large can of sweetened milk placed on the floor. After the snake had consumed the milk its body was so swollen that it could not get out, and it was captured.

Members of the committee, expert in handling snakes, then tied a cord around its neck and it led them to the cave, where Loose was found with enough supplies to keep him for two years.

The snake will be added to the menagerie in the park zoo, where already there are an owl and a red squirrel.

REVOLTS AT "DIGGING" IN

American Soldier Hard to Teach the New Kind of Warfare.
WANTS TO STAND UP FOR A FIGHT
Went to Europe to Fight Germans and Would Wade Right in.

American Training Camp in France, Aug. 24.—(By the Associated Press.)—One of the greatest problems American officers have before them is impressing upon their men the absolute importance of learning the best ways of keeping under cover. The American soldier is not a natural "digger-in." He is much like his Canadian brother in arms in that respect for it is an old saying on the British front that Canadians will die in the last ditch but never dig in.

Want a Stand-Up Open Fight. It is the American spirit as it was that of the Canadians to up-stake and fight, but the world war has long since passed that stage and now in the long wear and worry of a struggle of attrition the best commander is the one who best conserves his men by keeping them under cover. One of the great reasons why the Germans are still in France and Belgium is their wonderful facility for digging in. They have a perfect passion for it, and an incentive as well, for the allied artillery never ceases to pound them day and night.

The German belief that they can dig faster than a modern army can advance is one of the principles of their defensive tactics. Notwithstanding all that has been told along this line, notwithstanding the heroic efforts to rouse his enthusiasm over the pick and shovel, the American soldier has remained decidedly lukewarm.

Came to Fight. He came to France to fight the Germans, he says, and not to dig a hole and look at them through a spyglass. The French Canadian and Australian soldiers all resent the idea of digging in and who would not admit the necessity of so doing had they not learned by bitter experience the lesson.

It is purely a matter of temperament and there seems to be little doubt now that only actual battle experience will convince American soldiers that the ability to take advantage of any bit of cover is one of the greatest assets the modern man at arms can have.

Shame To Do It. "It seems a shame to have to curb the first-line fighting spirit of our troops," said an American training officer, "but the men must be made to understand as far as possible that impetuosity must be subordinated to steadiness. This has become a time clock war. The men must advance in given time and go no further. Every step of infantry advance must first be worked out with artillery and when the plan is arranged it must be strictly adhered to.

"We realize that it would be difficult to hold our men to this plan. If they see a battle going on, their favorite impulse will be to push on as far as they can, and some are bound to do so just as the Canadians in the earlier stages.

May Have Big Losses. We will undoubtedly have big losses in this way, but the men who come through our first battles will be worth their weight in gold thereafter. They will learn quickly the value of steadiness and absolute discipline under fire and they will be the standing infantry force we can distribute through the newer units of our great army as they get their final preparation for trial by fire.

The natural fighting man, it seems, has a natural antipathy to digging in. Even these late months of the war British Tommies would much rather remain above ground and stand chances of getting killed by shells than to dig deep dugouts so adored by the Germans. In planning the battle of Messines ridge, which was a model of a clean cut victory, the British army commander took into account the fighting man's point of view and when the advance had reached a stage where it gave the British coveted high ground the fighting men were directed to take a rest while specially organized sections were rushed up from the rear to do the necessary digging and consolidating of new trenches so as to make them thoroughly proof against counter-attack.

The result was that the fighting men were unhampered and unworried by the necessity of digging, went forward later in the day and took objectives that were rather hoped for than actually expected.

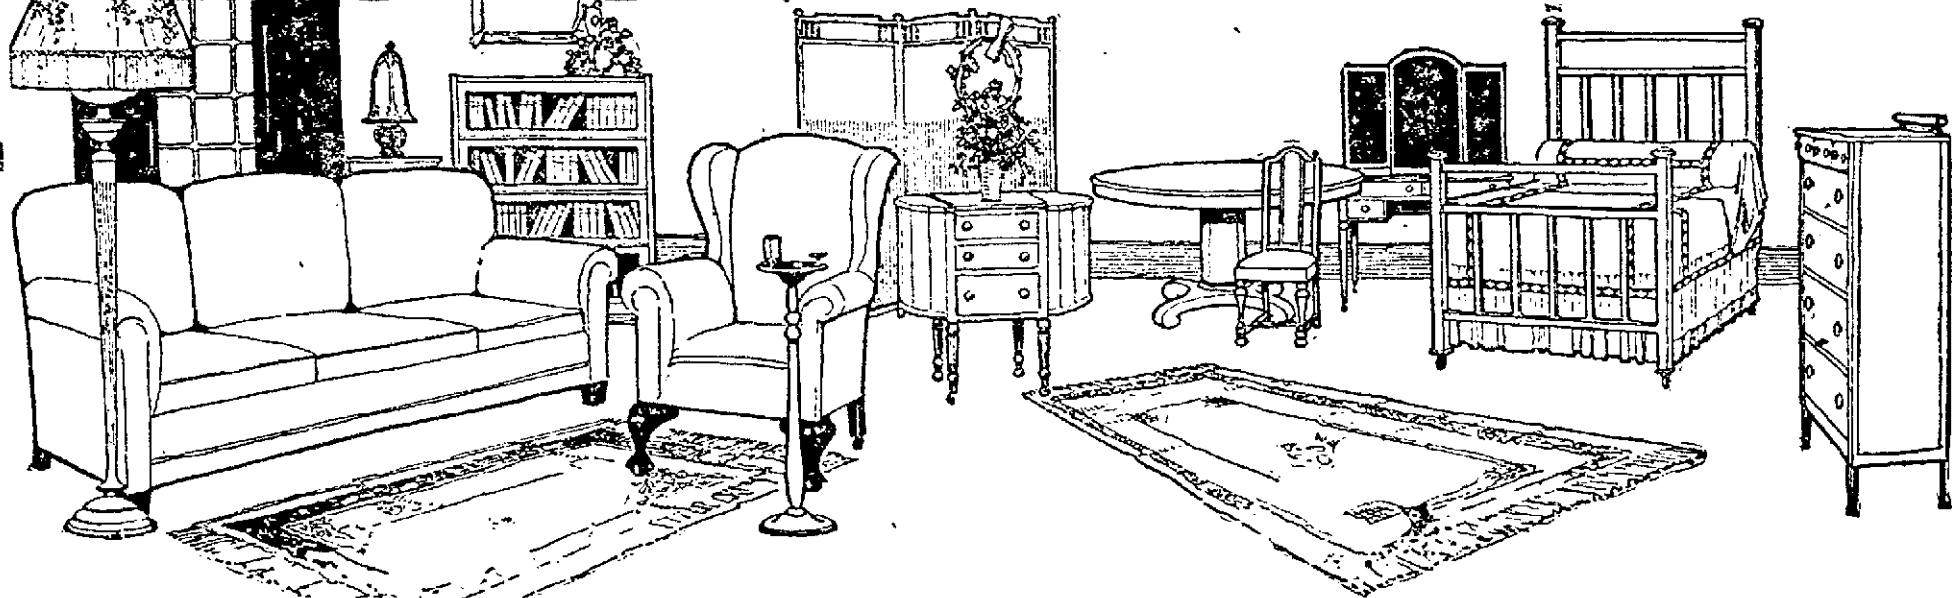

What the Americans Want. These are the tactics the American fighting man would like to see. They appeal to him but just he is being put through a pretty stiff course of digging. This does not apply to digging trenches alone. He is being taught how to dig himself in individually while lying flat on the ground in face of enemy fire, thus getting temporary shelter and the protection of a sort of grave-like excavation. It is not so often nowadays, however, that a man has actually to dig himself in on solid ground for there is seldom an infantry advance made over anything but ground all pitted and torn with shell craters.

Fighting from shell holes is an art in itself and one that Americans must learn before taking their place in the allied lines. German prisoners declare they would rather fight from shell holes on an active part of the front than from a regularly organized trench system, contending that the latter affords the artillery too good a target while shell holes are difficult to deal with.

The Auburn Masons have been extended an invitation to visit the Garrett lodge next Tuesday night and exemplify the initiatory work of the fellow craft degree. The Albion lodge will be guests also and will give the entered apprentice degree and the Garrett lodge the Master Mason degree. Grand Inspector Graham will be present at this meeting and will inspect the three orders at this time.

Orie Gripple, aged 19, a resident of Troy township, drew a thirty day jail sentence and a fine of $1 and costs on a charge of assault and battery with an attempt to rape. The plaintiff in the case was Miss Loretta Fisher, aged 14, who claimed that Gripple attacked her along the roadway on the evening of Aug. 16, while she was on her way to a neighbor. She further stated that he placed his arm around her and pushed her into the ditch but that she got away from him and ran to a neighbor. Gripple is employed as a farmhand. The court was not fully convinced as to the young man's guilt in an attempt to commit a felony hence the above sentence was given.

TOLEDO WOMEN IN MEN'S WORK FIND THEIR ROMPERS AS GOOD TO ROMP IN AS THEY ARE TO WORK IN

It's off with the petticoat and on with the pantaloons—for girls in Toledo factories. These pictures show women employees of the Saxon Manufacturing company ready for work or play in overalls designed by Herman Saxon, head of the company. Donned first to make woman's war work more convenient, the girl employees find the "rompers" an ideal garment for the outdoor recreation, in which they are encouraged by factory heads. "The new garments make women employees less conspicuous to men than the old flimsy waists," is the Toledo verdict.

villages of Anatolia and Roumelia, every tenth man, with his family, of the persons specified above (local bankers, headmen and leading citizens). The selection will be made by lot. In the execution of this deportation no exception will be made in favor of the managers of Ottoman and German banks.

This drastic method has certain obvious advantages for the Turk, for the accusation of hoarding and manipulating the exchange lies not so much against the individual as against the whole community.

In any case it is probable that before the governor is through, the bulk of the inhabitants will be reduced to destitution. Massacre by famine or by the sword, death upon the road to exile, will fall upon many, and while the exchange rate will not be restored, anybody who possesses a coin comes under the charge of hoarding and is likely to suffer.

The people of a half dozen races and creeds come under this modern Turkish version of "Your money or your life."

But Mann may not go, as he reaches the retirement age next July. The youngsters among the major generals are Kuhn, who was 58 last June, and Peyton C. March, not yet 53. March has been designated as chief of artillery with the expeditionary forces in France.

Gen. Kuhn, United States Observer in Germany, is Good Guess.

WHERE MONEY MUST BE MONEY BY FIAT

Turk Governor of Palestine Declares Shipplasters 100 Per Cent Good.

Cairo, Egypt, July 23.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The paper money issued by the Turkish government is not popular in Palestine. Since its issue it has steadily declined in value, and as the native of Palestine has an international reputation for discrimination in matters of finance, it is not easy to hoodwink the people as to the real worth of the greenback currency.

The governor, Jemal Pasha, recently has issued some rather peculiar proclamations insisting that this rise in the local rate of exchange is due to "the evil practice of hoarding real money" and that therefore the practice of hoarding must cease. The proclamations declare that paper money and specie must and shall be equal in value, and to enforce this somewhat arbitrary adjustment of financial values, he states that:

"If our hope to have this adjustment peacefully effected is disappointed, and if by the fifteenth instant articles of any kind, whether food or otherwise, cannot be purchased with paper at exactly the same rate as cash, I shall proceed to deport from the

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—Who'll be the next commander-in-chief of Uncle Sam's army—an army that may soon be the biggest ever assembled under the stars and stripes, and one of the most formidable in the world? Here's Washington's guess: Joseph H. Kuhn, for two years United States military observer in Germany.

The rest of Washington's dope sheet on the army reorganization necessitated by Major General Hugh Scott's retirement as chief of staff next month because of the age limit is: United States commander-in-chief in France, John J. Pershing, with the rank of lieutenant general.

Corps commanders, Generals Peyton March, Thomas Barry and Leonard Wood.

Kuhn and Barry have been most prominently mentioned for Scott's post. Both have been assigned to take charge of sections of the new national army. Kuhn is the scholar type of officer, and has served largely with the engineers. Barry is the fighting type.

The scholar is picked as first choice, and Kuhn has the additional advantage of knowing more about European war methods than any other American because of his two years of observation of the German army.

In choosing corps commanders under Pershing the war department had to take seniority into consideration. A number of major generals, including Leonard Wood, are seniors to Pershing, so they could not serve under him, unless Pershing were made

COST OF LIVING IN JAPAN.

Tokio, Aug. 24.—The steady rise in the price of necessities of life in Japan is calling forth protests from many quarters, especially from the ranks of the salaried workers. In many cases private employees have raised wages to meet the new conditions and the government is considering some measures of advancing salaries. The giving of bonuses already has begun.

The demand for high priced labor in the commercial and manufacturing branches is causing many young men and women to resign from the government service and the result has been that both telegraph and telephone departments have suffered.

Motor plowing increases in England.
A sugar trust is said to have been discovered in the Argentine.

We can do. The greater and mightier the problem the more proudly we shall grapple with it and solve it. We shall fight and conquer until the enemy has had enough of these struggles.

England the Guilty.
"All Germans have realized who is the instigator of this war and who is the chief enemy—England. Every one knows England is our most spiteful adversary. She spreads the hatred of Germany over the whole world, killing her allies with hatred and eagerness to fight. Thus every one at home knows what you know still better, that England is particularly the enemy to be struck down however difficult it may be. Your relatives at home, who, too, have made great sacrifices, thank you through me.

"A difficult struggle lies ahead of us. England, proud of her stubborn resistance believes in her invincibility but you will show that you can achieve still greater things for the price of the war is the German people's freedom to live—freedom at sea and freedom at home. With God's help we shall see the struggle through and be victorious."

COMPLETING FUEL CONTROL

result of the drastic restrictions placed on jobbers' profits.

In case the mines fail to observe the regulations prescribed, the president has the power given him in the food bill to take over and operate the properties. A corporation, similar to the wheat corporation of the food administration has been suggested as a possible means of handling the industry in case the price-fixing does not operate satisfactorily.

Hits All Big Producers.

The anthracite scale for railroad owned which include practically all the big producers, follows:
White Ash—Broken, $4.55; egg, $4.45; stove, $4.70; chestnut, $4.80; pea, $4.65; Red Ash—Broken, $4.75; egg, $4.65; stove, $4.90; chestnut, $4.90; Lyles valley—Broken, $5.00; egg, $4.90; stove, $5.30; chestnut, $5.30; pea, $4.35.

Other producers may charge an advance of 15 cents a ton of 2,240 pounds over the figures set for the railroad owned mines. Those who incur the expense of reconditioning it at Atlantic or lake ports may add an additional 5 cents a ton.

Anthracite jobbers delivering coal at Buffalo and points east of that city will be allowed a maximum profit of 20 cents a ton of 2,240 pounds and those delivering it west of Buffalo may charge an excess of 30 cents. The combined gross profits of any number of jobbers handling a shipment must not exceed the limit of profit set for a single jobber, except that a screening charge of 5 cents may be made on water shipments at Atlantic or lake ports.

Similar to Bituminous.
Bituminous profits for jobbers are fixed at 15 cents a ton of 2,000 pounds, and the same restrictions that govern dealings by a number of anthracite jobbers apply to bituminous transactions.

The president's order forbids railroad-owned mines from selling to other mines and prohibits dealers from selling coal produced by railroad-owned mines on a basis of profit fixed for other mines.

The bituminous jobbers become effective immediately as did bituminous mine prices made public last night.

The coal administration will be organized as soon as Dr. Garfield has completed his work of recommending to the food administration a government price for the 1917 wheat crop. Dr. Garfield's price fixing committee, it was said today would be ready to announce a price within a few days.

Dr. Garfield announced last night he would constitute a licensing system for all coal dealings from the mine to the retailer and that if prices were fixed for retailers the licensing would be extended to cover retail dealings.

Mines All Under Control.
Under the law giving the president control of fuel the government can take over and operate any mines failing to observe regulations prescribed. A corporation similar to the wheat corporation of the food administration was suggested as a possibility to prepare the government to handle the situation if the price fixing plan does not work out satisfactorily. The last resort under the law is government requisitioning of the output of all mines and the sale of it to the public. The organization of an operating and purchasing corporation would provide all the machinery necessary to put the commandeering provision of the law into operation.

Fixing of retail prices presents a tangled problem. Handling costs are not the same in any two cities and a flat gross margin that will assure equitable profits will be hard to fix.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY'S WAR NEWS

The new French assault made less than a week after the beginning of the new offensive was delivered west of the Meuse on a somewhat shorter front than Monday's opening attack, which was on both sides of the river. At the first shock the French, although highly successful, did not obtain all their objectives, and today's attack doubtless was intended to complete the attainment of the ends immediately in view. The French are now masters of all the important points on the Verdun front which they held before the beginning of the great German attack last year.

On the British front the bitter fight for possession of Lens was continued during the night. The official British statement announces that the British now holds German trenches immediately northwest of the Green Crassier, to the south of Lens, and that especially heavy losses have been inflicted on the Germans. Portuguese troops, which are holding a sector in northern France, repulsed German raids in the vicinity of La Bassée.

Heavy artillery fighting continues around Ypres, where the British have improved their positions and successfully withstood counter attacks.

Heavy fighting continues along the Italian front. Rome announces that more than 20,000 prisoners have been taken as well as sixty guns. The Italians have stormed further Austrian positions and broken up violent counter attacks.

BERLIN ANNOUNCES THAT FAMOUS HILL 304 HAS BEEN LOST

Chief commander-in-chief of the Russian forces, in an interview at Moscow asserts that Germany's strategy aimed at driving the Rumanian army from all its positions in order to compel Rumania to conclude a separate peace or to enter into an alliance with the Teutonic allies.

The seat of the Russian government, Gen. Alekxiev continued, must be transferred to Moscow although Petrograd at the present is not really threatened. The situation on the Russian front, he added, though serious, is not hopeless.

HARD FIGHTING AT LENS.

British Front in France and Belgium, Aug. 24.—(By the Associated Press.)—Heavy fighting proceeded throughout the night in the southwest edge of Lens for possession of the great slag heap known as the Green Crassier from the crest of which the Canadians broke through late yesterday after having a foot on it all day. The British this morning were continuing the battle from positions which they had seized north of the Crassier and the Germans were making strenuous efforts to re-establish their shattered defenses on the top of this artificial hill.

The Canadians held the Crassier until late in the afternoon in the face of numerous bitter counter-attacks by strong forces of the enemy. In each case hard hand to hand fighting with the bayonet resulted in the Germans being thrown back with severe losses.

DAYTON TEAM IS WRECKED

he has made arrangements to play an exhibition game with the Lincoln Life team of this city next Sunday afternoon. This will be the last appearance of the Fort Wayne team on the local lot and will therefore close the Central league season in this city.

Manager Johnny Nee, of the Dayton team, telegraphed to Manager Vandagriff that the series of games with his club would have to be cancelled.

MORE MONEY FOR RUSSIA

Secretary Lansing, however, did not alter his decision not to make public any of the recent reports from Russia, as the position taken that the news received from there is a nature that should be given out by the provisional government. Reports from certain officials, regarded as disquieting, have been received within the last week, but Secretary Lansing's flat expression of confidence is the official intimation that opinion was not general. No reports have been received at the department within the last twenty-four hours.

Secretary Lansing pointed out that the recommendations of the Root commission are being carried out. Regarding the military situation Secretary Lansing professed less concern than has been displayed by many observers.

Mr. Gen. Scott, chief of staff, who was a member of the Root commission, said the capture of Petrograd would be only slight strategic loss to the Russians.

Others were assigned to duty in the city. Two soldiers were detailed to each street car in the city and two more were detailed to each street corner in the downtown section. Orders were given to prevent the assembling of citizens in the streets.

City and county officers are co-operating with and following the instructions of the military officers and it is officially stated the situation is so well under control that unless crowds are permitted to assemble there will be no further trouble.

Among the dead is a negro sergeant, Vida Henry, believed to have been the ringleader in the uprising. Henry's body, riddled with buck shot, was found a quarter of a mile from the camp limits.

Horace Moody, one of the wounded police officers who suffered an amputation of the leg, died this morning at the hospital. E. J. Meinecke, another police officer, is the fifteenth victim reported found.

General Hulen's Orders.
The following orders and warnings were issued today:
All citizens will remain in their homes or usual places of business at once.

No citizens not an officer will appear on the streets with arms. Parties will not assemble on the streets.

Saloons will not be permitted to open.

Places of business where arms and ammunition are sold, will remain closed.

(Signed) JULEN.

Statement by the Mayor.

Acting Mayor Moody, of Houston, issued the following statement:

I call upon every citizen of Houston, white and colored, to preserve peace, to go quietly about their business and to rest assured that there is going to be full inquiry and proper punishment for the crimes which have been committed.

It is time for coolness and for careful avoidance of further trouble.

There will be no further trouble if every citizen will carefully see to his own conduct.

Incendiary speech is of no avail.

The situation is well in hand—unless there be studied effort to cause more trouble.

Eighteen of these have surrendered and others are being rounded up by the military patrols as the search for the negro soldiers progresses.

Under military law, it was stated soldiers may be shot for having rioted and tried on their officers.

The rioting, according to best accounts available was caused by ill feeling among the negroes, caused by the treatment accorded some of them by city police. As military police, the negroes patrolled the environs of the city when members of the battalion were released from the camp on pass.

Several minor clashes occurred between the white police and the military, the latest preceding the riot resulting in the arrest of two negro troopers for interfering when a white policeman arrested a negro woman.

Captain Mattes, Illinois national guard officer, who was slain by the negroes, was mutilated almost beyond recognition. Feeling among the Illinois troops is running high and regulars from Fort Crockett at Galveston, have been rushed here.

Start of the Trouble.
The trouble is said to have started after some of the negro soldiers had complained of treatment accorded them by members of the Houston police force. About 9 o'clock some eighty negroes, later being joined by others, formed at their camps and began a march toward downtown Houston.

Lights in residences along the way were shot out and a number of persons wounded as they sat inside their homes. Major Snow, commanding the negro troops guarding Camp Logan, declared that he attempted to control the men when he saw what was about to happen, but they were beyond control and some 150 of them started to shoot promiscuously in the camp and soon scattered in every direction.

An attempt was made to kill Major Snow, he declared.

Negroes Meddle With Police.
According to police reports, the origin of the trouble was the arrest of a negro woman in a downtown section. A negro soldier asked that the prisoner be turned over to him and a refusal led to an argument, the soldier finally being taken to police headquarters. A little later another negro soldier approached the policeman and asked concerning the first man. When told that the negro was at headquarters more words followed and this negro also was sent to headquarters.

Previously the negroes had reported the happening to their officers. A conference followed with Police Superintendent Haddock and army officers, which led to an order being issued to the effect that the negro troops are to be called "colored" troops by members of the police department.

Riot Begins to Brew.
Evidence of the brewing riot became apparent in the evening and Major Snow, in command of the troops, received word that the negroes had entered the ammunition tents and armed themselves. He attempted to quell the negroes but they were already beyond control and had begun to shoot at random while marching toward the city. It was not until the negroes reached the Reichert store at Washington avenue and Sandman road that the taking of life began. Alvin Reichert, 15 years of age, the first victim, was shot by a bullet as he sought safety in his father's store. It was a block further south as the negroes turned in that direction of the Sandman road that Fred Winkler was killed and W. J. Drucks seriously injured.

Sixteen truck loads of federalized national guardsmen were rushed to the seat of the trouble and all the streets were put under heavy patrol.

Negroes Hide and Snipe Whites.
More than 100 armed negro soldiers were said to have hid under buildings in the vicinity of West End baseball park and with their high powered army rifles pursued sniping tactics for a time.

Among those killed was Captain J. W. Mattes, Battery A, Second Illinois field artillery, who arrived here a few days ago to prepare the camp for the regiment which is still in Chicago.

He was shot to death while trying to quiet the negro soldiers, who were firing on soldiers and civilians. He was badly mutilated, his right arm being cut off and his scalp almost torn away.

After the troops rounded up the negroes it was found about seventy of the riotous men were missing.

That the list of dead and wounded would grow as the daylight search progressed, seemed certain.

The dead police officers were among the first to reach the rioting negroes. Rufe Daniels helped to make the arrests yesterday that led directly to the rioting.

Fired Without Warning.
"Patton and Long were mounted and Moody, Wilson, Carter, Driver and I were in an automobile slightly behind them," said Desk Sergeant Wilson. "At the corner of San Felipe and Wilson, we suddenly met them—there must have been at least fifty of them. They opened fire without warning and Patton was shot through the arm and Long's horse was killed. The officers threw themselves to the ground and opened fire. Then the negroes dodged around the corner and when Rufe Daniels went around the corner they opened fire on him."

"He killed one negro but they shot him several times as he lay on the ground. He took to cover and returned the fire. Moody's leg was broken. Patton was shot through the leg and I

FEDERAL CONTROL AIDS COAL STOCKS

Wall Street Looks on the Move as Favorable and Prices Rise.

New York, Aug. 24.—Coal stocks were the strongest features of today's early dealings, the schedule fixed by Washington for the anthracite product evidently being regarded as favorable. Ralls shared more moderately in a rise. Steels, shippings, oils and tobaccos were included among the other active and strong issues at average advances of a point.

Profit-taking caused moderate reactions in coals, but elsewhere improvement over first prices ruled. United States Steel gained a point. Oils, the weakest stocks of the previous day, rose 3 to 5 points and marines strengthened.

Liberty bonds sold at 99.94 to 99.98.

LOCAL MARKETS

DAY'S RECEIPTS ARE HEAVIEST OF SEASON

New Hay Maintains High Mark With Slight Drop in Corn Market.

Receipts on the local markets were heaviest of the season Friday. On the city scales, a total of thirty-three loads were weighed.

Corn suffered a slight drop, farmers selling their grain on the city scales for $1.60 per bushel. Three loads were weighed. Oats deviated but slightly from the top and bottom prices of the previous day, selling for 54c to 60c per bushel. Eleven loads were received at the city scales, partly new and partly old grain.

SHOP AND RAILROAD NEWS

FREIGHT CLERKS GET INCREASE IN SALARIES

Twenty Local Wabash Employees Hear the Good News Friday Morning.

Notices were received at the Wabash freight office this morning of an increase of 10 to 15 per cent. in the wages of the clerks, the same effective the first of September. This means $15 for the chief clerk, $10 for the cashier and $5 to $8 for the other twenty men are affected. Last May, when the wages of the mechanics at the shops were raised, it was predicted that the freight clerks would receive an advance also. While it is not announced here, it is understood that the increase of wages in this class of work is general over the Wabash system.

VISITING OLD FRIENDS.

HAD LEG BROKEN.

Brakeman M. M. Long was brought from Knox last night and taken to St. Joseph hospital with a fractured leg. Mr. Long met with the accident while making a trip with Conductor W. C. Bell by falling from a car at Knox. He is a young married man, having been employed on the road only about a year.

COAL IS GIVEN

THE PREFERENCE

Has Right-of-Way Over All Other Classes of Freight on All Roads.

A drastic order issued by all railways in compliance with instructions from the government gives the movement of "lake" coal preference over all other kinds of freight. It appears there is a shortage at all the docks and other points of consumption in the north and northwest sections and the purpose of the drastic order governing the movement of the coal from the mines to the lakes is to get a big supply on hand at the chief points of consumption before the close of navigation. This order, if it is enforced, a considerable length of time, will very materially affect the traffic and possibly demoralize business of certain kinds for awhile. The order to rush coal shipments becomes effective at once.

Five power department of the B. & O. road, is in the city for a short visit with his uncle, H. G. Granger, of Berry street.

The Patternmakers local union will give their annual outing at Robison park Saturday. The turnout has always been heavy, and a large crowd of union members and their families and friends are expected Saturday.

G. F. Enrick, Pennsylvania motive power inspector, who had been at Rome City three or four weeks, returned home last night and this morning resumed his duties at the motive power offices.

B. E. Bowman, third track switch tender at Clinton street, on the Pennsylvania, has entered upon a two weeks' vacation, which will be spent at Richmond, Va.; Norfolk, Fort Monroe, Baltimore, Washington, Philadelphia and other eastern points.

Business connected with the draft is occupying the attention of E. W. Bailey and H. F. Adair, of the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, today, and they did not report for work. Private business is also attracting attention from George McCoy, of the same shop.

The B. & O. has resorted to calling retired mechanics and road men into service when they are able to work to help out during the scarcity of men. This is in accordance with the provisions of the rules of the retirement system.

It is rumored here that the federation of the Wabash system, which embraces the five crafts employed at the shops, is preparing to present a petition to the management for a wage of 50 cents an hour, or $4 for an eight-hour day. There is no threat of strike, it is alleged, to force this wage scale.

The party of men from the Pennsylvania motive power department who were engaged in making a center of gravity test near Pittsburgh yesterday, returned to the city this morning. Among the party were J. Frank Kelker, Frank Richter, J. F. Gelder, H. E. Jacobs, O. F. Hambrook, A. H. Diem and A. D. Huff.

A card received at the office of Road Foreman of Engines C. E. Maxwell, of the Pennsylvania, this morning, stated that the writer, Joseph C. Brake, was having a good time and would show up for duty in a day or two. The card was written at Dayton, Ohio. Mr. Brake is a clerk in Mr. Maxwell's office.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lerch and Miss Myrtle Lerch, of 1015 East Wayne street, left this morning on a tour of the lakes which will cover a period of ten days. They will first stop a day with friends in Detroit. Mr. Lerch is a Pennsylvania machinist and Miss Lerch is a stenographer in the Bowser main office.

E. F. Thompson, assistant to President H. R. Kurrie, of the Monon, is in the city on business for the company and incidentally to visit his brother, Mearle Thompson, of the Wabash master mechanic's office. Mr. Thompson called at the Pennsylvania motive power offices this morning to exchange notes with Chief Clerk C. N. Brentlinger on railway matters.

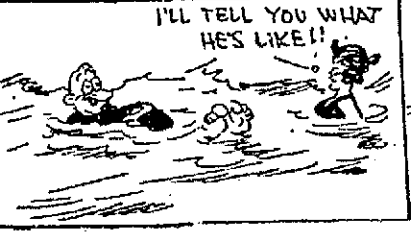

The one-story, saw-tooth roofed building on the north side of the site of the Horton Manufacturing company's plant, on Osage street, is nearing completion and will be the first of the new buildings finished. It is 200 feet square. Construction work on the other buildings is also well advanced. Buesching, Hageman & Company is the contracting firm.

"Lots of freight trains moving, but many of the cars are empty," is the situation on the Pennsylvania today, according to one of the men connected with the operating department. "Tomorrow the conditions are they refer to the loaded cars may be reversed," added the man. "The cars are being rushed to points where they are to be loaded and they will be coming back loaded in a day or two."

Train Dispatcher T. J. Costello, of the Pennsylvania, resumed his duties this morning after a two weeks' vacation, which was spent quietly at home with the exception of a visit to the baseball games two or three times when games were on Harry Anders and L. ## MAXWELL SUCCEEDS H. T. SYMPSON

Pennsylvania Road Foreman of Engines Heads Y. M. C. A. Committee.

E. E. Greist, president of the Fort Wayne Y. M. C. A., announces that O. E. Maxwell, road foreman of engines, western division of the Pennsylvania lines west, has accepted the chairmanship of the committee of management of the railroad department. This position has been vacant for some weeks owing to the resignation of H. T. Symson, who removed to Cleveland after being promoted to another position with the Pennsylvania lines on that division.

O. E. MAXWELL.

Mr. Maxwell at the same time succeeded Mr. John H. Hanna as road foreman of engines. Mr. Maxwell has been in the employ of the Pennsylvania company for twenty years, and is very well known and popular among Fort Wayne railroad men. He has been thoroughly interested in Y. M. C. A. work for many years, and will take hold of the responsibilities connected with this new position with earnestness and enthusiasm.

Mr. Greist also announces that Walter D. Erickson, freight conductor on the Nickel Plate, has accepted membership on the railroad department committee of management, and with Mr. Raymond E. Hiesel will represent the employees of that road on the committee of management. This committee will have its next regular meeting on Tuesday evening, Sept. 11, at which time they will take up a number of very important plans affecting the future of this department of the Y. M. C. A.

The state executive committee of the Y. M. C. A. as a part of its campaign to serve "soldiers of the soil," as well as soldiers on the firing line, has added a new department. This is a department of county work, whereby Y. M. C. A.'s will be organized as rapidly as possible in each county of the state under the direction of Mr. R. L. Donnan, state county-work secretary.

Mr. Donnan comes to this work from a successful experience in Lake county, Ohio. Under his direction county organizations will be formed and county secretaries secured to organize boys and young men in all towns and villages of the county to carry on athletic, social, educational and religious activities. This will mean great things for the boys of the farms and villages and small towns all over the state.

TALES TO MOTHERS ABOUT SONS.

Mother! Lend me your ears! Use the rod for a fishing pole. I've come to praise little Roscoe, not to whollop him. That's all you think young fellows are for, licking, scolding and running errands. I am here tonight to defend kids and show you your errors. I was a kid myself once and can prove it. What do you mothers know about young fellows? None of you was ever a little boy. You favor and pet little girls but boys are all scallawags. That's where you are wrong. How about it, lads? Aye and then some! It seems boys were invented so mothers would have someone to scold while pa was away during the day, so's they wouldn't get out of practice. Eh, wot kids? You said it!

Don't forget mothers, some day maybe little Hank may be president, then won't you wish you had been nice to him. Say kids, all of you strive to be president when you grow up and then your ma will feel sorry. Don't strive to be congressman or we'll all be sorry.

SAYS WAR PRESAGES END OF THE WORLD

at Wabash Recalls Predictions of Long Ago.

Wabash, Ind., Aug. 24.—The Seventh Day Adventists of Indiana, at their annual camp meeting here, continue to discuss the fulfillment of biblical prophecies from their viewpoint. L. H. Christian, of Chicago, president of the Lake Union conference, said: "There is more prophecy fulfilled in a month now than there was in fifty years some centuries ago. We need to study the prophecies of the bible that relate to our time. Never have we faced such momentous issues as we face now. God has spoken of our time and of the great events that are now taking place. The prophecies are being fulfilled before our very eyes."

"The prophet Jeremiah predicted the present war as one of the last great events to occur before the second coming of Christ. He says, 'I am pained at my weary heart; my heart maketh a noise in me; I can not hold my peace, because thou hast heard, O my soul, the sound of the trumpet, the alarm of war.' See Jer. iv, 19-20. According to the bible the whole world will be plunged into war and into a great final trouble."

"At this point Mr. Christian read a statement made by Mrs. E. G. White, twenty-seven years ago, in an appeal to the youth to prepare for that which was before them, and published in the official organ of the denomination, the Review and Herald, of February 17, 1890. The appeal follows: "The tempest is coming and we must get ready for its fury, by having repentance toward God, and faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ. The Lord will arise to shake terribly the earth. We shall see troubles of all sides. Thousands of ships will go down, and we shall see human lives sacrificed by the millions. Fires will break out unexpectedly, and no human effort will be able to quench them. The palaces of earth will be swept away in the fury of the flames. Disasters by rail will become more frequent; collision, confusion and death without a moment's warning will occur on the great lines of travel. The end is near; probation is closing. O let us seek God while He may be found, and call upon Him while He is near."

Another Prediction.
Mr. Christian read another statement published by Mrs. White a number of years ago. It follows: "More and more, as the days go by, it is becoming apparent that God's judgments are in the world. In fire and flood, and earthquakes, He is warning the inhabitants of this earth of His near approach. The time is nearing when the great crisis in the history of the world will have come, when every movement in the government of God will be watched with intense interest, and inexpressible apprehension. In quick succession the judgments of God will follow one another—fire and flood and earthquake, with war and bloodshed." "These predictions are being fulfilled in our day," said Elder Christian. "Already 2,000 ships have been sunk in the war, millions have gone down in death, and the end is not yet."

OLD PAPERS UNEARTHED.
Curiosities Come to Light in Kendallville Hardware Store.

Kendallville, Ind., Aug. 24.—C. W. Shaw, of the Stinson hardware store, while unpacking some stoves, came across a package of old papers, used in the packing, some of which rank in the curiosity class. Copies of the Boston Weekly Journal, dated February, 1847, are old enough and unusual enough to merit notice. These papers are eight-column quarto and are entirely without sign of a double-deck head. Indeed, headlining must have been an unknown art at that time, since the most of the news stories have no introductory headline at all. The print is apparently all handset and the pages are well-nigh free from advertising. The chief news features are stories, half news and half editorial comment upon the Mexican war and the doings in congress. Little attention was given to local happenings. A curious feature, as it would be viewed today, is a prose translation of Homer's Odyssey, run as a serial. It may be added that the Boston Journal, which was started in 1833, is still in existence, being now a daily with a circulation of perhaps 75,000 papers.

WILL SOON GO TO EUROPE.

Mayor and Mrs. Mock, of Bluffton, Planning Trip.
Bluffton, Ind., Aug. 24.—Mayor John Mock and wife left last evening for a trip to Washington, D. C., and Mayor Mock said that they expected to be gone until Tuesday. Their trip to the national capital has to do with their preparations to leave soon for a trip to Europe, for a visit to England and France and other allied countries, during which they also will look after matters pertaining to war hospitals which Mrs. Mock was instrumental in helping establish and maintain in London and Paris.

The record of Mrs. Mock's activities in the hospital work will mean that the United States authorities as well as the governments of the allies will grant them board liberities in traveling to various points in the countries at war. The trip to Washington also will include discussion of plans to make the handsome Mock home here a United States war hospital.

WILL NOT RESUME WORK.

Winona College of Agriculture to Remain Closed.

Warsaw, Ind., Aug. 24.—The Winona College of Agriculture will not open its doors this year. Definite announcement of this was made by Dr. J. C. Breckenridge, president of the agricultural school.

The closing of the school results from a misunderstanding regarding the management of the school—an effort to federate it with Winona college having failed to bring satisfactory results. The Winona College of Agriculture has been in operation for eight or ten years, and had reached the point where it was recognized as one of the standard agricultural schools of the country.

EXAMINING FOR THE ARMY.

Kendallville, Ind., Aug. 24.—Noble county's conscription board is busy at Albion, examining eighty more men coming under the selective draft, who will be subject to military service and may be called upon to fill a portion of the quota of forty-three men required of Noble county in the first draft. The eighty men, in other words, will be held in reserve, but from present indications will not be called upon for service at once. Today the board is re-examining married young men who were exempted on the grounds of a dependent wife and have no dependent children. It is possible that some provision will be made whereby all the sons of one family will not be taken, according to announcement by Provost Marshal Crowder. It is understood that a new definition of the status of married men is to be worked out.

HAS HOT PISTOL FIGHT.

Elkhart, Ind., Aug. 24.—Sergeant Walter Damer, of the Elkhart police, fought a revolver battle with five men believed to be automobile thieves, and captured three of them. The men told the police the car they were driving, which had an Ohio license number, had been stolen in Chicago by the two men who escaped. The men registered as Paul Fording, of Omaha, and William Morley and Samuel McCarty, of Detroit.

Sergeant Damer was asleep at his home when a woman, who had seen the five men with the automobile, called him. The officer, still in sleeping apparel, attempted to arrest the men, who opened fire. After an exchange of shots, three surrendered and were loaded into a grocer's wagon and taken to jail.

Mrs. Henry L. Haas

Mrs. Henry Haas has passed her examinations as a Red Cross nurse and ambulance driver and is ready to sail from New York to do her share for the allies. Though Tristan is a German police dog, Mrs. Haas expects him to drag more wounded allies to her ambulance than several ambulance assistants could recover from the battlefield.

and best known citizens of Kosciusko county, died at his home Thursday of neuralgia of the heart. He was up town and seemingly feeling as well as usual Wednesday evening. Mr. Rippey, who was 72 years of age last March, was one of the most widely known and respected men of the county. He had lived in Plain township all his life and his sudden death leaves to mourn his demise a host of friends and a wife, three children—Charles E. Rippey, Warren, Ind.; David E. Rippey, Millford, and Mrs. L. L. Kemper, Laporte. The deceased was a member of the town board of Leesburg, and had always been associated with the community problems of Plain township.

DEKALB DRAFT BOARD ASSAILED

Waterloo, Ind., Aug. 24.—There have been some ugly charges made against the local draft board at Auburn, charging them with allowing politics to enter the deliberations of the board and that certain men have been exempted owing to their politics and that the favoritism has been shown to either democrats or republicans who were expected to give their influence to certain members of the board in the future. The charges have been made by parties of all political faiths, and as near as can be ascertained there is no foundation for the charges. It appears that the local draft board has exempted all men who made claim for exemption on the ground of having dependent wives or dependent wives and children.

RESQUES TWO FROM WATER.

Wabash, Ind., Aug. 24.—Maurice Goodwin, of Indianapolis, who is here attending the state meeting of the Seventh Day Adventists, saved Helen Gordon, age eleven, and a boy, whose name was not learned, from drowning in the Wabash river here yesterday. Goodwin was watching a number of boys in bathing when one of them sank. The lad's companion hurried to the shore while Goodwin pulled off his coat and rescued him after he had gone down the second time.

Two hours later Goodwin was standing on the river bank watching some men employed on the construction of a bridge. It was then that the little girl, accompanied by a number of playmates, waded into the stream and was soon beyond her depth.

the history of northeastern Indiana will be staged in Kendallville next Saturday afternoon and evening, and will be in the nature of a community festival in honor of Company D. The frolic will start promptly at 12 o'clock noon and will continue until midnight. Never before in the history of the city have such extensive and elaborate plans been laid for a rousing celebration such as will be held Saturday. The keys of the city will be given to the soldier boys on this day, and no stone will be left unturned to make the gala event a decided success in every sense of the word.

WOMEN NEED NOT FEAR TO SIGN PLEDGE CARDS
Government Will Not Take Their Canned Food from Them Without Pay.

(By the State Council of Defense Publicity Committee, George Ade, Chairman.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 24.—Women of Indiana are not being asked to sign the canning and Hoover food conservation cards in order that a federal agent, at some later date, may exact from them, without payment, the fruits and vegetables they have preserved for the approaching winter.

No one will be called upon to furnish the United States government with supplies, whether it be in food for the soldiers or bullets for the guns, without being paid a fair and reasonable price.

The signing of the canning cards, as has been often repeated, is solely for the purpose of assisting in the compilation of a survey of the available foodstuff in the country, so that when the emergency exists the national food administrator will have an idea where the food is, and what its relative value.

The Hoover cards are intended altogether to identify the patriotic household that has for its object the conservation of food, the elimination of waste and the substitution of something equally nourishing for some of the meat and the wheat the American people must now share with their allies, if the war against Germany is to be won.

The service cards are for use by the census department of the government, which if called upon expects to be able to point out to the authorities where available women may be found who are capable and willing to substitute for the man-power withdrawn from business and the industries.

No woman will be asked to give up any of the food she has preserved for the use of the federal government, except that she offers same for sale and receives a fair price in return. Absolutely none of it will be taken from her forcibly. It is only those who attempt to influence the market by hoarding, who will feel the weight of Uncle Sam's mailed fist.

No woman will be forced into any sort of involuntary service, even though she may have all the essential qualifications for replacing a man. She will be given the opportunity to volunteer to do the work, if the government finds occasion to call on women, or needs them, but she retains her personal and individual rights to serve or not, as she chooses.

Friends of the Kaiser are seeking to interfere with the work of enrolling the women of the state. The state council of defense vouchers for the truth as set forth above. Women who understand are asked to assist in removing any doubt that may linger in the minds of those who have been deluded by traitors.

THE EVENING SENTINEL FILLS WOMEN'S NEEDS
Just now, in addition to the many reasons prevailing in ordinary times, there are numerous special reasons why the women who buy food and other supplies for the family should not let a day pass without a careful reading of every page of the Evening Sentinel.

Skip nothing. Read the news columns, editorials, selected women's features, the market page, store news of Fort Wayne merchants, want-ads—everything—as all hold money-saving suggestions.

EXAMINING FOR THE ARMY.

Kendallville, Ind., Aug. 24.—Noble county's conscription board is busy at Albion, examining eighty more men coming under the selective draft, who will be subject to military service and may be called upon to fill a portion of the quota of forty-three men required of Noble county in the first draft. The eighty men, in other words, will be held in reserve, but from present indications will not be called upon for service at once. Today the board is re-examining married young men who were exempted on the grounds of a dependent wife and have no dependent children. It is possible that some provision will be made whereby all the sons of one family will not be taken, according to announcement by Provost Marshal Crowder. It is understood that a new definition of the status of married men is to be worked out.

Strife Centers About the City of Butte, and Its Triangular Fight.

(By BENJAMIN E. LING.)

Butte, Mont., Aug. 19.—(By Mail.)—I find centered in this mining town nearly all the industrial strife that for several months has crippled the great copper camps of Montana, Idaho, Utah, New Mexico and Arizona, and that had led to lynchings of I. W. W. leaders, deportations of I. W. W. members, and charges that this "revolutionary" labor organization is financed by German gold.

From Butte, "Wobblly" orators and agitators have penetrated the copper regions of the west, stirring up strikes. In Butte the I. W. W.'s have waged their fight to break up the old Western Federation of Miners, now known as the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

In their fight against the mine owners, the I. W. W.'s have sought to with the American Federation of Labor. This has become a three-cornered fight between the A. F. of L. unions, the "Wobblies" and the mining magnates.

Result.—At the moment of the government's large demand for copper, the output has been seriously curtailed by strikes.

An indication of the intensity of feeling was evidenced here in the lynching of Frank Little, a fortnight ago, I. W. W. leader.

The I. W. W. leaders called out 12,000 miners here, though less than one-third of them were affiliated with miners' organizations. About 5,000 strikers have left to take jobs in mining camps elsewhere or to work in harvest fields.

As is the I. W. W. custom, no demands were made before the men walked out. Later the leaders presented their demands and organized what is now called the Metal Mine Workers' union. Officials of this organization strenuously deny it is an I. W. W. group, but all the "Wobblies" belong to this union and are active in its leadership.

The demands of the miners are: Abolition of the rustling card, establishment of a flat $8 a day wage, elimination of the sliding scale, better working conditions.

The rustling card is the principal contention. Leaders say this merely is a variation of the blacklist.

A rustling card is given a miner when his application for a job has been acted upon favorably. To get this card he must tell where he has worked during the previous two years, and other facts about himself, giving reasons for being out of a job.

The Speculator mine disaster in which 170 men lost their lives, June 8, added to unrest among the miners. The living cost in Butte, always high, has risen over 50 per cent in the last year. Wages of miners have gone up 18 per cent.

Since the strike was called, the big mining companies, notably the Anaconda and the Great Butte have offered the men another increase of 25 and 50 cents a day.

Their offer is based on a sliding scale depending upon the market price of copper. When copper is selling for between 15 and 17 cents a pound, the miners would get a minimum wage of $4 a day, while when it is selling for 23 cents a pound the miners would get $4.75 a day and so on up to $6 a day.

Miners here say that merchants have raised their prices whenever the miners got a wage increase.

W. H. Rogers, federal mediator, trying to settle the strike, advised I. W. W. members to join the A. F. of L. union and go back to work.

This aroused the I. W. W.'s to a bitter attack on Rogers and on President Wilson.

They insist they want the government to take over the mines. They say if this is done, copper can be sold for less than 16 cents a pound and the miners can get $8 a day for six hours' work.

The mine operators won't deal with the I. W. W.'s, who refuse to sign any agreements for any length of time.

There's much talk about German gold being given I. W. W. leaders to of L. methods, beat Haywood, "direct action" apostle. Haywood's men in the I. W. W. camp here are now fighting the more conservative Moyer men. The miners grew discontented when they saw the price of copper rise from 13 cents a pound to over 30 cents and understood the millions of profits this meant to the mine owners, while they—the workers—were having a struggle to live with the scanty increase in pay compared with the big raise in the cost of living.

There has been much anti-war agitation in Butte. Blame for it has been placed at the doors of I. W. W. agitators, Finns, Austrians and Sinn Fein Irish. Federal officials, preparing to cope with this situation now, think they can remedy it.

WORLD'S GREATEST CO-OPERATIVE EFFORT

How California Citrus Fruit Growers Manage Their Marketing.

BY JACK JUNGMEYER.

Staff Special.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 24.—How 8,000 California citrus fruit growers are today conducting the world's largest co-operative enterprise is an achievement that ever producer and consumer in the United States might profitably study.

It is the story of how the California Fruit Growers' exchange kicked the gouging manipulator out of a great industry—the story of an harassed competitive world that turned.

And it was some turn! Where, not many years ago, rapacious middlemen, heavy mortgages and starvation returns made orange ranching here a nightmare, the status of the producer is today one of enviable prosperity.

Aggregate returns to the growers in the association this year promise to exceed those of 1916 when 29,223 car loads of lemons and oranges were collectively marketed with a shipping point value of $27,703,000 and a delivered value of $38,500,000.

In the manipulator's heyday these men were victimized to a point where they were often given but 10 cents per box for oranges costing 50 cents to produce.

The change has been brought about without increased cost to the consumer. Collecting selling turned the trick.

It represents the tremendous triumph of team work—an industrial lesson America must quickly learn to be 100 per cent. effective in the world war.

The California orange growers, beginning with the old shillboeths of free competition and the devil-take-the-hindmost, soon found that in union lay not alone strength, but actual existence as a producer.

What the middlemen did to him in the beginning was plenty plus!

Gropingly, the orange men began to organize. Disrupted by half-way measures, a second and tighter association was perfected. This today is the California Fruit Growers' exchange, on a purely co-operative basis.

United under 145 local bodies, the 8,000 citrus fruit growers maintain 17 sub-exchanges, representing 87 per cent. of this industry in the state.

Each member is under contract to his local association to deliver to it all the fruit he produces. He brings his lemons and oranges, grown to standard, to the local packing plant. There they are mechanically graded, washed, cleaned and packed by the prescribed, expert exchange methods.

All the fruit is put together by grades. Each grower gets a certificate showing the exact amount of each grade he has furnished. When the returns come back, often within 24 hours of sale, he shares proportionately in the proceeds.

Policies and business matters are determined by a board composed of one delegate from each local association.

Aside from his prosperity, the effect upon the grower has been one of benefit to the consuming public. His care now is to produce good and increasingly better fruit.

He knows that his product stands squarely on its merits now and will bring him just what the actual market demand warrants.

There is no gouging. No one else is getting the benefit of his labor. He—collectively—is the seller as well as producer.

The marketing field is divided into six territories covering the United States and Canada, each with a center where marketing conditions and needs can be instantly learned and met. The exchange has 77 main selling agencies supplying 3,500 jobbers in the 700 sub-districts, to which it ships in car load lots. The fruit is then handled by 300,000 retailers.

Driven to unite in self-defense, the fruit growers have today probably the best organized, most smoothly efficient teamwork institution in the United States. They used their brains.

Pains in the Stomach and Bowels.

Owing to the great distress which this disease occasions, every family should keep at hand the proper medicine for its relief. Mrs. L. E. Sinks, Centerville, Ill., writes, "My father has kept Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house as long as I can remember, and when he has taken it, to my knowledge it has given him the desired relief."—Advertisement.

AGED 100; STILL WORKS HARD.

Grand Island, Neb., Aug. 24.—"I do more work than any two men in the county," declared "Uncle Pete" Starr, of Dunning, Blaine county, Nebraska's only centenarian, in a recent interview. Born in Genesee county, New York, April 8, 1818, Mr. Starr has just been chosen assessor for Dunning precinct for 1918. A position whose duties he has performed for eight years. He was assessor of Blaine county the preceding four years. In his early life, Mr. Starr taught school in New York and Indiana. He never has worn spectacles and makes the statement that he has used tobacco and whisky all his life.

Bilious Attacks.

You wonder what upset your stomach. Never felt better in your life yesterday—now you have a bad bilious attack. Cure that first, then look for the cause. Keep quiet, abstain from food for one day, take three of Chamberlain's Tablets. Drink plenty of water. This will clean the fermenting food and bile out of your stomach, tone up your liver and move your bowels. You will soon be all right again. If you have these bilious attacks at irregular intervals, abstain from coffee and red meats and you may avoid them.—Advertisement.

Chiefs Take Third Straight Over Reaper Pennant Chasers

Glockson's Long Homer Gives Warriors Clean Sweep of Series.

Just to show their double victory over the Springfield Reapers in the first game of the series was no fluke, the Chiefs went out yesterday and took the clean sweep and blasted whatever hopes the Harvesters may have had of winning the Central league rag this year. The score of the final game was 7 and 1 and the warriors again pulling out by the skin of their teeth by virtue of a great clutch by Glockson which sailed over the scoreboard in left-center field.

Wallace Warmoth was the winning pitcher for the Warriors, the big left-hander finally getting away with a game after all kinds of tough luck in his earlier starts. He was somewhat wild and also had a tendency to boot the short ones that the Reapers dropped at his feet. Many of the hits scored for the Reapers were fakes.

Opposing Warmoth was Jake Fromholz, veteran of many summers. The Chiefs got seven hits off the German, and most of them were clean ones. The Warriors got away to a good start in the first inning when they scored one on hits by Breauz, Miller and Kelly. That was all the scoring until the seventh, when big Mr. Glockson caught hold of a fast one, and gave it a ride over the score board, one of the longest hits ever seen on the local park.

Although they were threatening all the way the Reapers could not get one over until the ninth. In this inning Wright singled and went to second on Dunn's out. Haines was sent in to bat for Fromholz and he came through with a hit over second, sending in one run. With a runner on second, Alton was sent in to bat for Fahlinman. He failed to connect, however, fanning for the third out.

The grand opportunity for the Reapers came in the seventh but they failed to take advantage of it, chiefly through a double play, unassisted, by Shorty Breauz. Three were on base, with nobody gone, when Cleveland hit a short fly to center. The little Frenchman came in on a run, caught the ball and came on running, touching second for the second out. Dunn was then caught off third for the final out of the inning.

WEALTHY FARMER OF WHITLEY COUNTY DIES

Chas. W. Alexander, Owner of Much Land, Closes Life Spent There.

Columbia City, Aug. 23.—Charles W. Alexander, aged 62 years, one of the most prominent farmers in Whitley county, and owner of over 400 acres of land, died Thursday forenoon at 11:30 o'clock at his home in Washington township, after an illness dating back to last May, from what is believed to have been cancer, complicated by diabetes of long standing. He was born in the township in which he died to the late Sylvester and Vestha Alexander, and is the last of the family. He was wedded in 1876 to Miss Lydia Schrader, who survives, as do the following children: Gilbert, George and Leon, of Washington township, and Grace and Wilbur at home. He joined the U. B. church in early life. His physician, Dr. O. V. Schuman, and Dr. H. A. Duesling, of Fort Wayne, in the presence of several members of the Whitley County Medical association, conducted a post mortem late Thursday afternoon.

Aged Woman Dies.

Mrs. Rebecca Lengle Slater, aged 66 years, daughter of the late John and Catherine Lengle, of Huntington county, where she was born, and widow of Warren Slater, who died in Washington township eleven years ago, passed away Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Huffman, southeast of South Whitley, after an illness of several months from complications. She had resided in South Whitley for the last several years and up until her illness last February. She leaves her daughter, a son, Esther, of Chicago, and a step-son, Milton, of South Whitley; a sister, Mrs. Ellen Klein, and a brother, John Lengle, of Huntington county. The deceased was a member of the M. E. church.

Whitley County Draft.

Up until Thursday noon the total number of men in the second class of 270 men accepted for service was 144, with 69 rejections, and between 50 and 60 more to be examined Thursday afternoon.

No further drawings upon the draft list of 1,242 names in Whitley county will be made until the final report is made by the district board as to the number of men accepted for service, after industrial claims have been allowed. The county's quota is 118.

Churches to Re-Unit.

The congregations of the St. John's and St. Peter's German Lutheran churches in the Eberhard settlement, southwest of the city, will re-unite after 37 years of separation, incurred by differences arising, and causing part of the congregation to leave the brick church, and erect a frame church, known as the St. Peter's church. Rev. H. G. Jungkuntz, of this city, present pastor of the St. Peter's church, will have charge. The pastor of the St. John's church until recently, was Rev. W. A. P. Grimm.

Minor Notes.

The Whitley county teachers' institute, lasting five days, begins here Monday morning, September 3. The speakers will be Prof. R. D. Calkins, of the Central State Normal school, Mt. Pleasant, Mich., instructor in geography, and Prof. M. A. Lelper, of the State Normal school at Bowling Green, Ky., instructor in language. Prof. Milton R. Harris, of Kimball Hall, Chicago, will instruct in music.

Over 175 members of the South Whitley High School Alumni association, enjoyed their annual picnic and pig roast at the Fox grove, south of South Whitley, Thursday. A business meeting was held in the forenoon in the school building, and the old officers re-elected, viz: Fred Fox, president; Earl Emerson, secretary, and Douglas Swartz, treasurer. An auto parade, headed by the South Whitley band, featured the forenoon, and in the evening a play, "The School at Hickory Hollow," was given in the K. P. hall. Supt. A. R. Flock and John Glinder and family, of this city were present.

The old crowds of 1885 to 1890 held a joint reunion Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Dietrich, of Larwill. A delicious picnic dinner was enjoyed, and later held a song service singing reminiscent hymns of decades ago. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. ### TELLS OF BATTLE OF VIMY RIDGE

Henry Strohm, of Canadian Army, is at Parents' Home at Craigville.

Bluffton, Ind., Sept. 7.—Walking with a cane as the result of shrapnel wounds in the leg received in trench fighting in France, Sergeant Henry Strohm, of the Canadian army, former clerk in the Bluffton postoffice, arrived at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Strohm, at Craigville, yesterday afternoon for a brief visit. He told a Banner reporter over the telephone this morning that he will be in Bluffton tomorrow enroute back to Canada. Within two weeks, he said, he will be back on the firing line.

Strohm said he was in the hospital five months as the result of the wounds he received. It is said he was at the front just three weeks when he received the injuries and was given a furlough and permitted to come home. When he arrived home Strohm was dressed in the British uniform.

Strohm received his injuries in the battle of Vimy Ridge, one of the greatest battles of the European war. After recovering sufficiently he was returned to Canada and then went to Detroit, where he took special treatment. The word that he was with the Canadian troops came as a complete surprise to Strohm's many friends in this city. It is said he enlisted last

TWO PRISONERS ESCAPE.

Two Others Too Large to Crawl Through Hole.

Marion, Ind., Sept. 7.—James Penrod, charged with stealing brass, and Preston Cooper, serving jail sentence for petit larceny, escaped from the county jail here last night by removing a window and forcing a side bar that had been sawed in two by another prisoner several weeks ago. Two other prisoners of the same ward were too large to crawl through the opening made by Penrod and Cooper. O. P. Wright, sheriff, says he has been unable to get any appropriation to repair the jail, and now has only one ward in which he can lock prisoners.

FIRST REUNION.

Columbia City, Ind., Sept. 7.—The first annual reunion of the Robinette family was held Sunday under the large sugar tree on the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Robinette, one-half mile south of Jefferson Center in Whitley county. The forenoon was spent in visiting among the old folks, while the younger set enjoyed themselves at games. As there was a small shower at noon the bountiful dinner was served on a large table erected on the porch. The afternoon was spent in taking snapshots of comical groups, joy-riding and visiting, interrupted at intervals by music furnished by some of the young ladies. No decision was reached as to where the next reunion will be held. Those present from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Newton Robinette, daughter Florence and son Paul; Lieut. Martin Walker, of Toledo, O.; Murvin Smith, of Akron, O.; and Miss Mae Dunfee, of Columbia City.

BURGULARS AT LARGE.

Kendallville, Ind., Sept. 7.—The persons who committed the daylight robberies in Kendallville Tuesday, making a successful getaway with money and jewelry, valued at over $600, are still at large, and have likely evaded authorities. Officials are convinced that the robberies were committed by the same crowd, as the white Stetson hat, a scarf pin and a pocketbook belonging to Percy Mumaw were found at a Kendallville home, where the burglars visited. Since the robberies it was also discovered that one of the robbers had handed the ticket agent at the interurban station a Columbian fifty-cent piece for a railroad fare. The coin was the property of Mr. Mumaw. This leads the authorities to believe the robbers boarded an interurban car, southbound.

AFFECTED BY MUSIC.

Huntington, Ind., Sept. 7.—When Company C, Fourth Indiana infantry, marched through the streets of Huntington, Wednesday, just before boarding a train for Fort Benjamin Harrison, "W. P. Moffett, a veteran of the civil war, "just had to do something." The martial music of the band set his feet to going, and they carried him into the column. He caught step with the sergeant acting as left guide, and marched the entire distance with the men, showing the spectators that he was still supple and active despite his age. The company was led through the streets by the three men who left for Louisville, Ky., Wednesday morning, and H. W. Elser, county conscription agent.

CELEBRATION AT BOURBON.

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 7.—A large delegation of Warsaw citizens accompanied the Company H boys to Bourbon Wednesday evening and witnessed the parade and program given there by Company H, of Warsaw; Company I, of Plymouth, and the Third Regiment band, of South Bend. They arrived there at 6 o'clock. While the concert was in progress the companies were marched to the M. E. church where they were served with ice cream and cake. Bourbon is to be congratulated on the preparations which were made for the celebration in the way of decorations and provisions of supper and refreshments for the visitors.

KILLED AT ANDERSON.

Bluffton, Ind., Sept. 7.—Mrs. Joe Henry went to Anderson last evening to join her husband in attending the funeral of Mr. Henry's brother, Charles Henry, aged 37, who died Tuesday night as the result of an accident Sunday. Henry's truck was struck by a Big Four train at the Eleventh street crossing, the horse to the outfit being instantly killed. The deceased was unmarried and was the youngest of three brothers, the other two being Joe Henry, of this city, and Howard Henry, of Aurora, Ill.

WATCH STOLEN.

OLD ROSE FOR EVENING.

old rose for evening, and blues and blacks for all the time. Tans and khakis will be good, and there are lovely combinations, such as sapphire blue and salmon pink.

While China and Japan take rice with chopsticks, Korea eats hers with a spoon. Prediction is that the next step will usher in the broad fork. One reason for this peculiarity is that in the annals of Confucius a record exists that the master ate his millet, not with chopsticks, but with a spoon. Every saying that pertains to Confucius is reverently regarded in Korea.
